SC Court of Appeals

The Appellant is in objection of the Administrative Law Court's final order filed on Dec. 04, 2019, concerning case no. 19-ALJ-15-0033-AP. The Administrative Law Court admitted its inability to review the full scope of SCDPPP's decision making process. A process that does fall under S.C. Codes of law §24-22-30 and SCDC policy PS 10.17 signed into law. On 5/21/18 this policy was in fact abrogated to fit new agency standard updates. The Offender Management System is the gold standard in which the parole agencies base their decision. The Appellant did indeed match these standards with a vigorous approach, in his wanting to change and overcome the inner faults that plagued him some 33 years ago. By challenging himself to adhere to the standard set forth by the Department of Corrections; the Appellant is flabbergasted by the Parole Board recent denial of his release. The reason given was; the nature and seriousness of the current offense. It's absolutely clear that no prisoner can change his or her conviction. One can only strive through personal commitment to change what is within them. The Appellant over the years has shown a great embodiment of change and leadership skills that shows evidence that the person he was 33 plus years ago no longer exist. The Appellant requests this court to allow him the opportunity to present this matter before them for Full Judicial Review based upon the laws that govern this State of S.C. and land.
