Thanks. Should I fax the motion and mail the filing fee?

Ms. Ingles,

A separate motion will need to be filed. As of right now, the Respondent's Initial Brief is due June 5, 2020 which includes the extra 20 days set out from the SC Supreme Court Order dated March 20, 2020. There is no deadline for the Amended Designation of Matter since we do not have a Motion to Amend the Designation of Matter filed. Once we get that motion and have an order on it, the deadlines can be extended if more time is needed than what the order states.

Sierra,

I think we were trying to do both at the same time because we had agreed that I would amend my Designation and he would have an extension on the brief after the amended Designation. We just thought it was all part of the same thing..

I'll be glad to file a separate motion if that is deemed necessary.

Good Morning,

Upon reviewing the motion, I have a question. Is the appellant requesting additional time to file an Amended Designation of Matter? If she is, a separate Motion to Amend the Appellant's Designation of Matter must be served and filed and it requires a $50 filing fee. I can prepare the order on the respondent's motion for extension. If a 2nd extension is needed for the respondent's brief upon expiration of the first extension, another motion for extension can be filed.

Filing has been received. Please refrain from sending it via mail unless it is accompanied by a filing fee. Motions for extension do not need filing fees at this time. During this pandemic, electronic filings are highly encouraged and we do not need multiple copies from different methods.

Hi Louis,

The record on appeal in this case is not filed until after the initial briefs of both parties have been served and filed. Both parties file a designation of matter to be included in the record on appeal when they file their respective initial briefs. As of this moment, we have not received the appellant's initial brief and designation of matter. Hopefully, I have answered your question and if you have any more questions, please do not hesitate to ask.
