RE: Amanda Griffith v. ISL Development, LLC and Steven P. Stewart
Appellate Case No.: 2019-000738
Our File No.: 2017.160028

Dear Madam Clerk,

Our firm represents Amanda Griffith, the Respondent in the above captioned matter.

According to my recent re-calculation, our Respondent's Initial Brief is due today November 1, 2019. This letter is our formal request for an extension on the time to file and serve our brief. Appellant filed and served his Initial Brief on October 2, 2019 following multiple extensions, however, his filing was before his due date. Because of my workload and an inadvertent calculation in calendaring, we respectfully request that our due date be extended thirty (30) days. If granted, by my calculation Respondent's Initial Brief will be due Monday December 2, 2019.

We have conferred with opposing counsel, who does not object to this request.

I have enclosed with this request a $50.00 check for the required filing fee. Please advise me if anything further is required to extend the deadline. Should there be any issues with this request or if you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact my office. I thank the Court for its consideration in granting this extension.

Sincerely yours,

MICHAEL W. ALLEN, JR.
