ORDER

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter is before the South Carolina Administrative Law Court (ALC or Court) in its appellate capacity pursuant to subsection 1-23-600(D) of the South Carolina Code (Supp. 2018). In the case sub judice, Emiah Anderson (Anderson) seeks judicial review of a decision issued by the South Carolina Parole Board (Board). Specifically, on March 21, 2019, the South Carolina Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services (Department) notified Anderson that the Board denied him parole. After careful consideration of the Record on Appeal (Record), arguments raised in the parties' briefs, and the applicable law, the Court affirms the Board's decision.

BACKGROUND

On or about February 8, 1990, Anderson committed various offenses that led to his arrest. Anderson was charged with the offenses of murder and criminal sexual conduct in the second degree. Thereafter, on or about November 28, 1990, Anderson was convicted and sentenced to incarceration for the remainder of his natural life for murder and twenty years incarcerations for criminal sexual conduct in the second degree.

After becoming parole-eligible, Anderson last appeared before the Board on March 21, 2019,¹ when the Board voted unanimously to deny his parole. In reaching this determination, the Board provided the following factual reasons for rejection: (1) the nature and seriousness of the ¹ According to the Department, Anderson made his initial appearance before the Board approximately nine years earlier, on May 12, 2010. See SCALC Rule 60(B)(2) ("Any matters stated or alleged in a party's statement [of the case] shall be binding on that party."). Following his initial appearance, Anderson has appeared before the Board on four occasions. On each occasion, the Board has rejected Anderson's parole.

of a serious rule violation. Id. at 369, 527 S.E.2d at 750. Importantly, the court stressed the caveat that not all provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act (APA)⁴ apply to the internal prison disciplinary or decision-making process. Id. Rather, procedural due process is guaranteed only when an inmate is deprived of an interest encompassed by the Fourteenth Amendment's protection of liberty and property. See id. (quoting Bd. of Regents of State Colleges v. Roth, 408 U.S. 564, 569, 92 S.Ct. 2701, 2705, 33 L.Ed.2d 548, 556 (1972)).

Following Al-Shabazz, South Carolina jurisprudence has found that a matter is reviewable by the ALC where an inmate's appeal implicates a state-created liberty or property interest. See, e.g., Howard v. S.C. Dep't of Corr., 399 S.C. 618, 630, 733 S.E.2d 211, 218 (2012); see also Wicker v. S.C. Dep't. of Corr., 360 S.C. 421, 602 S.E.2d 56 (2004) (recognizing another limited ALC jurisdictional exception where inmate claims deprivation of a property interest).

When reviewing the Department's final decision in a non-collateral or administrative matter, the Court sits in an appellate capacity. Al-Shabazz, 338 S.C. at 376-77, 527 S.E.2d at 754. The Court's standard of review, after an exhaustion of administrative remedies, is governed by section 1-23-380 of the South Carolina Code (Supp. 2018). See S.C. Code Ann. § 1-23-600(E) (Supp. 2018) (directing administrative law judges to conduct appellate review in the same manner prescribed in section 1-23-380). Pursuant to this standard, the Court "may not substitute its judgment for the judgment of the agency as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact." S.C. Code Ann. § 1-23-380(5) (Supp. 2018). Although the Court may affirm the agency's decision or remand for additional proceedings, the Court's review in determining whether to reverse or modify an agency decision is circumscribed to the following:

The court may reverse or modify the decision if substantial rights of the appellant have been prejudiced because the administrative findings, inferences, conclusions, or decisions are:

- (a) in violation of constitutional or statutory provisions;
- (b) in excess of the statutory authority of the agency;
- (c) made upon unlawful procedure;
- (d) affected by other error of law;
- (e) clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence on the whole record; or
- (f) arbitrary or capricious or characterized by abuse of discretion or clearly unwarranted exercise of discretion.

⁴ The APA is found at S.C. Code Ann. §§ 1-23-10 to 680 (2005 & Supp. 2018).

S.C. Code Ann. § 1-23-380(5)(a)-(f) (Supp. 2018). When reviewing, the Court is generally confined to the record presented and, as such, will not consider any fact that does not appear in the record. S.C. Code Ann. § 1-23-380(4) (Supp. 2018).

DISCUSSION

While Anderson's contentions are largely conclusory, two principle assignments of error can be gleaned in support of his argument that the Board's decision was in error: (1) the Board's decision to deny parole was made upon an unlawful procedure; and (2) the Board's criteria for parole consideration constituted a violation of the prohibition against ex post facto laws as set forth in Article I, § 4 of the South Carolina Constitution and Article I, § 10 of the United States Constitution. The Court finds each argument unavailing.

I. Unlawful Procedure

In Cooper v. South Carolina Department of Probation, Parole & Pardon Services, 377 S.C. 489, 661 S.E.2d 106 (2008), the South Carolina Supreme Court was tasked with determining whether the inmate's claim raised a sufficient state-created liberty interest warranting minimal due process requirements when the inmate was not challenging the denial of his parole but, instead, the method and procedure employed by the parole board in denying his request. Accordingly, the question became whether the parole board's decision, which failed to give credence to the factors in Department Form 1212 and the criteria the General Assembly established in section 24-21-640, amounted to a routine denial of parole or was tantamount to rendering the inmate ineligible for parole. See id. at 494-95, 661 S.E.2d at 109-10. In answering the latter query in the affirmative, the court observed: "If a [p]arole [b]oard deviates from or renders its decision without consideration of the appropriate criteria, we believe it essentially abrogates an inmate's right to parole eligibility and, thus, infringes on a state-created liberty interest." Id. at 499, 661 S.E.2d at 111. Notwithstanding, while mindful of its previous observation that the General Assembly did not intend for the parole board to issue decisions with unfettered discretion, the court underscored that if the parole board plainly states in its order denying parole that it considered the factors outlined in section 24-21-640 and the fifteen factors published in its parole form, then such a decision will constitute a routine denial of parole. Id. at 500, 661 S.E.2d at 112. Thus, if the parole board conforms to said procedure, the ALC would then have restricted authority in reviewing to determine whether the parole board followed proper procedure. Id. In such an instance, the Court can summarily dismiss the inmate's appeal as it constitutes a routine denial of parole. *Id.*⁵

Here, in denying Anderson's parole on April 3, 2019, the Board provided, inter alia, that it carefully considered the factors published in Department Form 1212 and the criteria outlined in section 24-21-640.⁶ The Board further gave the following three factual findings in reaching its decision: (1) the nature and seriousness of the current offense; (2) an indication of violence in this or a previous offense; and (3) the use of deadly weapon in this or a previous offense. It follows, therefore, that the Board followed proper procedure in denying Anderson's parole. See Cooper, 377 S.C. at 499 n.5, 661 S.E.2d at 111 n.5 (observing that the following reasons—(1) the nature and seriousness of the current offense; (2) an indication of violence in this or a previous offense; and (3) the use of a deadly weapon in this or a previous offense—"would be sufficient to deny parole in the Board's discretion, if the Board's decision evinced consideration of section 24-21-640 and its own criteria."); see also Compton v. S.C. Dep't of Prob., Parole & Pardon Servs., 385 S.C. 476, 479, 685 S.E.2d 175, 177 (2009) (holding parole board's decision sufficient under Cooper when "the [p]arole [b]oard clearly stated in its notice of rejection that it considered the statutory criteria [of section 24-21-640] and the criteria set forth in Form 1212 . . ."). Consequently, given the nature of the Court's circumscribed review in determining whether the Board followed proper procedure, the Court finds no error in the Board's decision as it amounts to a routine denial of parole in accordance with the procedure outlined in Cooper and Compton.

II. Ex Post Facto Violation

"The United States and South Carolina Constitutions specifically prohibit the passage of ex post facto laws." Barton v. S.C. Dep't of Prob. Parole & Pardon Servs., 404 S.C. 395, 403, 745 S.E.2d 110, 114 (2013) (citing U.S. Const. art. I, §§ 9, 10; S.C. Const. art. 1, § 4). It is well-recognized that "[a]n ex post facto violation occurs when a change in the law retroactively alters the definition of a crime or increases the punishment for a crime." E.g., State v. Gaster, 349 S.C.

⁶ Notably, the Board also considered and evaluated Anderson's risk using the Department's adopted assessment tool in reaching its decision to deny his parole. See S.C. Code Ann. § 24-21-10(F)(1) (Supp. 2018) (requiring the Department to develop a plan for the "establishment of a process for adopting a validated actuarial risk and needs assessment tool consistent with evidence-based practices and factors that contribute to criminal behavior, which the parole board shall use in making parole decisions . . ." (emphasis added)).

545, 550, 564 S.E.2d 87, 90 (2002) (citing Jernigan v. State, 340 S.C. 256, 261, 531 S.E.2d 507, 509 (2000)). For a law to fall within the ambit of ex post facto prohibitions, two crucial elements must exist: "First, the law must be retroactive so as to apply to events occurring before its enactment. Second, the law must disadvantage the offender affected by it." State v. Walls, 348 S.C. 26, 30, 558 S.E.2d 524, 525 (2002) (citation omitted). "The law existing at the time of the offense determines whether an increase of punishment constitutes an ex post facto violation." Jernigan, 340 S.C. at 260 n.3, 531 S.E.2d 509 n.3 (emphasis added) (citation omitted). Concerning the issue of increase of punishment, the pertinent question is "whether the legislative amendment 'produces a sufficient risk of increasing the measure of punishment attached to the covered crimes.'" Id. at 261, 531 S.E.2d at 509 (quoting Cal. Dep't. of Corr., v. Morales, 514 U.S. 499, 509 (1999)). If the amendment produces only a "speculative and attenuated possibility" of increasing an inmate's punishment, then there is no ex post facto violation. Id. (citation omitted).

In Cooper, the inmate advanced a similar ex post facto claim as Anderson has in this instance. Specifically, the inmate argued that by creating the factors on the parole form, the parole board changed the law and violated the ex post facto clause of the South Carolina Constitution as they "effectively changed the standards for granting parole and retroactively applied it to [his] offenses which were committed before the establishment of these factors." 377 S.C. at 501, 661 S.E.2d at 112 (alteration in original). The court found no ex post facto violation. Id. at 501, 661 S.E.2d at 112-13. To that end, the court recognized that section 24-21-640, which had not been substantively amended since the inmate's 1985 conviction, authorized the parole board to establish the criteria on the parole form and, therefore, did not change the law in violation of the ex post facto clause. Id.

Here, Anderson, like the inmate in Cooper, contends that the Department's criteria for parole consideration constituted a violation of the prohibition against ex post facto laws as set forth in Article I, § 4 of the South Carolina Constitution and Article I, § 10 of the United States Constitution. Again, much like Cooper, the specific statute authorizing the Board to establish written criteria—section 24-21-640—has not been substantively amended since he was convicted.⁷

⁷ Section 24-21-640, which was in effect at the time of Anderson's conviction, required the parole board to develop specific criteria to be examined and applied in determining whether to grant or deny parole. The statute was amended in 1990—1990 Act No. 510, § 1—to add, inter alia, that "[t]his criteria must reflect all of the aspects of this section and include a review of prisoner's disciplinary and other records." In light

As such, given that there has not been a change in the substance of section 24-21-640 from the time when Anderson's committed his offenses, there is simply no ex post facto issue present here. In the absence of such, Anderson's claim is without merit.

STATEMENT OF ISSUE ON APPEAL

1. Did the Appellant file his brief within the time allotted pursuant to the rules of the Administrative Law Court?

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On February 8, 1990, the Appellant called the police to report his home was broken into. Once an officer arrived he went into the residence for an investigation. It was discovered that items were thrown around and that frozen food was removed from the freezer and thrown on the floor. The Appellant informed the officer that his son was supposed to stay home from school so he should still be inside the house. The officer search the remaining portion of the home and found his son in the bed shot in the back of the head dead due to this gunshot injury. After removing the Appellant away from the home upon a further search the Appellant's daughter was found in bed a victim of a sexual assault. Upon further investigation the murder weapon was found inside the home. It was also discovered that the Appellant was the individual who sexually assaulted his own daughter. He was later arrested and charged with the offenses of murder and criminal sexual conduct in the second degree (CSC 2nd).

On November 28, 1990, the Appellant appeared before the Honorable Sidney Floyd for the offenses of murder and CSC 2nd. Upon the conclusion of this appearance the Appellant was sentenced to a period of incarceration for the remainder of his natural life for the offense of murder and twenty years incarceration for CSC 2nd.¹ At the time the Appellant committed these offenses South Carolina law allowed an individual serving a life sentence for murder parole eligibility upon the service of twenty years.

The Appellant made his initial appearance before the Board on May 12, 2010. Upon the completion of this hearing the Board decided to deny the Appellant an opportunity to be released on parole. Since this initial denial the Appellant has appeared an additional four times each resulting in a denial of parole. The most recent appearance occurred on March 20, 2019, parole was denied unanimously due to: 1) nature and seriousness of the current offense; 2) an indication of violence in this or a previous offense; and, 3) the use of a deadly weapon in this or a previous offense. Upon being notified of this denial of parole the Appellant filed a notice of appeal before the Administrative Law Court (ALC).

Within this notice of appeal the Appellant argues that the Board failed to give him a fair hearing by incorrectly evaluating his parole review claiming he had a prior offenses, and prison disciplinary. Within this notice of appeal the Appellant also argues that the risk and needs assessment was unfair because the facts of his offense will never change and always be violent in nature.

The Respondent will bring before this Court a request for dismissal due to the fact the Appellant had failed to file his brief within the time limits allotted pursuant to the rules of the ALC. The Respondent argues that pursuant to the rules the Court is allowed to dismiss this appeal with prejudice. The Respondent's brief supporting this defense follows.

ARGUMENTS

- 1. The Appellant failed to abide to the rules of the Administrative Law Court; therefore, this appeal should be subject to dismissal.

The ALC's jurisdiction to review a final decision of the Respondent is derived from the South Carolina Supreme Court decisions of Al-Shabbaz v. State, 338 S.C. 334, 527 S.E.2d 724 (2000), and Furtick v. S.C. Dept. of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services, 352 S.C. 594, 576 S.E.2d 146 (2002). In Al-Shabbaz, the South Carolina Supreme Court created a new avenue by which an inmate could seek review of a final decision of a state agency in a "non-collateral" matter related to a conviction or sentence. The Court held that inmates could appeal a final agency decision to the ALC, and ultimately to the Court of Appeals pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act. Al-Shabbaz, at 376. In Al-Shabbaz, the Court recognized that, "these

CONCLUSION

The Appellant failed to file and serve a brief within the time allotted pursuant to the rules of the Administrative Law Court. The Respondent respectfully request the court dismiss this appeal with prejudice.

Criteria for Parole Consideration

The South Carolina parole law creates no right to be released on parole. Parole in South Carolina is strictly a matter of privilege or grace. The South Carolina Board of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services has absolute discretion to grant or deny parole. As such, the publication of these parole criteria in no way creates an expectancy of release; nor does it bind the Parole Board in any way to favorable parole decision or establish any presumptions of entitlement to parole.

In deciding whether or not to grant parole, the Parole Board considers, among other things, the inmate's record before incarceration as well as during incarceration. The record itself is prepared through investigations conducted for the Parole Board, and it becomes a part of the inmate's parole file. The files are maintained by the Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services and are, by the statute, privileged and confidential. The confidentiality of the parole file is far reaching; inmates themselves have no right to inspect the contents of their files. If the inmate thinks his/her file is somehow incomplete or contains some errors or other inaccuracy, he/she must notify the Board of the specific error or inaccuracy. The Board will investigate the inquiry and notify the inmate of the action taken.

Inmates do, however, enjoy certain rights in the parole process. The inmate has the right to appear at his parole hearing. If the inmate fails to appear, the Board may decide his/her case in absence. The inmate has the right to be represented by an attorney; however, he/she has no right to have an attorney appointed if he/she cannot afford one. At the hearing, the inmate has the right to present witnesses and evidence on his/her own behalf, but an inmate does not have a right to confront witnesses.

In deciding whether or not an inmate should be granted parole, the Board or Panel of the Board exercises its absolute discretion to the limits allowed by state and federal law. The discretion of the Board or panel aims at protecting the best interest of both society and the inmate being considered for parole. In its concern for the protection of society's and the inmate's best interests, the Board or Panel deliberates upon the "reasonable probability" that an inmate will not again violate the law, if parole is granted. When deliberating that an inmate will not again violate the law, the Board or Panel weighs the factors listed below. The Board or Panel, in its absolute discretion, also considers any other factors not listed below which it considers relevant in a particular case.

1. The risk the inmate poses to the community;
2. The nature and seriousness of the inmate's offense, the circumstances surrounding the offense, and the inmate's attitude toward it;
3. The inmate's prior criminal records and his/her adjustment under any previous programs or supervision;
4. The inmate's attitude toward his/her family, the victim, and authority in general;
5. The inmate's adjustment while in confinement, including his/her progress in counseling, therapy, and other similar programs designed to encourage the inmate to improve himself/herself;
6. The inmate's employment history, including his/her job training and skills and his/her stability in the work place;
7. The inmate's physical, mental and emotional health;
8. The inmate's understanding of the cause of his/her past criminal conduct;
9. The inmate's efforts to solve his/her problems such as seeking treatment for substance abuse, enrolling in academic and vocational education courses, and in general using whatever resources the Department of corrections has made available to inmates to help with their problems;
10. The adequacy of the inmate's overall parole plan. This includes inmates living arrangements, where he/she will live and who he will live with; the character of those with whom the inmate plans to associate in both his/her working hours and his/her off-work hours; the inmate's plans for gainful employment;
11. The willingness of the Community into which the inmate will be released to receive the inmate;
12. The willingness of the inmate's family to allow his/her to return to the family circle;
13. The attitudes of the sentencing judge, the solicitor, and local law enforcement officers respecting the inmates; parole;
14. The feelings of the victim's family, and any witnesses to the crime about the release of the inmate
15. The actuarial risk and needs assessment outlined in section 24-21-10 (F)(1) of the S.C. Code of laws; which evaluates based on Criminal Involvement, Relationships/Lifestyle, Personality/Attitudes, Family, Social Exclusion and Mental Health.
16. Other factors considered relevant in a particular case by the Board.

Reservation of Discretionary Power of the Parole Board

These criteria in no way limit the absolute discretion of the Parole Board or Panel to make parole decisions on a case-by case basis and to grant or deny parole as it determines to be in the best interest of society and the inmate under review.

In some cases, the Board may decide that inmate should be granted parole if the inmate completes one or more stated conditions. When this is the case, the Board may grant a parole that becomes effective when the inmate completes on or more stated conditions. Should the inmate fail to complete any one of these conditions or disobey any rule or regulation of the South Carolina Department of Corrections before satisfying the stated conditions to make his parole effective, the Board may rescind the inmate's parole and treat the case as though parole had been rejected. In other cases, the Board may feel it needs more time to form its decision. In such cases, the Board may simply take the parole consideration under advisement and reschedule it at a later date. Similarly, the Board may postpone a parole hearing in order to dispose of detainers or pending charges. If the Board rejects an inmate for parole; the inmate will be given written notice of rejection stating the reasons for rejection. Decisions of the Board have no precedential effect whatever and in no way limit the Board's absolute discretion at later parole hearings.

- After rejection for parole, the procedure of scheduling of rehearing is as follows:
1. An individual serving time for a violent offense defined in §16-1-60 of the South Carolina Code of Laws 1976 will be reheard for parole two years following the date of parole rejections. Applicable legal exceptions may allow for a one year hearing.
 2. An individual serving time for a nonviolent offense defined in §16-1-70 of the South Carolina Code of Laws 1976 will be reheard for parole one year following the date of parole rejections.

I certify that the above material has been explained to me, and I have received a copy.
