The Honorable Jenny Abbot Kitchings
South Carolina Court of Appeals
P.O. Box 11629
Columbia, SC 29211

RE: Provident Community Bank ("Respondent") v. Ross & Ross Properties, LLC ("Appellant"), et al.
Appellate No.: 2012-207-486

To Whom It May Concern:

On February 15, 2013, our office prepared a package addressed to your office containing a corrective proof of service for the Respondents Motion for Extension of Time, originally mailed to your office, and to all parties, on February 1, 2013. The package also contained a check for $25.00, a motion fee for the Respondents Motion for Extension of Time originally mailed to your office on February 1, 2013.

On February 27, 2013, our office received this package back for lack of postage. By mistake or inadvertence, our office did not apply proper postage to the package mailed to your office. A copy of that returned envelope is enclosed for your review. A copy of the original package (letter to the Clerk, copy of check, and copy of corrective proof of service) is included for your reference as well.

Diane also pointed out a discrepancy in the motion language requesting both thirty and sixty days. Respondent intended to request a thirty day extension.

Please note that all parties are working to settle this matter outside of court. Respondent plans to jointly file a consent motion for extension of time with Appellant while parties continue settlement negotiations.
