STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On May 10, 2018, the Appellant Kevin E. Herriott, pro se, was threatened and approached by gang-affiliated inmates in the vents of his cell accompany by intercepting a text via by cellular device of his former cell mate Gary Nunez who was corresponding with the Bloods to warn their organization that Appellant was going to turn state evidence. The Appellant caused a disturbance at Lee Correctional Institution Approximately three weeks after the 2018 Deadly Riot to put a separation between the Officers, inmates, and him only to be charged formally of Assault and Battery of a High Aggravated Nature, Attempted-Arm Robbery, and an Inmate in Possession of a Weapon.

The Appellant was summoned to appear before the Magistrate Court to which personal jurisdiction was waived without his consent and probable cause was found and the case was binded over to general sessions court. The Appellant was put on notice of a(n) charging bill of indictment giving a brief description of (3) charges; however, the Appellant objected to the notice challenging the faulty, invalid, and illegal indictment. On June 04, 2019, the trial judge pronounced judgment on the face of the indictment to which was no record of and sentenced Appellant to six years confined to the Department of S.C. Corrections. The Appellant now appeals.

The Appellant Herriott submits that on or before January 11, 2019, and again on or before February 14, 2019, Appellant Herriott had submitted several Motions to Quash Indictments in the Third (3rd) Judicial Circuit during the critical stages awaiting trial by a(n) impartial jury and tribunal. Pursuant to SCRPC Rule 12(b), during the time of receiving discoveries, Accord Rule 5 SCRPC, the Appellant Herriott admits he was presented a(n) indictment document that consisted of three separate charging offenses of one count each that enlisted a(n) summary of South Carolina Code of laws among brief descriptions of each charging offenses absent Affidavits.

The Appellant Herriott submits that once being put on notice of the indictment single sheet document that he held upon presentment, the Appellant Herriott, then identified that the instrument were faulty on its face and bad; therefore, the Appellant Herriott, had challenged the propriety of the accusation, the manner in which it has been presented, and the source from which it proceeds. (see Trial Transcript of Record pp. 13-18) Accord State v. Gentry, 363 S.C. 93, 610 S.E. 2d 494 (2005). However, the initial indictment once presented were not the official charging document for it was an altered document sheet that were missing slots of the witness of whom appeared at the convening of the Grand Jury, the Action of the Grand Jury, and the true bill stamp of a seal along with the missing signature of the foreperson of the Grand Jury. (see attach)

The Appellant Herriott had objected to the invalid and illegal indictments and was heard upon on June 04, 2019, after he had timely submitted Motion to Quash Indictments before the jury was sworn. The Appellant Herriott, then raised ground of the (14th) Fourteenth and (5th) Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution, a substantive and procedural right he was entitled to in which the Appellant Herriott invoked to have this Court enforce the law of a(n) constitutional protected right.

Trial Judge, Honorable R. Ferrell Cothran, Jr., had presided over the proceeding who denied the Motion to Quash Indictments on the basis of secrecy of the Grand Jury ruling contrary to clearly established law. see State v. Evans, 363 S.C.

495, 611 S.E. 2d 510, "The secrecy provisions applicable to a particular case are relaxed after an indictment has been issued by the State grand jury." "Upon grant of Writ, the Supreme Court, Burnett, J., held that, grand jury impanelment documents may be released to a defendant prior to trial upon timely request or to an applicant in a PCR proceeding; ibid., 611 S.E. 2d 510.

The Appellant Herriott standing are there were no issuance of indictments by the State Grand Jury, the charging bill of indictment he was presented was not issued by the State nor County Grand Jury. Once objecting to the faulty documents that were bad on its face, and again notwithstanding of the verdict, for the Appellant Herriott had demanded that a grand jury who are properly established and constituted under law consider the criminal allegations and was denied due process of law. This act caused actual injury and the Appellant Herriott was deprived of fairness as well as justice. For the interest sought to have the Appellant Herriott case adjudicated by deliberation and vote were protected within the zone of interests to which meant the process of service and the convene date of the grand jurors regulated by the statutory and/or constitutional guarantee in question. Also, the Appellant Herriott made an timely request to receive grand jury documents.

Nonetheless, in Creery, turning to the earlier view that an indictment is a "notice document", albeit one required by the State of South Carolina Constitutions and Statutes; see S.C. CONST. Art. I § 11, that specifically states, "No person shall be held to answer for any crime the jurisdiction over which is not within the Magistrate's Court, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury of the county where the crime has been committed..." "This required notice is a component of the due process that is accorded every criminal defendant." Evans, supra, 363 S.C. 495; see also, S.C. CONST. Art. I § 3, that specifically states, "The privileges and immunities of citizens of this State and of the United States under this Constitution shall not be abridged, nor shall any person be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor shall any person be denied the equal protection of the laws."

In Gentry, the primary purposes of an indictment are to put the defendant on notice of what he is called upon to answer, i.e., to apprise him of the elements of the offense and to allow him to decide whether to plead guilty or stand trial, and to enable the circuit to know what judgment to pronounce if the defendant is convicted.

The Appellant Herriott submits that he had attempted to cure the deficiencies that were made on the record to which were so defective that it had deprived the circuit court of general sessions jurisdiction to hear and determine the case on the subject-matter, however, the Appellant Herriott was held to answer in court for the alleged offenses when he exercised his constitutional right to had stand trial. Pursuant to S.C. Code Ann. § 17-19-10, states, "No person shall be held to answer for an alleged crime or offense in any court, unless upon indictment by a grand jury..."

The Appellant Herriott asserts that how could the judge of the circuit know what judgment to pronounce when the instruments that were before the circuit was invalid and illegal. For the presiding judge, Honorable Mr. Cochran, Jr, based his determination on the law concerning the subject-matter of the class of cases, thus, this sentence is invalid.

In keeping with the approach in Gentry, 363 S.C. 93, 610 S.E.2d 494 (2005), the Justices concluded, a defendant must challenge the legality and sufficiency of the process of the state grand jury before the jury renders a verdict in order to preserve the error for direct appellate review. (see attach) (Motion to Quash Indictments) "In a direct appeal, the focus is generally upon the propriety of rulings made by the circuit court in response to a party's motions or objections." Al-Shabazz v. The State, 527 S.E. 2d 742, 747 (S.C. 2000).

In this case, The State vs. Kevin Herriott, the Appellant Herriott had challenged the veracity of the indictment(s) because the presentment were bad on its face and being that the instruments were held as sworn documents upon oath deprived the Appellant Herriott of specific notice to what he was called to answer. The Appellant Herriott submits prosecutorial misconduct because the Appellant had received a true copy of indictment after the trial proceeding once the judge had already pronounced judgment during the Motion's hearing before the jury was sworn on the presentment of the initial notice document constituting Fraud. The variance between the two indictments were the change of the convening dates to which the grand jury convened. This was not a defect, but the guidance of an architect to contrive a conviction through the pretense of a trial which in truth were used as a means of depriving the Appellant Herbolt of liberty through a deliberated deception of the tribunal and impartial jury upon the initial presentment known to be faulty on its face as bad to deny the Appellant of a fundamental right. Such contrivance by the State to obtain the conviction and imprisonment of the accused is as inconsistent with the rudimentary demands of justice as is the obtaining of a like result by wrongful acts not rectified.

In Accordance to McKane v. Dunston, 153 U.S. 684, 687, 14 S.Ct. 913, 914, 38 L.Ed 867 (1894), the Supreme Court has held that if a State has created appellate courts as "an integral part of the... system for finally adjudicating the guilt or innocence of a defendant," Griffin v. Illinois, 351 U.S. at 18 [76 S.Ct. at 590], the procedures used in deciding appeals must comport with the demands of the due process and equal protections. As a result, this extends to "critical stages" in respect to Post-Indictments and the "procedures of service for process" an indictment to which "the grand jury is a central component of the criminal justice process" Campbell v. Louisiana, 523 U.S. 392, 398, 118 S.Ct. 1419, 1423, 140 L.Ed. 2d 551, 559 (1998).

Nevertheless, Dallin H. Oaks has observed, "I am criticizing, not our concern with procedures, but our preoccupation, in which we may lose sight of the fact that our procedures are not the ultimate goals of our legal system. Our goals are truth and justice, and procedures are but means to these ends..." "Truth and justice, are ultimate values, so understood by our people and the law, and the legal profession will not be worthy of public respect and loyalty if we allow the legal attention to be diverted from these goals." Ethics, Morality, and Professional Responsibility, 1975 B.V. U.L. Rev. 591, 596 (emphasis added)

Therefore, the Appellant Herriott submits legal governing principles in respect to precedents of the Appellant's Federal rights, see Fed. R. Crim. P. Rule 7(a)(1), An offense (felony) must be prosecuted by an indictment; see Rule 7(a)(1) (B) Fed. R. Crim. P., by imprisonment for more than one year. (C) Information must give the official or customary citation of the statute, rule, regulation, or other provision of law that the defendant is alleged to have violated. see also, Fed. R. Crim. P. Rule 6 (b)(1), Objection to the Grand Jury or to a Grand Juror challenges either the government or a defendant may challenge the grand jury on the ground that it was not lawfully drawn, summoned, or selected, and may challenge an individual juror on the ground that the juror is not legally qualified.

The Appellant contends that during the motion hearing the factual challenge were the non-summoning of the grand jury, the grand jury was not selected, there were no drawing of the grand jury; therefore, the Circuit Court lacked subject-matter jurisdiction. The Appellant further contends that he had entitlement to protected rights that was safeguarded by the U.S. CONSTITUTION, because the lower court act was void. see also, S.C. Code Ann. § 14-7-1140 (Supp. 2003) (in statute which has been found to apply to petit and grand juries, "no irregularity... in the drawing, summoning, returning, or impaneling of jurors is sufficient to set aside verdict unless the party making the objection was injured by the irregularity or unless the objection is made before the returning of the verdict. (see Trial Transcript p. 55 Line 9-13)

When a defendant timely moves to quash an indictment on grounds of the illegally process of indictments, yet it is issued by the prosecution implicates an issue of subject-matter jurisdiction that may be raised at any time. see 5 S.C. Jur. Abatement, Revival, and Survival of Actions § 5; under the Rules of Civil Procedure, a defense of lack of jurisdiction over the subject-matter of a case is asserted in a Rule 12(b)(1) motion. "One who demands and is refused the right to be tried for a crime charge against him only upon an indictment presented by a legal grand jury; in instances where such indictment is required may thereafter justly take the position that he has been deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law," violating S.C. CONST. Art. V § 22; see Evans, supra, 611 S.E.2d 510.

Turning now to Subject-Matter Jurisdiction, the Appellant Herriott raises the ground that his Fourteenth Amendment, due process and equal protection of laws clauses to the U.S. CONST., and Sixth Amendment, specific notice clause to the U.S. CONST., right(s) have been violated.

Assuming arguendo, the Lee County Court of General Sessions did not have the subject-matter jurisdiction to pronounce judgment to arrest warrants numbers 2018A3110100194, Prisoners/ Carrying or concealing weapon by inmates; 2018 A3110100195, Robbery / Attempted armed, or allegedly armed, robbery. From the outset of this matter, the magistrate court was summoned to gain personal jurisdiction over the Appellant Herriott who was represented by former Counsel E. Thompson Kinney. Due to Mr. Kinney's 20/20 hindsight in waiving two (2) uncertified arrest warrants for service in the county or municipality of, unknown, was not served in the manner required by law; therefore, personal jurisdiction was not gained since proper service is a prerequisite to the courts exercising personal jurisdiction over the defendant. see I.S.C. Litigation Forms And Analysis §10:13. SC ADC 12-608.8: Arrest Warrants to say that service of process is insufficient means, that, although the summons is not defective it was not served in the manner required by law. For the arrest warrants are not valid for service, yet it was served. (see attach)

However, the Appellant Herriott contends that although Counsel Mr. Kinney, was substituted prior to trial, this initial proceeding, Counsel Kinney had represented Appellant Herriott during deprived the Appellant of due process of law, an substantive and procedural right that he was entitled to required by law because the magistrate court gained jurisdiction binding over to general sessions court without consent of the Appellant. see S.C. Code Ann. § 36-2-803 (A) (2), Joined with a defense of lack of personal jurisdiction, since proper service (unless waived) is a prerequisite to the courts exercising personal jurisdiction over the defendant. For the magistrate asked Counsel Kinney do he objects to warrants;

Counsel Kinney, then, made a(n) decision without never making an appointment before this proceeding in particular nor did Counsel Kinney consulted with the Appellant Herritt at the time of Counsel's Kinney decision-making waiving Appellant Herritt's right to challenge the arrest warrants to which constitutes question of law overreaching by surrogate. see Florida v. Nixon, 543 U.S. 175, 187 (2004), "certain decisions regarding the waiver of basic trial rights cannot be made for the defendant by surrogate."

In light of this, the defendant would have been entitled to a procedure that would not have been made available absent the default had not the decision of Counsel affected the confidence of the outcome of this particular proceeding at the magistrate's level. Absent Counsel's Kinney advice to the Appellant Herritt, the magistrate court accepted former Counsel Kinney's decision for the defense. In this stead, the Appellant Herritt asserts that Counsel Kinney, had went too far. Counsel Kinney, did not have consent of the Appellant Herritt, rendering the procedure unfair that is in place to protect the rights of the accused to ensure fairness. see S.C. CONST. Art. I § 11, specifically states, "No person shall be held to answer for any crime the jurisdiction over which is not within the magistrate court..."

The Appellant Herritt submits that he was prejudice by these adverse acts by Counsel Kinney and it was a detriment to his legal rights because the service of process failed short of the threshold to have the magistrate court exercising jurisdiction gaining personal jurisdiction binding over the case in action to general sessions court to which caused the Appellant Herritt protected rights to be violated.

Since approximately, on or before August 06, 2018, the Appellant Herritt, was served notice of presentment to which the Appellant Herritt, had an hearing on that was followed by trial verdict of guilty. The said indictments specifically stated "At a Court of General Sessions, convened on August 30, 2018, the Grand Jurors of LEE County present upon their oath..." This instrument were held officially presented to the grand jury and upon oath deliberated and voted on.

In Accordance to S.C. Code Ann. § 14-5-640(2), Lee County,

"Terms of Court in the Third Judicial Circuit" states, "The court of general sessions for Lee County shall be held at Bishopville, no jury trials at the summer term of the court of general sessions unless a majority of the Lee County Bar Association deems it advisable and notifies the Judge of the Circuit..." (see attach) (LEE COUNTY TERMS OF COURT)

The Appellant Herriott submits that there were no court of general sessions in the Month of August, 2018, and the indictments to which were held good on its face are constitutionally and statutorily illegal and invalid. Thus, the Lee County court of general sessions did not have the subject-matter jurisdiction to accept and/or uphold the verdict notwithstanding dismissing the directed verdict when the Circuit court act were void. Pursuant to S.C. Code Ann. § 14-5-640(2), Lee County.

As Justice, Honorable C.J. Sean Tol, former noted in Curtis v. State, 345 S.C. 567, 549 S.E. 2d 591 (2001), [a] law is unconstitutionally vague if it forbids or requires the doing of an act in terms so vague that a person of common intelligence must necessarily guess as to its meaning and differ as to its application... One to whose conduct that clearly applies does not have standing to challenge it for vagueness. A statute is not unconstitutionally vague if a person of ordinary intelligence seeking to obey the law will know, and is sufficiently warned of the conduct the Statute makes criminal. Johnson v. Collins Entertainment Co. Inc., 349 S.C. 613, 564 S.E. 2d 653 (2002) The Established Test for vagueness is whether the statute provides "fair notice to those to whom the law applies. Mahn v. Thomason, 342 S.C. 79, 92, 532 S.E. 2d 918, 925 (2000). "Consider the ordinary commonsense meaning of the words" U.S. v. Dauray, 215 F.3d 357, 260 (2d Circuit 2000). Moreover, "a statute is to be considered in all its parts when construing any one of them. If, and only if, the statutory text is ambiguous should the Court turn to the legislative history to ascertain Congress's intent." ibid., 215 F.3d 357

The S.C. Supreme Court has held that "subject-matter-jurisdiction is the power of a court to hear and determine cases of the general class to which the proceedings in question belong." Gentry, supra, 610 S.E. 2d 494 (2005); see also, Thompson v. Warden Perry

Correctional Institution, 2007 WL 2579570 (S.C.D.C., September 04, 2007)
(The criminal jurisdiction of the circuit court in South Carolina is established by Article V § 11, § 15, S.C. CONST.) ("The Circuit Court shall be a general trial court with original jurisdiction in criminal and civil cases.")

However, the Circuit Court gains subject-matter jurisdiction in a criminal case in one of three ways: (1) the grand jury true bills an indictment which sufficiently states the offense; (2) the defendant waives presentment in writing; or (3) the offense is a(n) lesser-included offense of a crime adequately charged in a true bill of indictment. see State v. Wilkes, 353 S.C. 462, 464, 465, 578 S.E.2d 717-719 (2003).

The Appellant warns this Court that he did not waive presentment in writing nor verbally. The indictment does not sufficiently state the offenses. Although assault and battery, first degree is the lesser-included offense of assault and battery of a(n) high aggravated nature, the indictment for assault and battery of a(n) high aggravated nature from which it stemmed, is invalid and illegal.

The Appellant was found guilty to indictment charging violation of S.C. Code § 16-~~11~~-0330 "Attempted Armed Robbery" and § 24-13-410 "Inmate carrying a conceal weapon". The indictments to which the court accepted the guilty verdict for these violations are invalid and illegal because in accord with the convening and absent the true bill dates stated on the indictments On August 30, 2018, and in the "September Term of 2018" (see attach); these indictment(s) were not presented to and/or true billed by a grand jury in accordance to S.C. Code Ann. § 14-5-610, (2) Lee County.

The Appellant Herriott submits that the indictment were fundamentally defective which the circuit court used to assert jurisdiction over the matter (class of cases) and with a practical eye the variance of the defective indictments were both differential of the presentation of the evidence proffer by the state's prosecution and the true bill date signed August 30, 2018, in direct opposition with the Court of General Sessions Court Term for Lee County. (see attach)

Furthermore, the Appellant Herriott submitted substantial reasons and legal authorities the court lacked the subject-matter jurisdiction contending that due process of law encompasses all rights which are of such fundamental importance as to require compliance with due process standards of fairness and justice, see SCRE Rule 102; discussion § 1.2. The presentment were not sufficient service of process to issue and deprived the Appellant Herriott specific notice when clearly established law based on a robust, a consensus of persuasive authority that uniformly supports the findings of the Appellant Herriott set of facts. The Appellant Herriott has exercised his rights by timely objecting to the bad indictment and requested in a timely fashion for the minutes of the grand jury proceeding that would had shed light on the impeachment documents of the grand jury. The Appellant Herriott was deprived of a) substantive and procedural rights even after challenging the legality and sufficiency of the process of the state and/or county grand juries before the jury was sworn. (see attach)

FACTS

Now turning the pages to the directed verdict, the Appellant Herriott proffered live testimony that was sufficient to establish the affirmative defense of duress; however, was hindered to present evidence in support of the affirmative defense due to the abuse of discretion of Honorable Mr. Ferrell L. Cochran, Jr., who refused to accept the details of the riot. (see Trial Transcript p. 49 Line 17-24.) Pursuant to Portillio-Vega, 478 F.3d at 1200-01 (holding that to be entitled to present a duress defense to the jury, a defendant must proffer legally sufficient evidence as to each element of the defense). see also, United States v. Arias - Quijada, 926 F.3d 1257, In reviewing whether the proffer was sufficient to establish the affirmative defense of duress, this Court "respects the trial judge's role as gatekeeper and reviews [I] 1260 the denial of a duress defense for abuse of discretion." This standard involves a determination based on whether its ruling on an erroneous view of the law, or on a clearly erroneous assessment of the evidence.

Nevertheless, "A defendant is entitled to a directed verdict when the State fails to present evidence of the offense charged." State v. McHoney, 324 S.C. 85, 97, 544 S.E. 2d 30, 36 (2001). In deciding whether the circuit court erred in denying a motion for a directed verdict, the appellate court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the state; see State v. Hudson, 277 S.C. 200, 201, 284 S.E. 2d 773, 774 (1981). If there is any direct evidence or substantial circumstantial evidence reasonably tending to prove the guilt of the accused, the court must find the case was properly submitted to the jury. State v. Curtis, 356 S.C. 622, 591 S.E. 2d 600 (2004).

The Appellant Herriott contends that the circuit court erred in denial of motion for directed verdict because the state failed to show that his physical acts constituted a crime in which the Appellant Herriott assertions remained that a crime never occurred, in his flight ~~he~~ fled Dormitory F3A. see U.S. v. Mitchell, 725 F. 2d 832, A defendant must present some evidence on all of the elements of the defense. see also U.S. v. Patrick, 542 F. 2d 381, 386; Dixon v. U.S., 548 U.S. 1, 126 S.Ct. 2437, 165 L. Ed. 2d 299.

In Accordance to 21 A.M. Jur. 2d Criminal Law § 176, a "defense" is a(n) set of identifiable conditions or circumstances that may prevent conviction for an offense. A "defense" typically negates or raises a reasonable doubt about an element of the offense, whereas a defendant relying on a "legal excuse" admits all the elements of the crime, but argues that the defendant acted under extenuating circumstances that the law recognizes as excusing the wrongful conduct or requiring that conviction and punishment be withheld.

The crux of the Appellant's contention that is while his flight demonstrates that he is not fleeing being that a crime was alleged; but he had staged the encountered incident between Prison Official Lieutenant Lucky, an former Sergeant, and him to preserve himself from further irreparable harm that was intended to be inflicted upon his persons. For the Appellant Herriott submits that he was in and still are in a(n) immediate threat of death or serious bodily injury because of what he had witnessed to which can identify those who participated in the deadly riot that happened on April 15, 2018, at Lee Corr. Inst. The Appellant Herrriott demonstrates that a well-grounded fear exist that the threat will be carried out which was why the Appellant Herrriott acted in the manner the cameras in F3A observed. When the Appellant Herrriott fled the cell of F3A 1110, there was no reasonable opportunity to had escape the threaten harm to which the Appellant Herrriott is suffering and enduring now.

The Appellant Herrriott admits that his acts were forced to attempt to not experience what he is actually going through now by retaliatory acts of correctional staff who are working along-side gang affiliated inmates inflicting the unnecessary wantonness infliction of pain, having to be housed in a restrictive housing unit without access to the limited liberties versus an inmate being in general population, locked in a cell almost 24 hours out of a day, not able to get contact visits, not being able to get the proper and adequate medical treatment, especially after being diagnosed, approached constantly by threats, feces thrown on, constantly being housed around known enemies, suffering from PTSD, having dreams getting stabbed, waking up in cold sweats, at times drenched, the list goes on. These vivid accounts are very serious. Moreover, given the cumulative evidence, that was proven and uncontested of the probative fact, the Appellant was under duress prior to the arrival of Lee Correctional Officers that were dispatch to the Appellant's Herrriott cell 1110A of Dormitory F3A by warning of the Appellant's Herrriott Mother who called the Administration Building (ADMIB) at Lee Corrections clearly establishes corroborative evidence that is substantive to confirm the state of mind of the Appellant Herrriott. "The existence of duress normally does not controvert any of the elements of the offense itself." ibid., 126 S.Ct., at 2441. "Defense of duress allows the defendant to avoid criminal liability..."

The rule of duress that is the doing of a prohibited act is not a crime if reasonably believed to be necessary to save from death or great bodily injury. When a defendant is under duress i.e., any wrongful act or threat which overcomes the free will of a party constitutes duress. This simple statement of the law conceals a number of questions, particularly as to the meaning of "free will" and "wrongful." Duress is defined as a threat of harm made to compel a person to do something against his or her will or judgment, especially, a wrongful threat made by one transaction without real violation. see Black's Law Dictionary (11th edition); see also, ULA PENAL CODE § 1.12.

The Appellant Herroff submits that he was not a party; part in the April 15, 2018, "Deadly End" and approximately three weeks to the date of this matter, in incident in question, the Appellant Herroff was not a(n) directed target during the course of the riot. For the Appellant Herroff had nothing to do with what transpired; however, upon intercepting a text message from his cell-mates cellular device (phone) to which was on the night of May 19, 2018, and from the read of the text the Appellant Herroff perceived he would have received and/or sustain life threatening injuries amongst the impact of other factors once learning of a knowledge the Appellant Herroff was being sought. See Trial Transcript p. 62 line 18-25 sp. 63 line 1-8)

According to SCRF 401, 402, in showing relevancy, the Appellant Herroff can recall the beating in the cell vents by their fist and knives because of the metal clanging while the Appellant Herroff who was now confronting his cell mate Gary Nunez, combined with the accompanying threats "you next", "doors open you next" goes to the external pressure compelling the Appellant Herroff to do something against his will and/or better judgment; he called his mother to preserve his life by terminology "checking-out". [Excuse me: texted his mother] see Trial Transcript p. 63 line 9-19]

decision-making not to commit a crime, but to cause a disturbance in which not to leave a(n) perception or look like what he was being portrayed as, a(n) "oil house snitch".

The courts know and understand very well that the stereotype of a(n) informant derogatory term "rat" comes with brute consequences even the likelihood of a jailhouse snitch is faced with death, get retaliated against, and discriminated against. For the state's prosecution did not contend nor refute with the Appellant Herroff in this stand during the flight upon which to leave dormitory 3A due to the above consequences that the law protects and inmate from. (see Trial Transcript p. 69 line 5-16); Sweets vs. SDC, 529 F.2d 85d (1975), Prison authorities have responsibility for taking all precautions and reasonable steps to protect inmates from and/or against assaults; Woodhous v. Commonwealth of Virginia, 487 F.2d 889 (1973), It's well settled that prisoners has constitutional rights to be reasonably protected from constant threat of violence. For eleven (11) inmates died and over twenty (20) plus was injured during the riot. After the state-side lock-down more was killed, assaulted, and the Appellant Herroff has a price on his life for turning state evidence in Federal Courts (see Trial Transcript p. 62 line 4-17)

The Appellant Herroff submits that the Respondent did not have sufficient evidence to constitute a(n) triable issue of the defense when the states prosecution prefer video surveillance that were inadmissible violating Brady; see Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83, 83 S.Ct. 1194 (see Trial Transcript p. 15 line 7-25) also, proper testimony in support of the observation of the video surveillance subjected the state witnesses to be impeached.

In Accordance to SCRE 106, see discussion § 2.8(A), state v. Reay, 321 S.C. 405, 468 S.E.2d 669 (Ct App. 1996), "its not an error to not disclose the full video surveillance absent request." For the Appellant Herroff made an timely request pursuant to Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83, 83 S.Ct. 1194 7. Fed. 2d 215, full video surveillance disclosure is required upon request. The Appellant Herroff asserts that the full disclosure of the video surveillance is exculpatory and absent providing the full video footage constitute exclusion of evidence.

and not only was the exclusion extremely unfair, but also a constitutional deprivation denying fundamental fairness. see Ward v. Johnson, 690 F.2d 1098, 1109 (4th Circuit 1982) (en banc) ("Errors in the admission or exclusion of evidence in a state criminal trial rise to the level of a constitutional deprivation only if the error is of such magnitude as to deny fundamental fairness.") see also, State v. Bell, 302 S.C. 18, 395 S.E. 2d 364 (1990) (to reverse a case based upon erroneous exclusion of evidence, error and prejudice must be shown).

The Appellant Herriott submits that the suppressed angles of what the presented video surveillance demonstrated was modified of its original version and absent the non-disclosure of the surveillance cameras observation had undermined the confidence of the outcome of the trial's verdict. Looking at the principles to these ends to get to the truth must not be violated when the Appellant Herriott requested for exculpatory and impeaching evidence, (see Trial Transcript p. 27 Line 3-9; p. 64 Line 4-7; and p. 15 Line 9-12) and the State prosecution suppressed the evidence by not revealing those other angles that was sought for to be determined and weighed by an impartial jury. see SERE Rule 103(a)(2), "The appealing party has the burden of making a sufficient record for the appellate court to determine whether the exclusion of evidence was prejudicial." (see Acknowledgement of Receipt of Discovery Documents) (PLEASE NOTE)

The Appellant Herriott demonstrates that the observation of the non-disclosure of the surveillance video footage had been disclosed would have shown that the prison officials Lieutenant Betha, Mark, Sergeant Edward Lucky, and Saidah Coaxum and a male nurse approached Appellant Herriott cell door. However, there were four officers and one male nurse on the wing of F3A. Upon prison officials arrival, the Appellant Herriott and cell-mate Gary Nunez, were engaged in a knife fight that derived from Gary Nunez conduct.

Meanwhile, the Prison Officials above-mentioned named conducts were laughs at the ongoing encounter between the Appellant Herriott and inmate Gary Nunez who was now restraining the Appellant Herriott. The observation of the video surveillance shown the Appellant Herriott exited his cell without brushing pass no one, yet there's evidence that exist Appellant Herriott exited his cell because he was in a panic state, he was in fear and anxiety could be reasonably logically inferred when his thoughts were of being left in the cell without the possibility of knowing he was going to be taken out of the cell. It would have shown, that the prison officials namely Sgt. Lucky and Sgt. Coaxum drew their arsenal, chemical munitions - MK-9, to spray Appellant Herriott once exiting the cell of 110A. It would have shown, that Appellant Herriott stopped pursuing Sgt. Lucky at the Officer's station desk. It would have shown, that Lucky, Sgt., exited F3A wing door without anybody pursuing, chasing, nor following after him. It would have shown, that the Appellant Herriott only went to see what the loud crashing sound was only then seeing Sgt. Lucky on the floor propped at an angle with his hand around the trigger clutching the mace trigger as if to squeeze pointing the MK-9 at the Appellant Herriott's face. At this time, the Appellant Herriott decided to reach for the canister Lucky, Sgt., held only to get maced. The sole purpose was to make it look like the Appellant Herriott was non-complying with the institutional rules and regulation to initiate a separation between Lee Correctional Staff and housed inmates on the F3 & F1 West Yard. It would have shown, that the Appellant Herriott did not touch Officer Sgt. Lucky. It would have shown, that the Appellant Herriott did not intended to use the pic. in his possession at any time it was on his person. The evidence would demonstrate that before the Appellant Herriott reached for the MK-9 canister the Appellant Herriott made a gesture in body movement turning the sharp point of the pic inward, nose pointing at the Appellant Herriott to prevent striking Lieutenant Lucky. The Appellant Herriott was sprayed while pulling on the MK-9 canister, who then let the canister go and surrender on the side walk entrance of F3 Dormitory and was escorted to medical. Lastly, the video observation demonstrated Lieutenant Lucky picking up money he dropped without any sign of injury.

The Appellant Herriott asserts that the above facts were not established at trial absent the surveillance video footages of the eight cameras suppressed including (4) four cameras that was in the salley port (hallway entrance of Dormitory F3 A & B wings) located in the center top ceiling, (north, south, east, west) that had observed the whole encounter. And not one angle, profer by the state except the south videofotage that ultimately prejudice the Appellant Herriott preventing him from mounting a defense based on duress and self-preservation.

The state's evidence was not sufficient to had notwithstanding the verdict because the state's prosecution could not prove mens rea nor actus reus. For actus reus is essential to crime, but is not sufficient for the purpose without the necessary mens rea, just as mens rea is essential to crime, but is insufficient without the necessary actus reus. The two would had to present a viable theory to negate the Appellants defense of duress and self-preservation beyond a reasonable doubt.

Also, the trial court were unaware of the Appellants Herriott living conditions prior to trial, see Kevin Herriott vs. Joyner, et al., 6:19-cv-626-DCW-KFM; Kevin Herriott vs. Michael Stephen, et al., 6:19-cv-750-DCW-KFM; Kevin Herriott vs. Kevin Ford, et al., 6:19-cv-751-DCW-KFM, that were outside the control of the Appellant Herriott, who attempted to inform former counsel E. Thompson Kinney, of the Public Defender's Office, before being relieved by Court Order among inter alia. For the information that was presented the Appellants attorney Mr. Kinney refused it stating, "he's not going to be the middleman". (see Motion Substitution of Counsel)

The Appellant Herriott submits that the identification of gang affiliated inmates was contributing factors that's relevant to the Appellants Herriott living conditions to which are directly affected and relevancy to refuting the states contention that the prison officials were unaware of the Appellant Herriott requesting for protective custody. For prison officials were denying the Appellant Herriott protective custody until the trial was over is probative to the sufficiency of the evidence opposing the trial judge's unreasonable ruling denying the motion to notwithstanding the verdict. (see attach)

The Appellant Herrriott contends that the trial court erred in failing to charge the jury on jury instructions of duress and self-preservation when the Appellant Herrriott had demonstrated the trial court decisions were based on both erroneous view of the law and on clearly erroneous assessment of the evidence by overwhelming evidence by the preponderance of evidence.

Although Trial Counsel Mr. Griffith objected to the state's case asking for a directed verdict on all counts, he abandoned the defense by not preserving the instructions of duress to be charged to the jury. Counsel Mr. Griffith did not effectively investigate the Appellant's Herrriott case to proffer for the defense some evidence other than the testimony of the Appellant. Prior to the Trial, Counsel Mr. Griffith only met with the Appellant Herrriott one time which was on the 3rd of June, 2019, a day before trial without taking the responsibility of a(n) duty to conduct an meaningful testing of the adversarial process to make it work, but failing to raise 401 Rule of the South Carolina Rules of Evidence to show and/or demonstrate the "connector up" of the Lee Corrections Dandy List and providing relevant material in support of the defense. These acts and omissions constitutes the abandonment of Counsel Mr. Griffith.

WHEREFORE, taking all the evidence proffered on this appeal the trial judge err in denying defendant's motion of directed verdict on all counts. For the state failed to present sufficient evidence to render a verdict guilty at trial. Although there was direct evidence, the proof fell short of the intent to commit a crime. Absent criminal intent, for the Appellant Herrriott steps was not toward the commission of a crime to which would have been identified had the Appellant Herrriott enticed, lie in wait for or following the intended "victim" constituted a crime of attempted armed robbery. Sgt. Lucky, did not receive an injury, absent proof fell short of assault and battery first degree. The video surveillance footage was modified and was prejudicial to the accused; therefore, sentence is vacated.

Arguments

- I. Because Respondent lacked subject-matter jurisdiction, the lower court act were void to pronounce judgment to illegal and invalid indictments that was held faulty on its face.
- II. Because Respondent did not have sufficient evidence to constitute a(n) triable issue of the defense, the court erred failing to charge the jury of a(n) affirmative defense of duress and self-preservation.

Conclusion

For this concludes the Appellant brief to which the reason stated, this Court shall reverse the judgment of the circuit court.

The defendant above-named challenge whether the trial court has the Power to hear a case and/or whether the indictment is sufficient. The defendant questions the Propriety of the accusation, the manner in which it has been Presented, and the source from which it Proceeds. Accord Gentry v. State 363 S.C. 93, 610 S.E. 2d. 494 (2005). When a defendant timely moves to quash indictments) on grounds such as those furthered explain above, the Circuit court must determine whether the defendant's constitutional (right to have the criminal allegations against him weighed by a Properly constituted grand jury has been violated.

Leave To Withdraw
And/or
Substitution of Counsel

State of South Carolina
Respondent.

This matter comes before this Court by way of an Motion by Kevin Herriott (Defendant) on January 09th 2019. The Defendant files Motion to Leave To Withdraw And/or Substitution of Counsel Pursuant to Martinez v. Ryan, 516 U.S. 1, 132 S.Ct. 1309, 182 L.Ed.2d 272. "The right to effective trial counsel is a bedrock principle in this Nation's justice system." Accord S.C. CONST Sixth (6) Amendment, that provides a(n) criminal defendant the right to effective assistance of counsel in a criminal trial in which such an effective counsel are qualified to perform and do perform, according to prevailing Professional Norms.

The named Defendant asserts that On January 07th 2019 counsel of record asserted that client Kevin E. Herriott needs to be evaluated to understand the charges filed against him alleging that Mr. Herriott's mother has concerns concerning Mr. Herriott's well-being. The defendant asserts that counsel E. Thomson Kinney has lied to the tribunal and deliberately have evaded knowledge of facts (defendant's testimony concerning the defense of self-defense and the Product of Duress) which tend to implicate the lawyer in a fraudulent scheme when approached to take the defendant's recorded testimony while counsel Mr. Kinney stated, "I am not going to be the middle man." This has been held to be an affirmative act of misconduct

Wherefore based on the aforementioned, this motion is to be sought, reviewed and ruled before this Court.

Form Approved by S.C. Attorney General April 21, 2003 SCCA 518

Personally appeared before me the affiant Thomas E Horne, Jr who being duly sworn deposes and says that defendant Kevin Herriott did within this county and state on or about 5/10/2018 violate the criminal laws of the State of South Carolina (or ordinance of County/ Municipality of Lee) in the following particulars:

DESCRIPTION OF OFFENSE: Prisoners / Carrying or concealing weapon by inmates

I further state that there is probable cause to believe that the defendant named above did commit the crime set forth and that probable cause is based on the following facts:

Introduction

On May 10, 2018, the South Carolina Department of Corrections (SCDC) Police Services (POL) received an email notification (Attachment 1) from Sergeant (Sgt.) Quintina Rembert (EMPL ID 039957) at the Emergency Action Center (EAC) of an inmate on staff assault at Lee Correctional Institution (LeeCI). According to Incident Reports (Attachment 2), Inmate Kevin Harriott (SCDC ID 313862) was trying to stab his roommate. Lieutenant (Lt.) Mark Bethea (EMPL ID 053170) opened the cell and inmate Harriott ran out towards Sgt. Edward Lucky (EMPL ID 032648) with a homemade edged weapon (shank) in hand and was stopped by being sprayed with chemical munitions. Region II Assistant Chief Shawn Tunstall assigned Agent Thomas Horne to investigate the possession of a weapon and assault.

Summary

On May 16, 2018, Agent Horne reviewed video of the incident (Attachment 3) with Corporal (Cpl.) Tracey Henry (EMPL ID 044345) at LeeCI. The video showed Sgt. Lucky, Lt. Bethea, Correctional Officer (CO) Saidah Coaxum (EMPL ID 053405), and several officers at Inmate Harriott's cell door. Harriott was let out of the cell and had a shank in his hand. Harriott and the officers walk towards the officer's station and Harriott charges after Sgt. Lucky. Sgt. Lucky exits through the door and falls to the floor. Harriott stands over Sgt. Lucky, with the shank in his hand, and attempts to take Sgt. Lucky's chemical munition. CO Coaxum then administered chemical munitions to Harriott's facial area. Harriott then stops trying to take Sgt. Lucky's chemical munitions and runs out of the unit.

On May 18, 2018, Agent Horne interviewed Sgt. Lucky at LeeCI and obtained a voluntary written statement (Attachment 4). Sgt. Lucky provided the following information: He was trying to get an inmate out of his cell. The inmate came after him with a homemade knife approximately 8 inches long. He fell to the floor and the inmate attempted to take his gas.

On June 4, 2018, Agent Horne interviewed Inmate Herriott at LeeCI. Herriott was read and acknowledged his Miranda Rights and provided a voluntary written statement (Attachment 5). Herriott provided the following information: On May 10, 2018, he intercepted a text message on his roommate's phone. The message was a threat that read "I'ma roll on your roommate LOL. Like I'ma tell him I'ma roll on him". He did not know how serious the threat was until the roommate tried to play it off on a guy that knew he was his roommate. He grabbed his knife and demanded the roommate give up his phone so he could text his mother to get her to call the institution. His mother called LeeCI and Headquarters letting them know that he stabbed his roommate. He did not stab his roommate, his roommate was restraining him. Three officers and a nurse came to the cell door. They opened the door, he flipped out and chased Sgt. Lucky who fell. He then reached for Sgt. Lucky's canister of gas (MK-9) twice. He was then sprayed with gas and was escorted up front.

On June 11, 2018, Agent Horne spoke with Lee County Assistant Solicitor John Gentry about the case. Mr. Gentry advised to charge Herriott with Attempted Armed Robbery for attempting to take Sgt. Lucky's chemical munitions while armed with the shank.

On June 14, 2018, Agent Horne obtained arrest warrants (Attachment 6) on Herriott from the Lee County Magistrate's Office for Attempted Armed Robbery and Inmate in Possession of a Weapon.

This investigative report will be submitted to the proper authority for review and any necessary action.

RE: Kevin Herritt, # 313842 v. State of South Carolina

2018-CD-10-600

Notice of Appeal

November 01, 2018

History

On the 26th day of October, 2018, and notice mailed first class on Wednesday, October 24, 2018, to all counsel of record for Final Order of Dismissal, PER Application Denied pursuant to Rule 74, S.C.R.P. as a result Appellant objected by letter of response dated October 30, 2018. However, prior to sending the response by letter via mail of objection to the proposed order the Appellant upon receipt received proposal of Final Order of Dismissal on the 17th day of October, 2018 where mailroom personnel Broad River Correctional Institution received stamped clock on the 16th that was sent by the A.G. office on the 15th day of October, 2018. Nevertheless, Appellant attempted to respond to the proposal of Final Order of Dismissal October 17th, 2018 by a timely objection when Appellant notice that his mail was compromise by mailroom personnel Mrs. Ms. Mitchell whom have already been grieved through the prison grievance policy system due to her actions for tampering with mail interfering with legal deadlines. The first attempt was on the 18th day of October, 2018 dated from the 17th day of October, 2018. The 2nd attempt was on a Friday, the 19th day of October sending the same letter by response.

LEGAL MAIL

The third attempt Wednesday 24th, 2018 only to have my stipicus confirmed when I didn't receive my receipt back for sending the contents out so I wrote another response dated October 30, 2018 when the Final Order of Dismissal was signed already on the 23rd day of October. I am now in the process of turning state evidence of becoming a witness to the April 2018 Deadly Riot where I was Ward Keeper and (I.R.C.) Inmate Representative Chairman for the Unit of Sumter, A Tu Building at Lee Correctional Institution and my testimony was intercepted by this same mail room personnel on the 23rd day of August, 2018. This was complained about, but fell on deaf ears.

Nevertheless The Final Order was dismissed pursuant to Rule 77 when it derived from A Conditional Order of Dismissal if dismissed was to be in accordance to rule S.C. Code Ann. § 17-27-70(b). Upon receipt of Final Order of Dismissal the state has order Appellant that he must file and serve a Notice of Appeal within thirty days of the service which was on the 1st day of November, 2018, of this order to secure appellate review. See Rule 203, S.C.A.C.R. and Rule 227, S.C.A.C.R.

Wherefore, based upon the aforementioned, Notice of Appeal, is to be sought, reviewed, and ruled before this court.

Respectfully Submitted,
