Purposed Verdict Form 1043

Certificate of Counsel 1044

A Hey.
Q How are you?
A I'm good.
Q Okay. Good. I want to just cover a couple of things with you, okay?
It sounds like this whole thing was very emotional for you. You happened upon your dad having this accident.
A Yes.
Q I'm sure that upset you.
A Uh-huh.
Q And you knew at the time that he had this accident that he had some significant injuries. He went to GHS and was treated there; is that right?
A Yes.
Q And you visited him up there; is that right?
A Yes.
Q And, in fact, while he was up there, you visited him and your brother visited him as well?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And when he was discharged from the hospital -- well, while he was up there, were you aware that at some point in time, that he had been involved in an accident, that he said he was sorry, but also, because of the nature of that accident, there was going to be some law enforcement intervention?

A Yes.
Q Okay. So while he's at the hospital, y'all are aware your primary concern I know is with him.
A Yes.
Q And I hope with anybody else that would have been injured.
A Yes.
Q But also your primary concern would have been to your dad, but you also knew in the back of your mind and you knew there's going to be some legal ramifications and he's going to face some charges, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you know that while he was up there, law enforcement came and the Highway Patrol came, and they took custody of your dad at the hospital, and the Highway Patrol took him to the Greenwood County Detention Center.
A Yes.
Q You know that, right?
A Uh-huh. Yes.
THE COURT: Say yes or no, please.
BY MR. HARTER:
Q I know you're saying yes.
All right. Now, at the detention center, were you there when he was booked or processed? I'm sure you probably were not.

A No, no.
Q Okay. But you did go to a bond hearing later.
A Yes.
Q Right? Okay.
And at the bond hearing, your mother was there, the Highway Patrol was there, the judge was there, and, of course, you were there to support your dad, right?
A Yes, yes.
Q And I think you told us that at that bond hearing, he had some physical injuries, but you noted that he did not have a neck brace on.
A Yes.
Q Now, on that day at that bond hearing, did a nurse come to the courtroom and discuss with y'all anything about your dad's medical status?
A In the bond hearing?
Q In that courtroom that day.
A I'm not sure. I don't remember if a nurse came in.
Q Now, any time around -- I think you told us that you were there, you saw him at the bond hearing, and you saw him a couple of hours later, right?
A Yes. Uh-huh.
Q Okay. Where a couple of hours later were you?
A At the detention center.
Q At the detention center. Okay.

But at any time during that day of the bond hearing, did any nurse or medical person come and speak to you and/or any members of your family about the care of your dad?

A Yes.

Q They did?

A In the separate room, yes.

Q A nurse?

A I'm guessing she was a nurse.

Q Okay.

A I'm not sure.

Q Okay. And what did she tell you?

A I was just asking her questions about how he was being taken care of, and they were just letting me know what they were doing.

Q Did she answer your questions?

A Yeah. Yes.

Q Okay. Specifically, in that conversation, did you make any reference to where is his collar?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And what did she say about that?

A Honestly, I don't remember what she said about it.

Q Okay. All right. Now, who else was there during that conversation?

A My mother-in-law.

Q Okay.
A And I'm not sure if anybody else was in there besides us and ---
Q And who is your mother-in-law?
A Doretha Hall.
Q All right. Now, after that, after the bond hearing, did you see your dad at all at the detention center after the bond hearing for some 30 days?
A Just after the bond hearing, we went back up there, and then within a few weeks, couple weeks ---
Q Kind of a fouled-up question, but after the bond hearing, how many weeks was it before you were able to physically see your dad? About a month?
A To visit him, yeah.
Q About a month. Okay.
A Yes.
Q I want to make sure I'm right. So after the bond hearing, you really didn't see him for about a month?
A I mean, I seen him a couple hours after the bond hearing.
Q I know.
A And then after that, it was three, four weeks.
Q After that day, after the bond hearing, if it happened on the 17th of August, you would not have seen him for two or three weeks after that?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, after the bond hearing, after you left that day, every time you saw him, he had the neck brace on; is that right?
A Yes. When we went to do the visitations.
Q I'm sorry?
A When we went to do the visitation.
Q All right. Good. Okay.
Now, did you see him -- so I want to make sure. You did not see him at all for the six-day period that he's talking about between the time he was booked and for the six days after that. Other than the bond hearing, you didn't see him again.
A Just at the bond hearing and then the -- after.
Q Did your dad tell you -- Samantha, I want to make -- did your dad tell you specifically that they kept my collar from me for six days, or did he just say, "They kept my collar from me"?
A When I seen him come into the bond hearing, he told me that he hadn't had his neck brace.
Q But after that, did he ever -- as you've discussed this with your dad and as you've worked with the lawyers on this case, did your dad specifically tell you, "They kept my collar from me for six days"?
A I don't really remember if we've discussed that.

Q You don't remember what he said about how many days it was, do you?
A No.
Q And he didn't tell you that he got it back six days later, did he?
A No.
Q So -- and you remember when we met in Mr. Hawkins' office to talk to the witnesses about the case, y'all let me ask you some questions?
A Yes.
Q And in the case, you had been identified as a witness, you know your brother was, and you know your mother was identified as a witness.
A Yes.
Q And it was indicated she might have knowledge about this case.
A Yes.
Q And you know that I came to the office that day, and I said, "I'm here to find out what you witnesses know," right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And I hope I was polite and okay and a gentleman.
A Yes.
Q Okay. And when I took your deposition and I asked you about how long your dad was without his collar, you didn't know that he was saying, "I was only out of it for six days," did you?

A No.

Q Huh?

A No.

Q You didn't know that. You thought he was out of it for the whole time, didn't you?

A What do you mean, out of it?

Q Out of his collar for a longer period of time, didn't you?

A I mean, I knew it was a few days.

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, he's leading the witness for the past four or five question.

THE COURT: He's on cross. He can lead.

Go ahead.

BY MR. HARTER:

Q He never told you he didn't have it for six days though, did he?

A I really don't remember.

Q Okay.

A I mean, it's been a few years.

Q Okay. Did he also tell you that he was given medication almost every day that he was there?

A I don't -- I don't remember about ---

Q You don't remember about that. Okay.

But y'all were concerned about his collar and you were concerned about his medication, but you don't remember that he ever told you that he was only out -- that he was out of his medication or that he had medication almost every day. You don't remember him telling you that, do you?

A No.

Q Huh?

A No.

Q Okay. All right. All did he ever tell you or did you ever know that your dad had been sent for outside appointments to specialists at Greenville Memorial Hospital ---

MR. HAWKINS: Objection, Your Honor. It's beyond the scope of direct.

THE COURT: Overruled. Go ahead.

BY MR. HARTER:

Q Did your dad ever tell you, Samantha, that he had been sent out for consults with special physicians and orthopedists in Greenville, South Carolina?

A No.

Q He never told you about that, did he?

A No.

Q Ma'am?

A No.
Q And never told you that he'd been released by the orthopedic doctor, did he?
A No.
Q And he never told you, and you never knew that he had been sent out to a neurosurgeon ---
A No.
Q --- outside of the jail to look at and discharge him and clear him for his back injury and his neck injury, correct?
A No.
Q And did you ever know that he was released from all of the doctors that were treating him for his car wreck injury by October 31, 2011?
A I didn't, no.
Q And did you know and do you know that the detention center had a nurse that handed out medication to your dad and a doctor that wrote orders for those medications?
A I didn't know.
Q You didn't know that?
A Hu-uh.
Q So really, in terms of everything that kind of bears on this, what I'm hearing you say is that you remember the bond hearing, he didn't have the neck brace on at the bond hearing and later that day.

A Uh-huh.
Q And you had a conversation with a member of the medical team about his neck brace and his medications.
A Yes.
Q And that was pretty much it, wasn't it?
A We discussed about the burns on his arms looked infected.
Q Now, did you know that he got medical care and treatment for that?
A No.
Q Did you look at any of the medical records and the nurse's notes and saw that?
A No. I just seen it and it looked really infected, so I just spoke with -- spoke with someone about it.
Q Okay. Were they nice and they listened to you?
A Yeah.
Q And they were at the jail?
A Yes.
Q Okay. All right. And your dad was in a real bad wreck, wasn't he?
A Yes.
Q And anybody with those kind of injuries, you would expect that this will take them a little longer to get over, wouldn't you?
A Yes.

Q Even with the best medical care, wouldn't you think?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. And knowing and seeing a parent or a child with injuries like this, I mean, that's upsetting, isn't it?
A Yes.
Q And I'm sure you're worried about your dad. Is he living back at home with you now?
A Yes.
MR. HARTER: Good. All right. Take care of him, all right? Thank you.
THE COURT: Anything on redirect?

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q Ms. Porter, would there be any reason for Tony to tell you about all the medical treatment that he was getting at the jail? Would he have any reason to tell you about that?
A No.
Q But would he have reason to tell you when he wasn't getting some, like a neck brace or medication?
A Yes.
Q Tell the jury about those burns that you saw on his arm that looked infected.
A They were really bad. And I've never seen a burn look that bad, so that's what worried me. I mean, it was -- it was in stuff. It didn't look like any medicine had been put on it.

Q Okay. At the hospital when somebody came to get your dad when he was discharged to home but they took him to the detention center, were you there at the hospital with your brother?

A I had pulled up to the front when they were bringing him down.

Q Okay. All right. So you -- that was the last you saw of him is when they took him to the hospital -- I mean when they took him to the detention center?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Who was bringing him down? Was it your brother pushing him in a wheelchair? Or who was it?

A I think my brother was. I'm not too sure. I think he was pushing him.

Q Okay.

A But I'm not too sure.

Q Okay. And Rusty asked you some questions about every time you saw him after that on the 17th, he had his -- he had his collar on. But I want to make sure that during those six days, every time you saw him during those six days, once at the bond hearing and once a few hours after, did he have a neck collar on?

A No.
Q Okay.
A Not when I seen him.
MR. HAWKINS: All right. Bear with me one second, all right?
We don't have any more questions for you, Samantha. Please answer any redirect.
THE COURT: Recross.
MR. HAWKINS: Or recross. I'm sorry.

RECROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. HARTER:
Q I want to make sure. For this six-day period, you only saw him one time, right?
A Twice.
Q Twice.
A Uh-huh.
Q But one day. It was on the same day.
A In one day. Yes.
Q Okay. And when your dad was discharged from the hospital, do you recall that there was a nurse or a medical person that was an escort downstairs to where the vehicle was for your dad? Because you were down there too, right?
A I was actually in my car. The only people I remember coming out the door was the officer, my brother and my dad.

Q Okay.
A I don't remember seeing anybody else.
Q But you don't disagree that there was -- that there could have been a nurse there that was providing escort services or a hospital representative?
A I don't remember. I don't remember.
Q But we know that your dad was discharged from the hospital, right?
A Yes.
Q On that day, right?
A Yes.
Q He was not sent or discharged to a nursing facility or any kind of rehab place, was he?
A No.
Q Okay. Did your dad have a primary care physician at home, by the way?
A No.
Q Huh?
A No.
Q So he didn't have a regular family doctor that would be available to take care of him when he got home, right?
A I mean, we would have got him one, but he didn't have one at the time.
Q But he didn't have one at that point.

A No.

MR. HARTER: Okay. Thank you.

THE COURT: All right, ma'am. Thank you very much. You can step down.

Were we going to read the deposition at this point or were we going to call another witness? Or maybe we can do both.

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, we're fine with just doing it all at one time later on if that streamlines things more, or whatever everybody wants to do.

THE COURT: All right. I think it would be better to go ahead and at least get that portion of the deposition that we know is admissible.

MR. HAWKINS: Okay.

THE COURT: So I prefer to do that if you don't have another live witness that we can call.

MR. HAWKINS: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thanks.

Who is going to be playing the roles?

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, would you prefer the roles or you just want to publish it?

THE COURT: However you want to do it.

MR. HAWKINS: Do you want to have one person ask a question and one of them answer it or just let everybody read it?

THE COURT: I've seen it done both ways. We --

MR. HAWKINS: I'll just read it.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARTER: Could I suggest that maybe one person read and the other ask questions so we know questions from answers?

THE COURT: Sure. That might be a little bit cleaner way to do it.

Can we get a volunteer, somebody who can play the deponent? We need a volunteer.

MR. HARTER: Ms. Davis will do it, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Ms. Davis, come on up. The opportunity for your father to cross-examine you is something that's not going to be ---

MR. HAWKINS: Judge, logistically, we've only got the undisputed highlighted portions on one document, so that's my only concern. Maybe just take a few minutes to highlight two documents if we're going to do the back-and-forth.

THE COURT: We can share between you and -- oh, I see what you're saying. All right. Ladies and gentlemen, quick five-minute break.

MR. HARTER: If you will direct call the page, I've got a yellow lighter, okay? If you'll tell her when you go to a different page.

MR. HAWKINS: Okay.

MR. HARTER: Say line so-and-so to line so-and-so.

THE COURT: I'll explain to y'all in a minute what we're doing. We're going to get the stage set up here. Please exit stage right. Thank you. Don't talk about the case. Be back on the record in a moment.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom and a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: All right. Let's go ahead and have the jury out here. Ms. Davis, if you want to come on up. And go ahead and start bringing the jury out.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. Ladies and gentlemen, here's what's about to happen, okay? And just by way of background, let me let you know, anytime a lawsuit is filed, the attorneys are able to engage in discovery. Part of discovery is finding out what the other side is going to testify to or say about the case, and a common tool used along those lines is a deposition, all right?

There's a witness who was deposed in 2015. The last witness referred to her. She has passed away since 2015. And so what the attorneys are going to do is read portions -- the relevant portions of her deposition into the record. And Ms. Davis, Mr. Harter's daughter, is going to play the role of the deponent, and so the answers that she's going to be giving, you can take them as being under oath because the witnesses are sworn at the time a deposition is taken by the attorneys, okay?

Mr. White, you can continue, sir.

MR. WHITE: And this was a deposition taken on it looks like February 13, 2015, of Ms. Debra Knowles, just so the record's clear.

And Carly, I'm starting on page 4.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, I took the deposition.

MR. WHITE: Right.

THE COURT: You took the deposition. Okay.

And gentlemen, so that my court reporter doesn't have to take this down, as soon as we start with the deposition, we'll make it a Court's exhibit, and that way she doesn't have to transcribe something that's already been transcribed, okay? So go ahead, please.

MR. WHITE: All right. Carly, I'm starting on page 4 at line 5 just to get us oriented, okay?

DEPOSITION TESTIMONY OF DEBRA KNOWLES

Q Ms. Debra Knowles, is that your name, please.

A Yes, sir.

Q Your full name, please.

A Debra Lynn Knowles.

Q Okay. And your home address, Ms. Knowles?

A 97 Gettysburg Drive, Ware Shoals, South Carolina.

29690 I think is the ZIP Code.
Q Okay. That's good enough. What is your age, please, ma'am.
A 43.
Q Do you work, ma'am?
A No. I'm disabled.
Q Okay. What is your disability?
A Agoraphobia.
Q I'm sorry? I couldn't hear.
A Agoraphobia, panic attack, and now it's liver failure.
Q I saw that. What kind of liver problem do you have?
A Basically, my weight. They believe my weight and being a diabetic may have done some damage to my liver. I have been living with it for approximately eight years. I underwent having a stent put in my liver to hold it open because I was retaining fluid.
Q You said you had a problem with your liver because of what? I'm sorry. I got distracted there.
A Being overweight. I'm also a diabetic, and it's just -- it's all snowballing at one time.
Q A combination of problems?
A Yeah.
Q Now, are you taking any medication now?

A Yes.
Q What medications do you take now?
A I have it in my purse, what I take for my liver.
Q Okay.
A It's pronounced Xifaxan.
Q Okay. Xifaxan?
A Yeah. It's like an antibiotic, and it's for -- it has to do with the brain, fluid on the brain. If I don't take it twice a day ---
Q Okay.
A --- I can get into a dangerous situation.
Q I understand. What other medications -- what other medicine do you take?
A I take the Effexor. Basically, it's been the menopause. I take insulin for diabetes. Let's see. I take Lyrica for diabetic nerve pain of the feet.
Q Right.
A If I have to, I take a very, a half a milligram of Ativan. Panic attacks, like I said, if I need to.
Q Now, do any of those medications affect your ability to hear me and to understand my questions and give truthful answers today?
A No.
Q So we need to communicate verbally, okay? And if there's anything about my question that you don't understand, ask me to repeat it or rephrase it before you try to answer it, okay? Okay?

A Yes, sir.
Q All right. And if I accidentally interrupt you and/or cut you off in the midst of an answer, please let me know and we'll allow you to complete that answer, okay?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And what is your relation to Tony Young?
A He was my first husband. We have the three children together.
Q I understand. Okay. Now, did you ever see him while he was at Greenwood County Detention Center?
A Yes. I did when he had his first hearing.
Q Okay. Did you see him any other time while he was at Greenwood County Detention Center?
A His daughter went and seen him. No, I did not.
Q Okay. How long did the bond hearing last, if you know?
A I'm going to say probably about five or ten minutes. It was over before I even knew what was going on.
Q Did your ex-husband Tony have a lawyer representing him at the bond hearing?
A No. He was supposed to have had a -- what do you call them?
Q Public defenders?

A Yes. But it wasn't nobody there.
Q And did y'all say anything to the magistrate at the time, you or Tony or any of the family members?
A We weren't given a chance. I might have popped off with something, but I didn't get in trouble.
Q Okay. Do you remember Tony saying anything at the time?
A No.
Q Nothing?
A He was in too much pain. He barely could function.
Q I understand. But my question is, do you remember anything that he said at the bond hearing to the magistrate?
A He didn't say -- he couldn't say nothing. He didn't.
Q He didn't say anything. Okay. All right.
Now, following the bond hearing, I want to ask you, did you see him at any time while he was at the detention center?
A No. I left. My daughter would go and see him.
Q What did Tony look like at the bond hearing?
A Horrible.
Q Okay. Tell me how he looked.
A Well, considering what the car looked like, he looked a whole lot better. He had this massive burn on his arm where he had ate some road because he hit the tractor, went through the windshield. The only time I've -- I've never known him not to put his seatbelt on. Thank God he didn't put it on because he went through the windshield of the car, but he just -- you could look in his eyes -- or I could, anyway, and seen how much pain he was in.

Q Okay.

A He had burns all over him, but I remember that one being really bad.

A And I remember calling the Greenwood Police Department and talking to the nurse and, you know, telling them they needed to check up on him and do something.

Q Who did you talk to?

A Some lady working. I didn't get no names.

Q She said she was a nurse?

A Yes.

Q When was it that you made the call?

A Right after the hearing when I seen the burns and the pain he was in and how they were making him -- the walker with the extended brace that the doctor made for him. They were making him go up the steps, back down carrying. He had a broke neck, a broke pelvis, a broke wrist, cuts, burns. He was just ---

Q Did he have a walker with him?

A Yeah. And like I said, it had an extended thing for his wrist because he had broke his wrist, but he didn't have it in a cast.

Q Okay.
A And they were making him -- wasn't even helping him. They were making him walk -- walk up all the steps and back down.
Q Did he have any brace on his hands?
A They did not cast it.
Q No. Did ---
A They didn't do anything, no. They had like an extra extension for the walker to where he was having to, you know, hold.
Q So he was in a walker. He had a walker?
A You know, the walker. Some have wheels.
Q Right. Did he have anything on his hands or arms?
A No.
Q What do you mean by an extension?
A About that tall, had a little thing where he could rest his arm. The doctor kind of, you know, made what Tony could use.
Q So there was something on his wrist to hold it?
A It was attached.
Q To the walker?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. Did he have anything on his legs or his knees or his neck or anything like that?

A Well, he was burnt. I mean, he was cut and burned places all over him.
Q Were they exposed or were they wrapped up?
A This one was exposed. It was not wrapped up. It was just oozing pus.
Q Okay.
A About this long.
Q About six inches long?
A Uh-huh. It was on the arm right here.
Q You think it was on his right arm?
A Uh-huh.
Q Ma'am?
A Yes, sir.
Q Which arm did he have that contraption on to hold it or brace it?
A Right.
Q His right?
A Uh-huh.
Q Ma'am?
A Yes, sir.
Q The hand that he writes with?
A Yes.
Q And he's right-handed?
A Yes.

Q Did he have any kind of brace on his neck or head or anything?
A He left the hospital with a collar on. They got him back to Greenwood, and you can get this yourself from the Jailbird from that year, his mug shot was taken with his collar on.
Q Right.
A The doctor said not to take it off.
Q But he did have the collar on when you saw him at the bond hearing?
A Yes.
Q Ma'am?
A As far as my knowledge, he had it on.
Q At the bond?
A The bond, yeah.
Q Okay. Great.
A But the mug shot was took before that.
Q Right. The mug shot was taken and it wasn't on, but at the bond hearing, it was on?
A Yeah.
Q And you're talking about a neck collar, neck brace?
A Uh-huh.
Q Ma'am?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Good. Now, how long was that after he got out of the hospital that the bond hearing was done?

A It was a matter of days.
Q And you never saw him again at the detention center?
A No, I did not. I let his children visit him.
Q I understand. We're going to talk to his children.
Now, did you talk to him at the detention center? I mean, did he phone you?
A No.
Q Fair enough. Okay. What did that brace look like when you saw it on him at the bond hearing?
A The neck collar?
Q Yes.
A It's like what they put on them. I guess they put it on him the night of the wreck or the day of the wreck when he was airlifted to Greenville. It was a safe collar or something. I don't know what you call them. It's just like a beige/tan color.
Q But it was around his neck?
A Yeah. They're very irritable. He didn't like it, but he was told to wear it.
Q Was he still in a good deal of pain and did he appear to be?
A Yeah, yeah. They took his medicine, and they wouldn't give it to him. And I know it was narcotics and, you know, I figured, you know, they wouldn't give that, but they do have like -- like I said, I called the nurse, you know, from time to time and asked her how he was doing and if they were checking his -- that one big burn that was nasty looking.

MR. WHITE: I think that's it for right now, Judge.

THE COURT: Did you want to elicit, Mr. Harter, the portion where you deposed?

MR. HARTER: That's it, Judge.

THE COURT: That's all of it?

MR. WHITE: That covered the whole thing.

THE COURT: That covered the whole thing. Thank you very much. You can step down. And if you want to give your copy to Tara, the court reporter, then she can mark that as a Court's.

(WHEREUPON, Court's Exhibit Number 1 was marked for identification.)

MR. HARTER: Judge, do you want the original?

THE COURT: I do not care.

All right. Ladies and gentleman, we're going to go ahead and take our lunch break at this particular point in time. I think the next witness may take a little while, so we'll go ahead and break right now for lunch.

If you could, please do try to be back in the jury room let's say about a quarter -- let's say at about a quarter till 2:00, about 1:45 or so, give or take, and hopefully we'll be in a position to move forward at that point in time, okay?

Enjoy your lunch. Don't talk about the case. See you back at a quarter till two. Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. The jury is out.

And I am correct that your client will be the final witness for you?

MR. WHITE: There will be like one more like five-minute witness after that.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Very good. It's beginning to look like we may not be in a position to get this to the jury today. We'll just have to see how it all plays out, okay? See you all in about an hour and ten minutes or so. Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: All right. The record will reflect that the jury is back and seated. At this point, Mr. Hawkins, call your next witness, please.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge. We call plaintiff Tony Young to the stand, Your Honor.

WHEREUPON,

TONY RAY YOUNG

After having been duly sworn, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Mr. Young, state your full name for the jury, please.

A Tony Ray Young.

Q Okay. How old are you?

A 50.

Q Okay. Now, you were charged with DUI?

A Yes, sir.

Q And you were in a bad wreck?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. And you went to the hospital?

A Yeah.

Q And then you went to the detention center.

Let's start by going over some of your injuries, okay? Some areas on this exhibit are marked red, but you had more injuries than this, didn't you?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. Did you have some injuries to your teeth?

A Yeah. My two front teeth was shattered.

MR. HARTER: I'm sorry. Could we -- the microphone.

THE COURT: Speak up just -- yeah.

MR. HARTER: I just can't hear you.

THE WITNESS: My two front teeth were shattered.

THE COURT: I don't think that's on.

MR. HAWKINS: Yeah. I think it's off, maybe.

THE COURT: You'll need to speak up just a little bit more loudly, Mr. Young.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Just remember to kind of lean in ---

A All right.

Q --- so the rest of the jury can hear you.

Okay. So your two front teeth were shattered?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. Did you have road rash ---

A Yes, sir.

Q --- on your arms and body?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. Was your -- how many places did you have breaks in your pelvis? Do you remember?

A I believe three.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, I don't think he can testify as to how many breaks he had. He can testify about where he hurt. The medical records ---

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, he can ---

THE COURT: I mean, he can testify about his own physical condition. I understand your position, but he's testifying first person this is what I understand happened to my body. Anything that you disagree with, you can handle it on cross.

MR. HARTER: Just where he had a fracture, those are medical issues.

THE COURT: All right. Overruled.

Proceed. He can testify.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q How many breaks did you have in your pelvis?

A I believe three altogether.

Q Okay. How many breaks did you have in your back?

A Altogether three or four, altogether.

Q Are you talking about all the way up to your -- you're talking about your entire spinal ---

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. So I know you had a couple in your neck.

A Yeah.

Q How many just in your back?

A I believe two.

Q Okay. And how many in your neck?

A Two.

Q Okay. All right. Were those fractures painful?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. And so it's clear for the jury, you don't blame the sheriff's office for any of the injuries themselves, do you?

A No, sir.

Q Okay. You accept full responsibility for all that.

A Yeah, I do.
Q Okay. Now, the pain in your neck for the time you didn't have your collar, was that something you did or is that something the sheriff's office did?
A Well, they took my collar, so ---
Q Okay.
A --- that's something they did.
Q Okay. Well, when you went into booking, tell the jury about that, from the time you got there and when they took your collar all the way through.
A When I first went in, you know, they take the paperwork stuff from you, and then they start asking your name, and there's all sorts of questions. And then they take you back to the shower room. We had to take a shower.
Q Okay. Describe that for the jury.
A Well, they took my neck brace from me. So I get in the shower. And at first they took my walker away from me, but I told Sergeant Holtzclaw at the time that I need my walker or I couldn't, you know, get in the shower without the walker. So he did give that back to me, my walker.
Q Okay.
A And then I had to get in the shower and take a shower, you know, trying to hold on with like one hand, which was casted. And they didn't give me nothing to cover it up with ---

Q Okay.

A --- you know, as far as a plastic bag or anything.

Q Okay.

A And so I was trying to hold it out of the way and take a shower with my other hand while standing.

Q Okay. So if I understand you, you're trying to hold your -- I guess your left arm, your casted hand out of the water ---

A Yes.

Q --- so that water doesn't get into it?

A Yes, sir.

Q And then -- and so you were trying to hold onto the walker with your good hand and then wash?

A At the same time, yeah. I mean, it was ---

Q Okay.

A --- like very difficult, you know.

Q Right. Okay. Now -- and that was after the neck brace had been taken from you?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. So that neck brace, was it your understanding that that was keeping your neck stable so it didn't sever your spinal cord?

A Yes, sir.

MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor. We keep ---

THE COURT: All right. Sustained. And mostly on leading grounds, okay? You need to ask him an open question.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Was it your -- was the neck brace keeping your neck stable?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. All right. And was it reducing the pain in your neck?

A Yes. Yeah, it was.

Q Okay. So as soon as they took the neck brace from you, what did you feel instantly in your neck?

A I mean, it started hurting like a lot worse.

Q Okay. Did you tell Holtzclaw that, hey, my neck hurts a lot worse, I need that neck brace?

A Well, I mean, he knew I couldn't have it in the shower.

Q Right.

A But I did explain that it did hurt, you know, worser [sic] but ---

Q Okay.

A I mean, they're going to make you get in the shower.

Q Right.

Did anybody call a doctor or a nurse or anybody to come up and see about your neck before they took the neck brace off?

A No, sir.
Q Okay. So when you went up to where Holtzclaw was, what did he say? Just you've got to take that off? It's contraband? What did he say?
A Well, I mean, he took my neck brace, and then when he did get back, that's what he told me, that it was contraband is why I couldn't have it back after I had got the shower.
Q Okay. All right. When's the next time you got it back?
A It was several days later.
Q Okay. Did you have it at the bond hearing?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. Did you have it the day after the bond hearing?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. Who finally gave it back to you?
A When I went and seen their doctor.
Q Okay. And that was about how long after they took it from you?
A Like I say, I mean, I don't know the exact, you know, days, but it was, you know, several days.
Q Okay. And was that Dr. Massey?

A I would assume it was.
Q Okay. What did Dr. Massey say when she saw you without the neck brace?
MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Sustained on hearsay.
BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q What did you learn from Dr. Massey when she learned that you didn't have your neck brace?
MR. HARTER: Judge ---
THE COURT: It's a different way of asking the same question.
MR. HAWKINS: I'll withdraw it and ask another question.
THE COURT: Go ahead.
BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q Did Dr. Massey get your neck brace for you at that point?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And were you grateful for that?
A Yeah, I was.
Q And did it relieve that pain you'd been feeling for several days?
A Yes. Yeah. I mean, I felt a lot better, you know, about moving around because I was scared really to move around without it on.

Q Okay. All right. Do you know why Dr. Massey immediately went and got that neck brace when she learned you'd been deprived of it?
A I assume, you know ---
MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Overruled. Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: I would imagine, you know, that she knew that I -- I needed it. And I guess she figured why -- why it got took in the first place, you know, I -- I don't know.
BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q Okay. Now we're going to look at some of these records in a minute. We'll go through some of them. But I know the records are going to show that you got -- you went to booking, Bouknight comes in and she says gave the inmate Advil or ibuprofen or something like that. Did you get any medicine that first day?
A No, I did not.
Q Okay. So when we look at that in the records and it says "patient got medicine," is that true or is that false?
A That's false.
Q Okay. How long was it before you finally got any kind of medicine? And I mean Advil or just anything you can get at CVS.

A That same day I had went and seen a doctor.
Q Okay. So that would been days after you came to the detention center.
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. So records say one thing, but you were there. And is it your testimony that you didn't get any medicine, not ---
MR. HARTER: Your Honor, let the witness testify. I think Mr. Hawkins is characterizing the injuries the way he wants to.
THE COURT: Let's ask open questions. You're certainly at liberty in closing to characterize the responses in the manner that you described or the manner that you wish, okay?
MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor.
BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q Did you get any medicine at all, whether it's prescription or not, in the first several days you were at the detention center?
A No, I didn't.
Q Okay. All right. Did you tell people that you needed medicine?
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. What was their response to that?
A They said that I had to wait until I seen their doctor.

Q Okay. And you've been sitting here with us the whole time.
A Yes, sir.
Q And did you hear that testimony a day or two ago about the policy says the best way to prevent liability in suits years later is to keep complete records?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And did you make any of these records or did the sheriff's office make these records?
A Sheriff's office.
Q Okay. I know you wrote some sick calls and stuff. I'm talking about the medical records and progress notes.
A Yeah.
Q Okay. And you heard the testimony about how important it is to keep accurate records including medical records, right?
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. And did you hear the testimony about how important it is to keep records relating to booking?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Let's look at one of the records. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Plaintiff's 19. Were you there when that document was completed or was that completed in your presence? And I don't know where it was completed. I'm really asking out of curiosity.

A Well, yeah. I mean, I had to be there when they filled this out.
Q Okay. Do you see the first question? It says, "Has the person been injured or have any observable medical problems?"
A Yeah. I see it.
Q Okay. Did you have observable medical problems?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Does that document contain false information?
A Yes, it does.
Q Okay. I'm going to trade with you and give you Defendant's Exhibit 1. Do you see down here about three or four questions down it says, "Is the inmate's mobility restricted in any way due to deformity, cast, injury, et cetera"?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Do you see this marked "no"?
A Yeah.
Q Is that true or false?
A That's false.
Q Okay. Did you have a walker with you?
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. And up to the point you left the hospital, were you in a wheelchair?

A Yes, I was.
Q Okay. Do you have any idea why the sheriff's office failed to accurately complete this document?
A No, I don't.
Q Do you see down here where it says you have a painful dental condition?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Now, that's marked "no." Did you tell them, no, I don't have a painful dental condition or anything like that?
A No, I didn't.
Q Okay. Do you have any idea why they failed to fill out that portion accurately?
A I ain't got no idea.
Q Okay. When your teeth were shattered when you were in the wreck, was that painful?
A Yes, it was.
Q And what I mean is, did it cause pain going forward? When you were at the detention center, was that painful in your mouth?
A Oh, yeah, is it painful.
Q Okay. Trade with you again and give you Defendant's 10.
Okay. It says right here about three or four lines down when you came in, you had your neck brace. Is that part accurate?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And it talks about your injuries. And then it says they took your medication. Did they take your medication when you came in?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Before they took that from you, did they -- before they booked you in, did they call a doctor or anything like that?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. Did they do anything to comply with policy that requires them to have a physician certify you?
A No, they didn't.
Q Okay. Did anybody call a doctor?
A No.
Q Did anybody call a doctor before they took your neck brace off?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. Did they express any concern at all that you had a broken neck?
A To me it didn't seem like it.
Q Okay. If you read down, it says, "Nurse McMahan will give inmate Advil for pain." Did you ever see any Advil for pain?
A No, I didn't. At the time, I did not.

Q Okay. So is that portion of the document false?
A Yes, it is.
Q Okay. If you turn to the next page, 820, it says, "Inmate accepted meds with difficulty." Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Down here at the bottom.
A Yeah.
Q Now, that would have been -- you came in on the 16th. That would have been on the 21st. Did you -- is that part accurate or is that inaccurate?
A That's not accurate.
Q Okay. All right. When you finally did -- when somebody finally did give you medication, do you recall who it was that finally gave you medication?
A Well, the doctor is the one that prescribed it.
Q Okay.
A But, you know, the nurse comes around like twice a day ---
Q Uh-huh.
A --- and that's when I started receiving it.
Q Okay. Do you know, when they took your -- when they took your medicine and your -- did they take your street clothes, too?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. What all did they take when they booked you in? Your medicine, your street clothes, and what else?

A I can't -- I can't remember all of it. Maybe a hat, a wallet, stuff like that.
Q Okay. So maybe a hat and a wallet. And did you have anything in your pockets?
A I don't believe so.
Q Okay. And do you know -- from being there, do you know what the process is for -- when your personal belongings are logged in, do you know what the process is for getting them back?
A Like when you get released, you get them back.
Q Uh-huh. Do they stay -- is it your understanding that they stay in the custody and control of the sheriff's office until you're released?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Was any of your stuff ever released to you?
A I know my clothes was because I carried them with me when I went to prison.
Q Okay. What did they do with the narcotic medication, do you know?
A I've got no idea.
Q Did you ever get that back?
A No, sir.
Q So sheriff's office was in control of the narcotics, and you don't know what happened to it?

A No, I don't.
Q Okay. All right. On this progress note, Kyle pointed out another falsehood to me. It says your right arm was in a cast. Which arm was actually in a cast?
A My left.
Q Okay. Does it appear to you from looking at these documents that anybody was paying attention to you while they were interacting with you or filling out these records?
A It don't seem like it.
Q I'm going to hand you Defendant's 4. You see down here where it says -- where it says "patient home" and then it's marked out?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. Do you know who marked that out, who struck through "home"?
A No, I don't.
Q Okay. Do you have any idea why there's a change to the document, why there's a strike-through on "home"?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. I'm going to hand you -- I'm going to have these marked. These are some sick calls. Look through those sick calls, if you would, and tell me if you are the author of those. Did I hand them to you? Give you my copy. Actually, wait till she's done marking them so we'll be on the same page.

(WHEREUPON, Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 20 was marked for identification.)

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q All right. Look through these and just make sure that you're the author of all those documents.

A (Reviews document) Yeah.

Q Okay.

A Yes, I am.

MR. HAWKINS: Okay. And, Your Honor, these have been stipulated to as business records. I'd move to have them admitted into evidence, if there's no objection.

MR. HARTER: No objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. They are Plaintiff's what?

MR. HAWKINS: 20.

THE COURT: All right. Plaintiff's 20 is in evidence without objection.

(WHEREUPON, Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 20 was admitted into evidence.)

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Take it away from you again. Sorry.

Okay. Now, when your collar was taken from you by Holtzclaw, was it pretty clear that you couldn't do anything about it? If he's going to take it, he's going to take it.

A Yeah. Yes, sir.
Q Is that -- okay.
So would there be a reason to fill out a sick call request about that?
A I really don't see no reason about it.
Q Okay. So when your family saw you, did y'all talk about -- let's talk about the bond hearing before we talk about this. When your family saw you at the bond hearing, did y'all talk about the fact that, you know, that Samantha -- did you talk about the fact that I don't have it, I'm worried, stuff like that?
A Yeah. I told them that.
Q Okay. And did you tell them that, hey, they messed up this -- I guess you didn't know about the booking procedure, but did you tell them they took my medicine?
A Yes. Yes, sir.
Q Okay. All right. Did Samantha seem concerned at that point?
A Yes, sir. She did.
Q Okay. So we can agree that several days after you were booked in, you finally did get some Tylenol or something, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Tell the jury about those first six -- or you said several -- those first several days where you're in the detention center with no medication and you're having to deal with your injuries. Tell the jury about that.

A That's pretty much about the only thing I could do was just lay there, you know, in very bad pain. I mean, you know, couldn't hardly get up. When they'd bring the food by, most times I just tell them, no, I don't want nothing because, you know, I -- I really wasn't able to get up or either I was scared to get up, really.

Q Okay. So let's talk about the food for a minute, because that's -- we didn't even talk about that. When they brought the food by, would that always be a guard that brought the food, or would sometimes it be another inmate?

A Well, it would be a guard with an inmate.

Q Okay.

A You know, they would open a door, you know, and set it there, and then you had to get up and go to the door and get it.

Q Okay. So did they ever -- if you were unable to get up, did they ever bring it and just set it by your bed or bring it near your bed?

A Maybe on like I'd say like one or two occasions, an officer would let the inmate bring it in, you know, lay it on my bed.

Q Okay. And so you said the rest of the time, a lot of times you would say, "No, I don't want anything."
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Did anybody ever offer any assistance? Since you had a crushed pelvis and all that, did anybody ever say, "Do you need help? Can we bring it near your bed"? Or was it just those two or three times?
A Just those couple of times.
Q Okay. All right. How many times do you think you ate in the first six days?
A I mean, it couldn't have been more than five, six, seven times at the most.
Q Okay. All right. So if on -- were there at least a couple times where you tried to get up and get to the door to get the tray?
A Most times I wouldn't even try.
Q Right. I'm talking about the times that you did, because I want you to tell the jury about trying to get to the door with the walker and all that kind of stuff.
A Well, I mean, it was very difficult because, I mean, I had to hold on with this hand here, you know, with my right hand, because like I said, my left hand was in a cast. And then when I did get to the door, I still had to grab the tray ---
Q Right.

A --- and then get back to my bed. So it was, you know, just almost like impossible almost, you know.
Q Right. Okay. And I'm not trying to embarrass you or anything like that, but we've got to talk about it. What about getting to the toilet? Talk about what that was like for the jury without pain medicine.
A That was like terrible, I mean -- I mean, very bad.
Q Okay. And your pelvis, you said, was broken in three or four places -- or three places, I think you said?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Tell the jury about the pain you experienced with that broken pelvis sitting on the toilet with no pain medicine.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, I move to strike. The plaintiff cannot testify as to any number of breaks in his pelvis. The medical record is in the record, and the medical record's in.

THE COURT: All right. Fair enough. I think the question, though, centers on how much pain the plaintiff experienced when trying to relieve himself, so I don't know that we're really talking about the numbers of breaks in a pelvis. Taken with that caveat, overruled.

Go ahead.

BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q And don't focus on all the breaks in the pelvis.

Just focus on the pain you experienced trying to get to the commode or toilet.
A I mean, it was very bad, you know, like almost unbearable, you know. Especially the first few days.
Q Okay. All right. Let's talk about the Sick Call Request Form 4. This is going into September of '11, I think. Were there ever times when ---
MR. HARTER: September what?
MR. HAWKINS: September of 2011.
MR. HARTER: The date is 9/21. Is that the one we're talking about?
MR. HAWKINS: Yes. Yeah.
MR. HARTER: Okay.
MR. HAWKINS: The Bates is 113, if that helps.
MR. HARTER: Thank you.
BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q So were there times where you would submit requests because you needed medicine for pain?
A Yes, I would.
Q Okay. And you don't dispute that after those first six days or so, they did give you pain medicine intermittently?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. It says right here on -- if you look at the one that's 9/21, the top left-hand corner, it's 9/21, it says, "I've been trying to get to see someone" -- now hold it up where I can see it. "I've been trying to get to see someone because I've been hurting in my neck pretty bad, and I ain't been getting any sleep hardly." And then it goes on. "I don't care what it is." It says, "I just need something. I don't care what it is."

Why were you telling them "I don't care what it is. Just give me something"?

A I mean, I was hurting, you know.

Q Okay.

A And I wasn't getting nothing.

Q Okay. And then you're -- I mean, you're always polite, you know. You always say "thank you." You don't want to make them mad, right?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. All right. And would you send these sick call requests, would they then give you some medicine after you had to write a request?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. All right. So if I understand your testimony, the nurse comes by twice a day; is that accurate?

A Yeah.

Q Okay. And then sometimes does the nurse just not come by, or is it these times in between those two times that we're talking about?

A I mean, like a lot of times, I didn't see no nurse, you know, but -- you know.
Q Okay. All right. And on those days where you didn't see or the nurse didn't come in the morning or she didn't come in the afternoon, whatever it was, would there be anybody to hand out meds?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. And as a result of that, would you then sometimes write one of these requests?
A Yes, sir.
Q And after they got it, would they finally bring you something?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. All right. And then you write one on Christmas Eve. It says you're having some issues with your teeth. Which teeth -- was that the teeth that were injured in the wreck, or was that another tooth, or was that a combination of teeth? Or do you remember?
A I really don't remember.
Q Okay. That's fine.
And then we go on to it looks like the day after Christmas, December 26th. "I hate to keep bugging y'all." And then you talk about how your teeth are hurting and you need something for it. And then it says, "Again, sorry to keep bugging y'all nurses." What did you mean by "sorry to keep bugging y'all nurses"?

A Well, you know, that's a, you know, just keep on, you know, just over and over ---
Q Okay.
A --- having to, you know, keep telling them, you know, I need something, you know.
Q Right. But if you didn't keep telling them ---
A I wouldn't get it.
Q Right.
And it says "see pathway." Do you know what that means? Bouknight talked about it a little bit. Do you have any idea what it means?
A Yeah. I think it means, you know, to make sure that an inmate is took care of and I guess look after him.
Q Okay. And we go to a couple days after Christmas, December 27th. It says, "I know I'm being a pain about getting something, but I can't help it if my neck still hurts and my teeth." It goes on and on. And then it says, I know I don't need pills every day because it may cause my stomach to hurt, but I'd rather have some pain relief and deal with the stomachache, basically. So had they told you to make some sort of statement about you don't need pain medicine every day because it will make your stomach hurt?
A No. They didn't tell me that. I mean ---

Q Okay. What did you mean by this?
A I mean, I know we, you know, keep taking a lot of Advil or Tylenol, you know. They can mess with your stomach, you know.
Q Okay. So did they ever address that, or is that just you saying, "I know it could hurt my stomach but I need some pain meds"?
A I guess it's just me to say that.
Q Okay. All right. So did you finally get something on -- for that December 27th note? Did they finally come bring you something? It says, "Seen yesterday. Instructed to write to administration for a tooth extraction."
A I probably didn't get nothing that day. I mean, probably, like a day or two later before I got anything, I imagine.
Q Okay. Did they finally pull these teeth?
A I pulled one.
Q Okay. Now, had that become abscessed when you were in there, when you were in the detention center?
MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor.
MR. HAWKINS: He can testify about if his tooth became abscessed, Your Honor.
THE COURT: "Abscess" is a technical term. If you want to discuss -- or if he wants to discuss what symptoms he incurred, that kind of a thing, he can do that, or how his teeth hurt, or describe them or what he saw in the mirror when he looked in the mirror at his teeth. He can do that.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q At some point in time, did your face become swollen due to dental issues?

A Yeah. Like at one time, it did.

Q Okay. And did you finally get that tooth pulled?

A Yes, I did.

Q Okay. Now, on January 14th it looks like, you say, "I've had a headache for the last three or four days." Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Now, is that because you hadn't received pain medication in three or four days, or is that due to something else?

A I mean, I believe it would be because I hadn't had nothing in, you know, like a few days.

Q Okay. All right. If we go to January 25th, it says, "Can I please have some Tylenol today. I'm still hurting and the yellow pills don't seem to help." And then it says, "The last time I had something was Sunday or Monday morning." Do you know what day of the week January 25, 2012, was? I don't know of any reason why you would know that.

A No.

Q Okay. Had it been at least a day or two since you had anything?

A Oh, yes, sir.

Q Okay. And then it says, "I'm sorry for asking for something, but I can't help it. I can't rest or sleep." Was the pain causing you to lose sleep?

A Yes, it was.

Q Okay. Because you were trying to deal with all these injuries with basically Advil, right?

A Yeah.

Q And then it says on January 25th, "I know y'all don't like giving me ibuprofen every day, but I need something. Them pills I'm taking now aren't doing nothing. Could I have a couple of Tylenol each day or something? I just need something." Is that because you were having a hard time with pain?

A Yes.

Q Is that because you hadn't received pain medication that day?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Going on to February 29, 2012, and I'll read this part here because the jury will have all these with them in the jury room. "I hate to keep asking for something. I'd rather my stomach hurt than, you know, feel the pain."

Are all these notes basically you saying I'm hurt, I need pain medicine, y'all seem to be forgetting about me? Is that consistent with the spirit of these letters -- or these sick call requests?

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, Mr. Hawkins is ---

THE COURT: Leading?

MR. HARTER: --- offering his opinion, leading.

THE COURT: Sustained. Sustained on leading. Rephrase the question, please.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Tony, why did you write "I hate to keep asking for something"? Why did you have to write that?

A Well, I mean, apparently, I mean, they wouldn't give me something every day.

Q Okay.

A I mean, it might be, you know, two days, three days, four, five days before I got something until I had to write again to like try to get something.

Q Okay. And then we go to February 4th. It says, "They haven't given me any Tylenol since Monday, and them pills that I'm taking aren't really helping much." And then you asked for ibuprofen or Tylenol if you can. Why did you have to write that sick call request?

A I mean, I don't know what kind of pill that they would give me. I thought I wrote it, then it wouldn't help me. I mean, it wouldn't help me. I mean, that's the only reason I would write this request, you know. Like if I was still in pain, I mean, that's why I'd be writing it, you know, because I wouldn't get nothing else.
Q Okay. Tell the jury why it's important to you to be able to tell your fellow members of Greenwood County about what happened to you?
A I mean, I'd like to -- like to get something done about it like where it don't happen again.
MR. HARTER: This is irrelevant.
THE COURT: All right. Sustained.
MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, can we approach?
(WHEREUPON, a bench conference was held off the record.)
THE COURT: Objection sustained.
BY MR. HAWKINS:
Q Tony, is it important to be able to come here and tell your fellow members of the community what happened to you?
A Yes, it is.
Q And all this happened in 2011. Have you done everything both sides have asked you to all the way up till today?

A Yes, I have.

MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor. That has nothing to do with this.

THE COURT: I think I know what he's getting at. Overruled. Go ahead. He's already answered, so the answer stands.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Thank you, Tony.

You heard some testimony earlier about somebody calling the Highway Patrol at the hospital. Did any doctor, anybody come in and say, "We're calling Highway Patrol"?

MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Are you aware of any call that was made to the Highway Patrol or anybody else?

A No.

MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Let me hear the objection. What's the objection?

MR. HARTER: He's asking if he heard a doctor call the Highway Patrol. He's asking if he heard a doctor call the Highway Patrol. That's hearsay.

THE COURT: I understand.

MR. HAWKINS: I can rephrase, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Why is this relevant? We know that somebody called the Highway Patrol to come and bring him from the hospital.

MR. HAWKINS: No, we don't, Your Honor. In fact, we think -- we don't know that that happened. That's what I'm trying to establish. I mean, he's saying somebody called and told them to come pick him up. We don't think that happened.

THE COURT: Then the Highway Patrol magically appeared there and decided to take him into custody when he was being discharged? I mean ---

MR. HAWKINS: The Highway Patrol has a record of where he is, and we think they came to get him. We think the doctors discharged him to home.

THE COURT: The Highway Patrol is not a party to this action. If you're suggesting that they got him out of the hospital prematurely, then that doesn't compute to the sheriff's department.

MR. HAWKINS: No, we're not. We're not suggesting that at all. I just want to know if he knows if anybody called anyone because we don't ---

THE COURT: All right. The objection is sustained.

MR. HAWKINS: Yes, Your Honor.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Tony, you heard some testimony earlier from your ex-wife Debra Knowles. Do you remember that? Or you heard the transcript being read?

A Yeah, I did.

Q And I think it was indicated that the neck brace was beige or something. Do you -- I don't know what it said. What color was the neck brace?

A It was white and blue.

Q Okay. Do you know if this woman ever saw the neck brace?

A I doubt it.

Q Okay. As she indicated at one point that your neck brace is on in your mug shot, and I think she changed it when Rusty asked her another question, was your neck brace on or off in the mug shot?

A It was off.

Q Okay. Bear with me one minute, Tony.

All right, Tony. Just a couple more. Rusty is about to get up here and cross-examine you. He's going to show you a bunch of documents from doctors visits and a time period we're not talking about, all that kind of stuff. So I want to ask you -- so I want to ask you, those doctor visits, those follow-up appointments, all that kind of stuff, does that have anything to do with the sheriff's office taking your collar from you for six days?

A No, it don't.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, I object.

THE COURT: Overruled.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q And was that -- were those follow-up visits and all that, was that well after the sheriff's office had already taken your neck brace from you which was stabilizing your neck?

A Yes, it was.

Q Okay. All the horrible stuff was over by the time -- was all the horrible stuff over by the time you got the follow-up appointment?

MR. HARTER: Objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Sustained to the form of the question.

BY MR. HAWKINS:

Q Were the first six days bad?

A Very bad.

Q Were the first six days the most painful experience of your life?

A Pretty much, yes.

Q Was that a direct result of the sheriff's office taking your collar away from you?

A It had to do a lot to do with it. Plus, I wasn't getting no medicine.

Q Okay. And these follow-up appointments and all these medical records Rusty is going to go through, did most of that take place well after the sheriff's office took and kept your neck brace for six days?

A Yes, it was.

MR. HAWKINS: Okay. All right. Please answer what I'm sure will be a lengthy cross-examination.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, he doesn't need to be commenting about what I'm going to do.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Hawkins, Mr. Hawkins, you know that was below the belt.

MR. HAWKINS: I apologize, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Now, come on.

The jury is instructed to disregard that. However long you take, I've been patient with you, I'm going to be patient with him. You've got all the time in the world so far as I'm concerned. The jury might feel different.

All right. Go ahead.

MR. HARTER: Can we have just a couple minutes to get our ---

THE COURT: Why don't we. Okay. We'll take a few moments. Ladies and gentlemen, smoke them if you've got them. Go to the back, but don't talk about the case. Okay. Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom and a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: All right. We'll go back on the record.

Go ahead and bring the jury in, please.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: The jury is back and seated.

Mr. Harter, your examination.

MR. HARTER: Thank you, Your Honor.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. HARTER:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Young. I hope you're doing good today.

A All right. Thank you.

Q Okay. Let me just kind of make sure I cover a couple of things and get a timeline here. We know -- and I know you might have not been present at the time, but you were -- your accident was on August the 10th of 2011. The information we have is that you were at the Greenville Memorial Hospital until the 16th.

A Yes, sir.

Q That sounds about right, doesn't it?

A Yeah.

Q And then from August the 16th until April the 10th, you were an inmate at the detention center; is that right?

A I think it was August 11th.

Q August 11th. Okay.

And then you were transferred to the South Carolina Department of Corrections, and you were serving your sentence there for this felony DUI case until when? When did you max out?

A Well, I didn't really max out, but I got out in June of '16.
Q June of '16.
A Yes, sir.
Q So you were at SCDC for almost two years, right?
A No. About four years.
Q Okay. Wait a minute now.
A From '12 to '16.
Q I apologize. Four years. I apologize. From 2012 till 2016. You were at SCDC for four years.
A Yes, sir.
Q And that sentence was over this accident that you were involved in on the 10th; is that right?
A Yes, it was.
Q Okay. Now, while you were at SCDC, you were at several of the different SCDC yards, right?
A Yes.
Q Several different institutions and facilities.
MR. HAWKINS: Objection, Your Honor, about anything that happened at SCDC. That doesn't have anything to do with the claims we've brought, anything that have to do with SCDC.
THE COURT: I think I know where he's going with this.

Go ahead, Mr. Harter.

BY MR. HARTER:

Q At SCDC, the medications that you got for any medical conditions you had would have been nonnarcotic medications, right?

A Yes, it would.

Q And for your complaints of pain or discomfort of whatever kind of discomfort you had, whether it was accident related or not, you got ibuprofen and/or Tylenol, right?

A Yes, I did.

Q Okay. And so those were the approved and only medications you could get at SCDC. You couldn't get narcotics, right?

A Well, unless you was on like a special yard, you could.

Q But you never did.

A No.

Q You never -- you never received any narcotics ---

A No, sir.

Q --- at SCDC. Okay.

And they have yards for people who are in the hospital, right?

A Yes, sir.

Q All right. Now, and I want to roll back to the time of your accident. It was a bad accident; is that right?
A Yes, it was.
Q Okay. And you were transported to GHS, and you had -- as your lawyers I think have pointed out, you had some multiple medical issues that you got treated for there. And now, when you were treated at GHS for these six days, you never had any surgery, did you?
A No, I didn't.
Q Okay. You never had any pins or any hardware placed, did you?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. And the treatment you had there was to basically stabilize these sites of fracture that you mentioned.
A Yes.
Q Okay. And I think you mentioned and your lawyer's mentioned that you had some fracture or fractures to your neck, your ribs, your lumbar spine, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then your pelvis and your left hand.
A Yes, sir.
Q And your left hand fractures were basically to these fingers, right?
A In my fingers, and there were a couple up here in my hand.

Q Okay. But ---
A Basically in my fingers.
Q Basically your fingers. All right. Very good.
Now, in terms of these injuries that you were treated for there during these six days, you were discharged on the 16th, and when you were discharged, Mr. Young, you knew you were being charged with a criminal case, right?
A On that same day.
Q Yeah.
A Yeah.
Q You knew you were being charged with felony DUI.
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so at the time you left the hospital, you knew that your next stop most probably was the jail.
A Yeah. The officer came and picked me up so I knew I was going.
Q And it was a Highway Patrol officer, right?
A That's what they say.
Q Okay. Do you have any reason to dispute that, that it was a highway patrolman?
A I don't -- I mean, at the time, I mean, I didn't -- I didn't really know. I just assumed it was Greenwood, but I didn't know.
Q But you were kind of out of it, weren't you?

A Well, I mean -- you know.
Q I want to make sure I understand so we don't have any quandary here. You were charged with this felony DUI by a highway patrolman, correct?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. You were prosecuted under the direction of the Highway Patrol, right, and the solicitor's office, right?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. And you don't dispute the fact that the officer that picked you up and took you to the detention center was a highway patrolman.
A That's right.
Q Okay. All right. And when this transport was done, you had some -- did you have any dressings on any of your wounds?
A On my wounds?
Q Yes. You had some road rash.
A Yeah. I had dressing on my ---
Q Okay. Dressing.
A Yeah.
Q Okay. And you hadn't had any stitches, now, had you?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. All right. Now, you had a collar on your neck, and this was a -- this was a hard collar, but you could remove it, right? I mean, it was removable by you.

A Yeah. Of course.
Q Okay. And you had a cast on your left hand.
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you had a rolling walker, right?
A Yes.
Q And for those of us that have had to use that, that's a rolling walker where you've got -- you can roll it along, you've got both hands, and you can walk with that assistive device, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So you had your neck brace on, you had your rolling walker, your left hand was in a cast.

Now, did you have any kind of corset or neck brace -- excuse me -- back brace or anything on your torso here because of those wounds -- or excuse me -- because of those fractures to your back?
A No, I didn't.
Q And now, you were taken to the Greenwood County Detention Center.
A Yes.
Q And you told us, I think, that you were taken to the booking area; is that right?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And at the booking area, do you remember that you were seen by somebody in the booking department and then that you were seen by a nurse?

A A nurse, I was not seen by a nurse.
Q Okay. And so we make sure -- let's make sure we understand kind of what we're talking about here today. Now, we've got the timeline of where you were, correct? Right?
A Yeah.
Q All right. Now, I want to make sure I understand what you're telling us and what you're telling this jury today. You are telling us that for the first six days of your detention at the Greenwood County Detention Center, this neck brace was taken away from you?
A Yes, it was.
Q And you say it was taken off of you when you had a shower ---
A Yes.
Q --- by Officer Holtzclaw and never returned to you until six days later.
A Until I seen their doctor.
Q But that was six days later, I think you told me.
A It was several days later. I don't know the exact.
Q Well, was it -- did you tell me six days before? We've been talking about six days now.
A I may have.
Q Okay. But after this six days or whatever it is, you got the neck brace back, and you kept it, and you had it, and you used it for as long as needed, right?

A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. So as far as this time period when this neck brace was not on you, you had it the whole time but for these six days, these seven days, right?
A Yes, yes.
Q Okay. Now, did you also tell us -- or tell me before that for the first six days, you never received any medication of any type whatsoever while you were at the detention center?
A That's correct.
Q And for these first six days at the detention center, you never saw or had contact with any medical person at all.
A The only time I seen anybody, if a nurse walked by, you know, I would holler at them, but, you know, I got no response from them.
Q Okay. I want to make sure I understand because I think I asked you before. During the first six days, are you telling us that you were never examined by any medical person and nor did any medical person ever talk to you for those first six days?
A Like I said, I talked to no one until I talked to the doctor.

Q Okay. Well, you remember when we took your deposition, don't you? And you've read that recently, right?
A Yes, I have.
Q Okay. Do you remember -- and I'm trying to refresh your memory. Did you tell me and is it your statement to this jury, that for those first six days, no medical person examined you or talked to you about your medical condition?
A The first time I got examined is when I seen their doctor.
Q How soon was that? How many days was that, according to your knowledge, after you got booked at the detention center?
A Well, six days.
Q Pardon?
A Six days.
Q Six days. Okay.
So ma'am -- I mean sir, all right, but did you also tell me that after those first six days, that you got medication almost or pretty much every day while you were at the detention center until you got transferred to SCDC?
A I said "pretty much." But like all them requests I was writing, I mean, I wouldn't have been writing a request if I received the medicine every day, I don't believe, you know.

Q Okay. But my question is, after those first six days, did you tell me that you got medication pretty much every day for pain or various medications for pain?
A I mean, I got medicine, but it wasn't every day.
Q Is it pretty much every day, though?
A I mean, it might have been four or five days I didn't get nothing, it might have been three or four more days I didn't get nothing.
Q Okay. But would you agree with me that you told me before you got it pretty much every day, being your words?
A Like I say, it's pretty much every day, but that's not every day.
Q Okay. Pretty much every day. You might have missed ---
A Not every day. I might have missed three here, I might have missed five here, I might have missed two here.
Q Do you know which days you missed?
A How am I supposed to know? I mean, that's been -- I mean, I don't know which days I missed.
Q Right. But, again, I just want to make sure -- I don't want to argue about something we don't need to argue about. You might have missed a few days here or there, but from the time period of August the 16th until April the 10th, you did get pain medication pretty much every day, right?

A And that's to say like a lot of days that I didn't get nothing or I wouldn't have wrote the request.
Q Okay. But did you tell me you got it pretty much every day? That's what I want to know.
A I don't know if I did or not. I mean ---
Q Okay. Just when the ---
A But, I mean, I know I didn't get it every day or pretty much every day.
Q Well, and I don't mean to browbeat this, Mr. Young. I hope you can read what I'm showing you. I asked the question, "Okay. But you pretty much got medication every day, didn't you, while you were in jail?"
And then you answered and said, "Pretty much," didn't you?
A I said "pretty much" is what I said.
Q Okay. That's what I'm talking about.
And there were some days you didn't, but pretty much every day.
Now, and when you were at the detention center, did you have a personal or a primary care physician at home yourself?
A No, I didn't.
Q Okay. And if you were not in jail, you would have to go to the emergency room or you would have had to go to some kind of urgent care place or somewhere to get medical care, right?

A I wouldn't -- I would have gone out and got a doctor.

Q Okay. You would have gone -- you'd have had to go get a doctor and pay for it, right?

A Yes, I would have.

Q And by the way, in terms of money, you're not claiming any money ---

MR. HAWKINS: Objection, Your Honor. We talked about this out of the presence of the jury.

MR. HARTER: You ---

THE COURT: Hold on. Approach. Come up here real quick. Tell me the question. Just make sure we're square.

BY MR. HARTER:

Q And make sure we understand what you're claiming, Mr. Young. You're claiming damages in this case, and the only thing you're claiming as damages in this case is for your pain and suffering during these six days that you say you did not have your collar and that you did not have medication; is that right?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. All right. Good.

Now, you do appreciate, I'm sure, and recognize that the injuries that you had that you told us that were your responsibility and not the responsibility of anybody else with these multiple fractures, you would agree with me that irrespective of what the Greenwood County Detention Center did or didn't do, those are painful injuries that you had that you caused, right?

A Yeah. I caused them, but they just made it more painful by not giving me anything.

Q How much more painful then was it for those six days that you -- that you believe if you had -- you think if you had had medication for those six days, everything would have been hunky-dory and you would have had no pain at all?

A I'm not saying that, but if I would have had my collar and at least getting Tylenol or ibuprofen or something, I mean, it might been a little better.

Q A little better. Okay. A little better. All right.

Now, in terms of when you were released from the detention center -- or sorry -- from the hospital, now, you were discharged to the jail, right? I mean, you were discharged I think the record says home, but you know you were going to jail, right?

A Well, I mean, discharge papers, I said home and with a friend, and like y'all said the other day, like it might have been printed a day before. And see, I didn't get arrested till the next day that I knew I was going to jail.

Q But you knew you were going to jail, right?

A I kind of figured it, you know.

Q Okay. Now, and I think there was some reference earlier that the word "home" might have been crossed out on the discharge paperwork. Do you remember that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Now, I want to make sure we're clear, we understand. This is a discharge paperwork from the hospital, and when you were discharged, this form, one part of it says "home health," and it says "no," right?

A I can't see that.

Q Oh, I'm sorry. Okay. It says "PT home," and that's what's crossed out, isn't it? It said "PT home" is what's crossed out, right?

A It was, yes.

Q Okay. So maybe the interpretation of this would be that there's no PT at home you're supposed to get, right? But it didn't mean that you were not discharged to home, was it?

A I don't know.

Q Okay. And Mr. Young, if it says that your level of activity was not bed rest, you would agree that you were not bedbound and you could get up and move about, right?

A With the adequate like medicine, I probably could.
Q Okay. Well, the discharge paperwork I think says that it was -- that you were not confined to the bed. And you agree with that, don't you, that you weren't confined to the bed?
A When I was sitting there and had no medication whatsoever, I mean, it pretty much where I -- like I needed to stay or wanted to stay.
Q Okay. But in terms of the doctor's comments, you were not told that you had to stay in bed, were you?
A Well, I mean, I released me with medication that might have helped me ---
Q Okay.
A --- to be mobile a little.
Q You don't argue with the paperwork that the doctors did, do you?
A No. I don't argue that.
Q Okay. That's fine.
Now, you were asked about the events that took place at the bond hearing -- I'm sorry -- at the -- when you were booked. And Mr. Young, there is a note here that says -- I think it's dated August 16th. And you signed that note, didn't you?
A Yeah. I filled that out right there. Who's that name right there?

Q But you signed it.
A Other than that name right there, though, at the bottom.
Q I think that's Beverly Weaver. But does it have a place where your name is signed there?
A This extra stuff talking about medicine could have been got any time.
Q I understand what you're saying. But I just want to know if this is your signature on that piece of paper.
A Of course, it is. I mean, if they hand you something in jail and say "sign it," you're going to sign it.
Q Okay.
A That's my signature.
Q That's your signature. Okay. That's fine. Thank you.

Now, this is -- and we've talked about this multiple times. This is a medical screening form, and you heard Beverly Weaver talk here today -- or yesterday, I'm sorry, about what she remembers from being with you or seeing you in the booking area, okay? Do you remember the lady that was here yesterday that talked about seeing you in the booking area?
A Yeah. I remember her yesterday, yeah.
Q Did you remember that she said that she observed you and that she then called a nurse to come check you out?

A That's what she said.
Q Okay. And this document that's signed by her and signed by you, are you suggesting or is your lawyer suggesting that this is a fraudulent document, that this is made-up information?
A They hadn't -- no. They -- you know, told me I had -- I mean, I'm just say it myself.
Q Okay. So this is made-up information as far as you're concerned?
A I mean, all I know, I didn't see a nurse that day. I know that.
Q Okay. Well, how do you know you didn't? Do you ---
A Ain't no nurse talked to me personally.
Q Okay. No nurse talked to you at all that day?
A Personally, no.
Q Okay. Personally. Okay.
Now, so that document in your recollection is inaccurate, right?
A I believe so.
Q Okay. Now, you were also shown and we looked at another document that is a progress note. And I will just tell you, Mr. Young, this is a note that is dated August the 16th of 2011. And you heard Mrs. Bouknight, I'm sure, testify earlier, but she says that at 4:45 that day that you were booked, that she came to the booking area and observed you and talked to you, and indicated that your medications would not be narcotic medications, and that you would get some medication that day. And then Are you telling us that that never happened at all?

A Like I said, I mean, I never spoke to a nurse that day.

Q Now ---

A And never got any medication that day.

Q Well, could it have been you spoke to a nurse, then you just didn't know who it was?

A I kind of doubt it.

Q You kind of doubt it?

A Yeah.

Q Okay. But -- so to the extent Mrs. Bouknight made an entry in this record and documented what happened on the 16th at 1645 and then there was another entry by another nurse at 1800 that same day, later that day, this document is false?

A What does it say?

Q Well, this document says that Nurse Bouknight talked to you on the 16th in the afternoon.

A That's false.

Q Now, is that -- that's false?

A That's false.

Q So her chart of this is false in your view?

A Yes, it is.
Q And then the other nurse who is making entries at 1800, it mentions that she was in the booking area, and Nurse McMahan gave inmate ibuprofen, 200 milligrams, three of them, while holding his water. Now, this is the same day. Now, you're telling us and telling the jury that this is false?
A Like I told you, I received no medicine.
Q So I think you agreed with your lawyer's characterization that if this document says that happened, you're saying it's false, right?
A That's what I'm saying.
Q Okay. And here's another note that is dated the 17th, and this is Ms. Bouknight again. And it said, "Inmate accepted medication. Nurse Bouknight asked if any further needed. Inmate said 'no.' Inmate was not in a wheelchair but walked from B Unit with walker or crutch." To the -- if she put that in the chart and she created that note at 9:00 on the 17th, which was the day after you got booked, that note is false, right?
A Well, I keep saying I did not receive no medicine until I seen their doctor.
Q So if she says that, that's false?
A Like I said, it's false.
Q Sir?

A It's false.
Q Okay. And then there's another note that says, "8/18, inmate took meds in bed in cell. Nurse looked over him. No complaint of pain and discomfort. Inmate came to medical for it looks like blood pressure and wound evaluation. Has broken his cast or something finger. Will call somebody."
Now, at that point in time on 8/18, was there -- that note's false, too, right?
A Well, I mean, if she said that I was in no pain, I mean, I knew it's false.
Q Well, was she -- did you ---
A This is false.
Q Is it possible that you saw the nurse that day, though?
A No, it is not.
Q Okay. And then on the 19th, there's another note that says there was an open -- no open sores and all scabbed over. That note's false too, right?
A Yes, it is.
Q Okay. And then there's -- you were asked I think by your lawyer about a note on the 20th. "Accepting meds without difficulty."
Now, let me flip over to 8/22. And it says, "Inmate took a.m. meds without any voice complaint. Was asleep."

I guess what you're saying, that note is false, too, right?
A What I'm saying is I received no medicine until I seen the jail doctor.
Q Right. We're getting there. But you're saying that note is false, right?
A Apparently it is.
Q Okay. Now, on 8/23/2011, this looks like it's seven days after you got booked, this looks like a progress note with Dr. Massey; is that right?
A I can't see it, but ---
Q I'm just going to represent to you this is a progress note that involves Sherry Bouknight, and it involves Dr. Massey.
And now, Dr. Massey was the jail -- was the doctor that saw you at the jail; is that right?
A I believe so.
Q Okay. And I think you told the jury a little while ago that Dr. Massey mentioned or you brought to Dr. Massey's attention that you didn't have your cervical collar; is that right?
A I think I told her -- I mean, I think -- I believe she knows that I didn't have it, and, you know, she's the one that gave it back to me.
Q So she went and got your collar; is that right?

A I don't know if she went and got it or if she already had it in the office. I'm not sure.
Q You don't remember that then. You don't remember whether she left to go get your collar or what the facts were clearly, right?
A She's the one that gave it back to me. That's what I know.
Q Okay. You don't remember whether she left to go get it or not, though, right?
A No.
Q Okay. Now, do you have any complaints about Dr. Massey? It looks like Dr. Massey is checking you out. Do you have any complaints about Dr. Massey?
A Well, I mean, she's the one that give me my brace back.
Q That's what I'm asking. Any ---
A I mean, and she prescribed me some kind of medicine.
Q So we can narrow things down. You have no complaints about Dr. Massey, right?
A At the time, no.
Q How about now?
A Against her personally, no. I'm just saying the way I was done for the first six days.
Q I'm with you.
A It's the only complaint that I've got.

Q And you see Dr. Massey, obviously, on the 23rd. So after that, you've got no complaints with anybody, right?
A Yeah. I got complaints is when I needed medicine and when I wasn't getting it.
Q Okay. So as far as Dr. Massey is concerned, as far as your collar is concerned, no complaints after that, right?
A All the times that I wasn't receiving medicine and I had to fill out grievances. I know like that paper you had yesterday, it shows that I had medicine pretty much every day. But why would I write ---
Q Wait a minute.
A --- a request if I was already getting medicine?
Q Let ---
THE COURT: Let him finish.
BY MR. HARTER:
Q But as far as Dr. Massey is concerned and your collar is concerned, you've got no problem or complaint after August the 23rd, right? Except for medication. Except for medication.
A Yeah. Medication.
Q Okay. No complaint with Dr. Massey.
A Because she's the one that described ---
Q Right.
A --- you know, prescribed the medicine.

Q So you have no complaints with Dr. Massey with regard to the collar or with regard to any of the medications that she prescribed, right?
A The thing is, I mean, I didn't get my thing back till I seen her. I didn't get my collar back till I seen her.
Q We might not -- we might not be arguing -- we might be agreeing, and I'm not trying to trip you up in any way, but I just want to get a time frame here so I know what I'm dealing with.

From August the 23rd on, you know you had your collar, that's no problem, and you had medications as ordered by Dr. Massey. So with reference to the medications ordered by Dr. Massey, you have no problem with that. What you're telling us you're complaining about then is that you didn't get the medication as frequently as you believe you should have after that; is that correct?
A I ain't get them as much as I needed.
Q Okay. But after the 23rd, your complaint is about not getting them as frequently as you wanted, right?
A Yeah.
Q Okay.
A That would be one of them.
Q All right. Now, you saw -- let me -- you were asked about a sick call request that I think was identified as on September 29, 2011, okay? Now, this is the first inmate sick call request we see; is that right?

A I guess.
Q Okay.
A Before that night.
Q And I just want to ask you, before September 29th, did you ever write a grievance or any kind of sick call request to the jail or to any medical person claiming that you had not gotten your medication or that you had not -- that your collar was taken from you?
A I didn't write no request about the collar.
Q Okay. And this is the first request you wrote about medication, right?
A I don't know if it was or not.
Q Okay. Well, it's the first one that we see here.
Now, this is on September 21st of 2011, right?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. Now, at the bottom of that request is a note. And I want to ask you, do you agree that after you submitted that request, that you were started on a new medication by Nurse Bouknight?
A That's what it says.
Q Okay. Now, were you started on new medication?
A I mean, I don't know for how long I was on it. I mean -- I mean, I'm going to start you on medicine, they might put you on medicine for one day, they might put you on medicine for a week.

Q Well, but in response to that request, did they put you on a new medication?
A That's what it says, but ---
Q And do you disagree with that?
A I mean, like I say, I mean -- I mean, it could have been for one day, they might give me medicine for one day or it might have been a week, it might have been three days.
Q I understand that, Mr. Young. But I want to just know, you're telling us that you had to write that request, and I want to know, did they start you on a new medication the next day?
A I guess they did, if that's what it said.
Q You wouldn't agree with the record if it said that, would you?
A Excuse me?
Q If the record says you were started on a new medication the next day, you wouldn't disagree with that, would you?
A I mean, if that's what that one said, I mean, about the medicine.
Q Okay. Well, we'll come back to that.
Now, that sick call request was written on September the 29th, right?

A I think the 21st, wasn't it?
Q Huh?
A I think the 21st. Isn't that what it said, the 21st?
Q I apologize. Thank you. I confused myself. September the 21st, right? Okay.
Now, do you agree and understand that you were actually seen by an outside consultant, a Dr. Tankley for your hand on September the 23rd over at Greenville?
A Greenville, yeah. I remember that.
Q So the 21st, you don't disagree that they started you on a new medication, and on the 23rd, you had this medical appointment over in Greenville, right?
A I think to have my cast removed, I believe.
Q Okay. And in connection with that medical appointment, fact check me on here. It says -- it says -- so I get to the right time. It says, "Weight bearing as tolerated, may remove cock-up wrist splint. No further follow-up needed." It says, "42-year-old white male follows up now six weeks after sustaining L-4 metacarpal shaft fracture, small finger or Zone 1 and 2 sacrum or sub pubic ramus, has been weight-bearing on both lower extremities without assistive device, left hand been doing well in cock-up wrist splint. No complaints." Is that what you told the doctor then?

A Yeah. I think so.
Q Okay.
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. Now, you worked through, I think Mr. Hawkins kind of walked you through some other sick call requests. And I think we jump from September over to like December with these sick call requests. But I want to make sure. You got, you were -- they took you back again to the other doctor in Greenville on October the 31st, and he discharged you completely, too, right?
A Yes. He said I was good to take my ---
Q That's right.
A --- neck collar off.
Q The first guy was treating you for your hand and the second guy was treating you for your neck and your back.
A Neck and back and my pelvis.
Q And you had doctors, you had orthopedic doctors, you had a neurosurgeon, right?
A Yes.
Q And you got released by the neurosurgeon on the 31st, and you were released from the orthopedic surgeon on the 23rd, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, we walked through some of these inmate sick call slips. And you've looked at these before, haven't you?

A Yes, I have.
Q Okay. And would I be fair, would it be accurate if I leafed through them and I represent that every one of these sick call requests, there is some response by the medical staff to that, at least they document that we did something?
A They documented it.
Q Okay. But you say -- do you say that these sick call requests and these responses are false?
A I ain't say they false, but the only thing, they say I got medicine every day. But why would I keep filling out a request to get medicine if I was already getting medicine every day?
Q Well, maybe it was because you had some injuries that were pretty significant and people were trying to treat you with the medication you were getting, and sometimes it works, sometimes it didn't work.
A But why would I say, you know, I hadn't had nothing for three or four or five days?
Q Well, do you know why these people would write false information about you? Why Beverly Weaver would write false information? Why -- and why Nurse Bouknight and why other people that created these records would make up false information about you?

A I guess to protect ---
Q Protect themselves?
A Protect themselves.
Q Well, let's talk about that a minute. You were at the jail in 2012, okay? 2012. And you were -- you filed your lawsuit in 2013. Okay. Do you think and are you suggesting to us that after you filed your lawsuit in 2013, these people went back and created these records? Is that what you're telling us?
A I'm not assuming nothing ---
Q Okay.
A --- you know.
Q Okay. All right. Now let me ask you about these MAR's for a minute. And I'm going to have to take a second to locate them.

Mr. Young, I know you've looked at these because we had them up here yesterday probably for too long. But you looked at these medication administration records that were done and where people went by and checked off or made entries in various boxes about the medication you got. Now, there's a record that is -- that covers August, and there are medication administration records that go through September, through October, the month of October, through November, December, and a couple of days in December that were not covered by the other ones. And then the month of January, February, another couple of selected days in February, March and finally April through April 10th. Okay.

Now, I will grant it, Mr. Young, there might be some days in these records where there were time periods where you might not have gotten the medication, okay, and/or -- and there are times when your medications were changed.

Now, you've looked at these records, right?

A Yeah. I seen them.

Q You know they were furnished way, way long back, right?

A Right.

Q Okay. Now, I want you to tell the jury now, do you believe those records were made up and falsified?

A I didn't say nothing is made up. I'm just saying why would I keep writing request after request after request saying that I ain't had medicine in three, four, five days, two days, three days over and over and over for? I mean, if I was already getting it, why would I keep on doing it?

Q Well, that's -- but let me come back to my question, because your lawyers have suggested there's falsification of records here and I want to make sure. Do you claim that these medication administration records were made up or falsified?

A All the days that I wasn't getting medicine, I would say yeah, it is false.
Q But do you realize that some of these records show that there were some days that you didn't get medication?
A I mean, over and over and over I wasn't getting medicine?
Q Well, you looked at them. There were days where you didn't get some medication, but the days that are blocked off where they say you did get medication, do you think they made that up?
A I mean, they pretty much saying I got medicine almost every day.
Q Well, didn't you tell me you got medication pretty much every day?
A Pretty much, but not like I should have.
MR. HARTER: Excuse me a minute, Your Honor.
BY MR. HARTER:
Q Now, I want to just kind of make sure and wrap up here. As I understand it then, your position or claim is that there are pieces of Exhibit Number 10, which are the progress notes, that you think are truthful, and there are pieces of this progress note that you think are not truthful, right?
A I can't say that.
Q Well, I thought you told me that, based on -- or your lawyers asked you, based on the entry of August 23, 2013 -- 2011, when there's mention of a neck brace, that that record is right, but that records before that are wrong.

A that's when I received my brace back, when I seen their doctor.

Q Let me just make sure I wrap up then. But up until that point, you never wrote any kind of grievance or medical sick call request related to the collar. Agree?

A Agreed.

MR. HARTER: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, we don't have any more questions for Mr. Young.

THE COURT: No other questions? All right.

Let me take care of something real quick. Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, if you'd adjourned to the back real quick, of course, not talk about the case.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. Can I see the attorneys over here for a second?

(WHEREUPON, a bench conference was held off the record.)

THE COURT: Mr. Young, can I see your cup real quick please, the one you've been drinking from. Thank you.

Have you had anything to drink today, sir?

MR. YOUNG: No.

THE COURT: Nothing alcoholic? This is definitely sweet tea. Okay. That's sweet tea. That's why.

You didn't have anything to drink during lunch, sir?

MR. YOUNG: No, sir.

THE COURT: All right. You're under oath. I'll take you at your word, I guess. Good enough. You can step down.

Do you have an additional witness?

MR. HAWKINS: We have Michael Holtzclaw. He'll probably take ten minutes or more.

THE COURT: We'll be at ease for a few moments and then we'll deal with Mr. Holtzclaw, okay?

(WHEREUPON, a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: All right. Let's have the jury back, please.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. The jury is back and seated.

At this point, Mr. Hawkins or Mr. White, if you'll call your next witness, please.

MR. WHITE: The plaintiff calls Michael Holtzclaw, Your Honor.

WHEREUPON,

MICHAEL HOLTZCLAW

After having been duly sworn, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. WHITE:

Q Mr. Holtzclaw, could we start by getting your full name for the jury, please, sir.

A Michael Holtzclaw.

Q And should I call you Deputy Holtzclaw? Is that appropriate? You work for the sheriff's office?

A Yeah. Yes, sir.

Q Okay. And are you a deputy with the sheriff's office?

A Yes. Yes, sir.

Q Okay. Great. And you're still over at the detention center?

A Yes, sir.

Q And I'm going to be talking as we go through this about a gentleman named Tony Young. Do you remember being deposed in his case?

A No, sir. I just -- the only thing I know is the paperwork that we have.

Q Right.

A I don't remember him.

Q That's what I was going to ask you is you don't specifically remember Mr. Tony Young when he was at the detention center, right?

A Right.

Q All right. You don't specifically remember booking him or anything like that, right?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. But you have been educated as part of this case that you were the fingerprint officer who was involved with the booking, right?
A Correct.
Q So the fingerprinting is part of that booking process?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. So you would have actually been the one that got his fingers and dipped them in the black stuff and then put it on the piece of paper, right?
A Well, it's all electronic now.
Q Oh. So the electronic version of what I described then. There you go.
A That's right.
Q And as part of the booking process, I think we've kind of established that Mr. Young's neck brace would have been taken to take the mug shot and search it and all that stuff, right?
A Correct.
Q And if somebody has a broken neck, it ain't safe to keep their neck brace away from them for very long, right?
A Correct.

Q So you'd want to give it back to them immediately, right?
A Correct.
Q So do you specifically recall seeing anybody give Mr. Young his neck brace back?
A If they took the neck brace, what they do is check it for contraband and everything, get his picture and then return it back to him immediately.
Q Right. And that's what's normally done. But what I'm asking is, did you ever see anyone give Mr. Young specifically his neck brace back after it was taken at booking?
A Not a specific person.
Q And do you know of any specific person who gave Mr. Young that neck brace back after they took it at booking?
A I don't know of any specific person. If it was taken, it was given back to him.
Q All right. And that's what's supposed to be done, right?
A Correct.
Q So -- and you don't have any idea, as we sit here today, how long Mr. Young went without a neck brace after they took it from him at booking, right?
A If it was, it was just a short period of time.

Q Okay. And that's, again, based on what's normally done and what's supposed to be done, right?
A Yeah. Per policy.
Q Okay. And so you don't know, though, as we sit here today, exactly how long Mr. Young was without his neck brace after it was taken at booking, right?
A Right. Correct.
MR. WHITE: I have no further questions of Mr. Holtzclaw. I appreciate your time. And Mr. Harter will be asking some questions.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. HARTER:
Q Michael, is there -- did you ever take this man's neck brace from him in the shower?
A No, sir.
Q Huh?
A No, sir. But if I did, I would just check it for contraband and just give it right back to him.
Q Okay. And the booking process, that's something that several people are involved in; is that right? I mean, there's several officers in the booking area; is that right?
A Yes, sir. Yes, sir. Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And if an inmate comes in and they have a neck brace on, is it -- does the inmate remove it himself so that you can take the picture?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And do you ever remember a situation involving Mr. Young or anybody else where somebody took a neck brace from a gentleman or a lady in the booking area and it was not found to have any contraband or anything, but just kept it and just didn't give it back to them?
A No, sir.
Q Is there any reason why you think anybody would do that?
A No, sir. We -- we have no use to hold somebody's neck brace or anything like that.
Q Okay. If Mr. Young were to tell us that you're the one that did that, took his neck brace and you never gave it back to him, would you agree you did that or would you deny you did that?
A I would definitely deny that.
MR. HARTER: Okay. Michael, thank you. Those are all the questions we have.
THE COURT: All right, sir. Thank you. You can step down, and you're free to go.
All right. Any additional witnesses from the plaintiff?
MR. WHITE: No, Your Honor. The plaintiff rests at this time.

THE COURT: Mr. Harter, do you anticipate calling witnesses or are we still where we were?

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, I'm going to call one witness for hopefully 30 seconds.

THE COURT: All right. Can we put a bookmark here as far as motions are concerned?

MR. HARTER: We can.

THE COURT: Assume that the motions you're making, that you'll make the motions later, but we're going to bookmark it so that the record is protected.

Call your first witness.

MR. HARTER: Let me just make sure.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, I call Lonnie Smith.

THE COURT: Come on back up, Mr. Smith. You're still under oath.

WHEREUPON,

LONNIE SMITH

After having previously been duly sworn, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. HARTER:

Q Lonnie, I just wanted to revisit one little area with you, a housekeeping chore.

I don't think there's any big issue over this, but there has been some reference in the plaintiff's case in chief about a photograph being made available to an organization or paper called Jailbirds that had a picture of Mr. Young with a neck collar on him. I do not know if you -- you were in the courtroom ---

A Yes, sir.

Q --- when the testimony was read by the plaintiff's counsel. Now, I want to make sure I understand. This information right here, this -- this packet of information is the jail record on Mr. Young, right?

A Yes, sir. You are correct.

Q Okay. And the cover sheet on the top sheet has his booking photograph from this detention; is that right?

A Yes, sir, it is.

Q And there's no neck collar on. You agree with that, right?

A No neck collar on.

Q And you've heard explanation as to why that's the case, right?

A Right. Yes, sir.

Q Now, to clear the air, Jailbirds, they do -- it's a magazine or something I've seen where they do publish people's picture that have been arrested; is that right?

A That is correct. Yes, sir.

Q The information that is published or printed in Jailbirds, where does it come from?

A The photos and the charging -- the charges come from the Greenwood County Sheriff's Office from the booking list. We send out daily photos, booking photos we take of individuals booked into our facility, and we forward them on the email to different people, different papers and stuff like that.
Q And media is interested in that kind of thing.
A Right.
Q You get requests for that stuff, right?
A Right. We have an FOI request.
Q Now, I want to make sure I understand. The booking photo that would be sent to Jailbirds with reference to Mr. Young's detention at the detention center that day, would it have been his booking photo that I'm looking at now?
A It would have been that photo right there with no collar on.
Q Okay. Just to make sure, there's not another -- there's only one booking photo that's taken, right?
A We only take one photo. Well, let me back up. We take two photos: one straight on, one side profile.
Q Okay. But those photos ---
A Are taken at the same time.
Q --- are taken at the same time. There's not another one that is taken at a different time?

A Not by the Greenwood Detention Center.
Q Would there be any possible way that there could be a photograph of Mr. Young with a neck brace on during this period of detention that appeared in Jailbirds magazine?
A Not that would have come from the Greenwood Sheriff's Office or detention center.
MR. HARTER: Okay. Thank you.
THE COURT: Nothing?
MR. WHITE: Briefly, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Go ahead.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. WHITE:
Q Mr. Smith, you were just asked questions from -- regarding Mr. Young's file at the detention center, and I also wanted to ---
A Okay. Go ahead.
Q No. You're fine. I just want to briefly ask you something about one of the pages in the file from the detention center. Do you recognize that as one of the pages that was in what Mr. Harter was just talking about?
A (Reviews document) Will you ask me -- will you ask that again? I'm trying to -- I see this is from Sheriff Loftis in Greenville County, and I'm trying to see, you know, what it does with the Greenwood Sheriff's Office.

Well, this says Anthony Young, black male, not white male.
Q Yeah.
A So I don't know that it's referring to the same individual.
Q Right. So if that was included in the detention center file that Mr. Rusty -- I, mean, sorry -- Mr. Harter was just talking about, that would be a piece of paper that applied to somebody other than Mr. Young here who is ostensibly not the person that is referenced in that document, right?
A What I'm reading on here, sir, it says "Anthony Young, black male," so I would assume it does not apply to Mr. Tony Young.

MR. WHITE: Okay. Thank you, sir. I have no further questions, and please answer additional questions Mr. Harter has.

THE COURT: All right. Step down.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

THE COURT: No additional witnesses from the defense?

MR. HARTER: No, sir.

THE COURT: And no reply, of course.

MR. HARTER: That's the defense, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Very good. All right. Ladies and gentlemen, here's kind of where we are. You've received all the testimony that you're going to hear in this case and it had been my sincerest hope to be able to get this case to you today, honestly. And, again, here's where we stand. The law requires that I have what's known as a charge conference where I discuss with the attorneys various provisions of law that they've requested. That's kind of what I've been working on up here on my computer with my law clerk, and she's in the back printing off the instructions that I've worked up thus far. But I have not had that conversation with the attorneys on the record about the charges that I've pretty much decided I'm not going to instruct on and what I am going to instruct on. So the law makes me have that conference. I'm going to have that conference. If we were to move forward tonight, you probably wouldn't get this case till 6:00 or so.

So what I'm going to do is go ahead and let us break for the evening because some of y'all may have obligations what with it being a Wednesday night, maybe church or something like that. So we'll go ahead and break for the evening and we'll resume tomorrow morning, hit the ground running in earnest at 9:30, okay? So we'll begin at 9:30 tomorrow morning, and with any luck -- can we do 9:00? I actually don't have anything going on tomorrow morning for a change. I don't have any doctors. We'll do 9:00 then, okay? So I'll see y'all tomorrow morning at 9:00. We'll hit the ground running at that point in time, and hopefully this case will be to you by sometime around 11:00, 11:15, 11:30, okay?

Do have a pleasant evening, ladies and gentlemen. We'll be here. We'll still be working for a few -- at least probably another 30 minutes to an hour. Have a great night. Don't talk about the case. You'll have it tomorrow morning. Thank you for your patience and your continued attention, sincerely.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. The jury is out.

Mr. Harter, I do assume that you move for a directed verdict on this case; is that correct?

MR. HARTER: I do, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Anything you want to argue about that?

MR. HARTER: Well, I, you know ---

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, I'm sorry to interrupt.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HAWKINS: Could I just -- can we just reiterate on the record that when we bookmarked, and we did intend to move for a directed verdict at the end of our case, if that's ---

THE COURT: Oh, yes, yes. It applies equally to you. Chances are, and I realize and appreciate you're probably going to be moving for a DV on liability causation, maybe.

I don't know. I think there's a jury issue both ways, though, to tell you the truth.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge.

THE COURT: Gross negligence is typically a matter for the jury as opposed to the Court.

JURY CHARGE CONFERENCE

THE COURT: My clerk will go ahead -- here's what we've got so far. She's going to go ahead and hand that out to you all. The instructions -- and there were some that, after hearing the evidence, I really just don't think that I need to charge are adequately covered in the stock instructions that I'm handing out to you guys. The two I'm -- the two that are not in there so far are plaintiff's request to charge as it relates to Request to Charge Number 3, violation of internal policies or procedures, and Plaintiff's 14, nondelegable duty, and the insurance charge, Plaintiff's Number 15 is not in there either.

Having heard the testimony, I'm kind of leaning, at this point in time -- and what I'll do is give y'all a chance to -- I'll give a break to you guys so you can look at that without having to hear me drone on. But at this point in time, I'm kind of leaning towards including Plaintiff's Request to Charge Number 3, which the way it's written here, it says that violation of an internal policy or procedure by the defendant is evidence of recklessness, willfulness and wantonness.

The most recent case dealing with this was that Kmart case out of Newberry which they did cite, which the plaintiff did cite. But I think that this proposition of law was relevant to the punitive damages question in that case, and it was also relevant to the negligence cause of action. So my intention, because gross negligence is pretty much synonymous with willful, wanton or reckless conduct, to simply change the "willful, wanton and reckless" to "negligence or gross negligence," because in those instructions, I did include a comparative fault analysis. And so these instructions could potentially cut both ways, violation of an internal policy or violation of a statutory provision.

Nondelegable duty I wasn't going to charge, but then it occurred to me that the plaintiff did, in fact, testify that the medicine, he didn't receive that as frequently as he should have. Numerous days were missed. Even though the sheriff's department is contracted with a private medical provider to pass out that medication, liability would still attach to the sheriff's department if the jury were to conclude and were to believe the plaintiff's testimony that he didn't get the medicine. So I'm inclined to instruct that.

And I'm kind of staying away from the insurance thing on this case because, unlike automobile liability cases where everybody has insurance, and that's a question I get about half the time that I try a wreck case, you know, we're not really getting into that. And, of course, we've got the Insurance Reserve Fund. I don't think it's really necessary to address the question of insurance.

But I'll let you all look at those, and let me know if there's anything that you feel strongly about, and I'll give you about ten minutes to leaf through that. I'm not going to hold you to it, but I want to have a discussion tonight. And if there's anything glaring you want to see changed, you can always email me overnight and I can consider then, okay? So we'll be at ease for a few minutes. Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: All right. Gentlemen, what are your thoughts as far as the instructions? Anything that's jumping out at you that you need me to change or would like for me to change?

MR. WHITE: We may need to make a record on the comparative. I realize that you're going to give that charge. We may need to make a record on that.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. WHITE: And nondelegable, we agree with you, obviously, that that instruction should be given. And we agree with you on the violation of policies instruction with the tweak that you suggested, Your Honor.

And the other thing that we, I guess, feel strongly about on broad strokes would be including the instruction on the number of occurrences, which I believe the one we submitted was the one used in the Baby Girl Smith case, the DSS case up in Spartanburg that Judge Hayes charged the jury on. And then also, just we would ask that the question of number of occurrences be included on the jury verdict form based on that same precedent, and the wording of the Tort Claims Act.

THE COURT: And the wording of the Tort Claims Act?

MR. WHITE: Yeah. Just the -- well, the cap, the $300,000 per occurrence.

THE COURT: I don't think I can get into that.

MR. WHITE: No, no. I'm just saying like that's -- if we're including it on the verdict form and the instruction. I believe the instruction that we submitted is what Judge Hayes charged based on Boyter and Chastain, that I think it defined an occurrence as, yeah, separate act of negligence from which -- I think the Court has it in front of him. I apologize. I don't have it committed to memory.

THE COURT: All right. The plaintiff has alleged multiple occurrences of gross negligence. An occurrence is defined as an unfolding sequence of events which proximately flow from a single act of negligence. Plaintiff has the burden of proving that each act of gross negligence was separate and independent in order for you to find that more than one occurrence occurred.

Mr. Harter, do you have a position on that?

MR. HARTER: We've never done that in a Tort Claims Act case that I know of, Judge. But occurrence is defined as an unfolding sequence of events which proximately flow from a single lack of negligence. I don't see that as being applicable here. They allege we didn't give him -- we took his collar for six days, and he just -- it's kind of like a med-mal case. He's claiming that he didn't get the medications that are on the MAR. You know, I don't see where we get into occurrence on this case.

MR. WHITE: And Judge, specifically on where we get into the multiple occurrences, my thought would be that, you know, obviously, the testimony was that they took the neck brace for the six days, and then we kind of went into length with Mr. Young about how there were multiple occurrences after that where he had to essentially beg for medication because he wasn't getting it, and I think each one of those would potentially constitute a separate occurrence, among other things. Those are just the things that come to me off the top of my head from the last few hours of questions.

THE COURT: Isn't that going to unnecessarily complicate this case to suggest that he deserves a recovery for each and every separate incident where he did not receive medication? My feeling was that the plaintiff's theory was a more generalized one, that the care he received, both the taking of the neck brace for six days, you know, light most favorable to the plaintiff, took the neck brace for six days and then periodically did not receive medication.

MR. WHITE: And it's the "periodically did not receive" that I wanted to direct the Court's attention to, because I think you hit the nail on the head right there, Judge. Periodically and necessarily, you know, suggest multiple times things happening.

THE COURT: His general complaint, though, is -- if you look at it in its totality, and what I think the Tort Claims Act is getting at when you're dealing with an occurrence is you can have multiple occurrences of gross negligence. Just to make a glaring example here, you know, if -- all right. They took his neck brace, and then for whatever reason, two weeks later, the floor was slippery and it shouldn't have been and your client slipped and fell, that would be a separate occurrence and a separate cause of action, and then a few weeks after that, he was sitting in his bed in the jail and the light that was above him fell down and hit him in the face. That's what the Tort Claims Act is really getting at when it describes an occurrence as opposed to separate and distinct.

I mean, if you were complaining about any one nonadministration of pain medication or ibuprofen, I would have granted his directed verdict. I understand that the plaintiff testified that it was a repeated kind of a thing, but the repetition lends itself more to your general theme that it's this failure to care for him and failure to appreciate and empathize with his need for pain medication that forms the basis of the whole of the suit as opposed to each separate dispense, and failure to dispense being a separate occurrence. If that were the case, I would have to require the jury to make a finding that on each and every -- on Date X, Date Y, Date Z, Date A, B, C, D, et cetera, he didn't receive medication, and they would have to apportion a specific amount of money to compensate the plaintiff for his pain and suffering. The problem is, is that the plaintiff's evidence or the plaintiff's testimony didn't lend itself to that kind of parsing of independent acts of negligence. It was more of a generalized I can't really remember which day it was, but I know several days I didn't get medicine and they falsified the records. I'm not going to do occurrence for that reason.

MR. WHITE: And I understand the Court's ruling. I just needed to preserve it.

THE COURT: Sure.

Mr. Harter, the violation of internal policies, nondelegable duty, your take on that?

MR. HARTER: Is that -- have we got the one that you tweaked on that, Judge? I was looking at what I've got. What I've got is very general.

THE COURT: The one I inked up, basically, on violation of internal policies or procedures, it just eliminates "recklessness, willfulness and wantonness" and then puts in there "negligence or gross negligence." They could be -- a violation of internal policy could be evidence of negligence, it could be evidence of gross negligence, similar to violation of a statute giving rise to an inference that punitive damages, you know, in a wreck case.

MR. HARTER: The only thing I would say about that is, you know, we don't agree, certainly, that there was any ---

THE COURT: Clearly.

MR. HARTER: And you know this policy thing, we talked about it for two days and there was a chip. But I'm probably stuck with that.

THE COURT: You probably are.

MR. HARTER: Probably with what -- what I'd like, but your wording, that probably would be okay.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARTER: Maybe I can look at that.

THE COURT: Yeah. I'll burn a copy of this for you guys in a minute.

MR. HARTER: Okay. Thank you.

THE COURT: Nondelegable duty as it relates to the nurse's failure to -- assuming the jury believes everything that the plaintiff said, there was a nondelegable duty, and if a nurse didn't give medication, sheriff's office is on the hook for it, is the way I see it.

MR. HARTER: And you're right. But I do want to clarify, Judge, and I think this is clear in the record, that this is -- we're not under a duty to provide any narcotic medication, okay? And I think we need to clear that up because, you know, there's no testimony that we can, there's no testimony that we should. SCDC doesn't, other jails, as you know, don't. We can argue about the collar, we can argue about the frequency of ibuprofen or other substitute medication.

THE COURT: Let's handle it this way. I'm assuming that the plaintiff is not going to argue as part of their case that the failure to dispense the Lortab in violation of jail policies somehow constitutes gross negligence. You're not going to make that argument, because clearly they couldn't -- the doctor can prescribe a prisoner a .357 Magnum. It doesn't mean that jail's got to give it to him. So that's where we are on that. If they're not going to argue it, I don't see any need to really touch on it in the charge.

MR. HARTER: Okay.

THE COURT: And I think that's getting close to instruction on the fact anyway ---

MR. HARTER: Right.

THE COURT: --- facts anyway.

I need to add a brief blurb about proximate cause. That's one thing that I didn't put in there. But I don't know that it's going to be as lengthy as the general proximate cause instruction. It's probably going to be to the extent of something along the lines of any gross negligence on behalf of the defendant must reasonably and proximately result in the damages complained of by the plaintiff, namely the pain that he states he incurred or something to that effect. That's probably going to be how I'm going to define it.

Anything else? Any other thoughts, Mr. Harter? Or did y'all have any other issues?

MR. WHITE: I just needed 15 seconds to make a record on comparative, if you don't mind.

THE COURT: Sure. Go ahead, please.

MR. WHITE: Judge, the way we see it, the proof has come out at trial, doesn't really constitute any evidence of comparative negligence because, you know, it could be misleading to the jury to think that maybe Mr. Young's wreck somehow plays into comparative negligence when it comes to whether or not he got his neck collar taken away and whether or not that caused him increased pain within the detention center. And we just think that if we charge the jury on comparative negligence, we'd be charging on something that there weren't facts in the record to support it and it may be misleading to the jury. And the same thing with including it on the verdict form, that it's something that, you know, as some of the other things we talked about, doesn't really mesh with the facts of the case and may have been misleading and complicate things for the jury.

THE COURT: Mr. Harter, you want to go ahead and put on the record the basis for the request on comparative?

MR. HARTER: Sure. Well, the comparative default charge relates to -- of course, proximate cause relates to this motor vehicle accident, his damages. To the extent he is claiming that this ongoing pain is somehow our fault, we contend that it is his fault, okay? And even further with that, Judge, I mean, with regard to while he was at the detention center, he has the prerogative to submit grievances and medical request forms, and to the extent if this collar was taken from him, we don't have any indication that he took any reasonable measures to try to get it returned. A reasonable inmate would write a request, write a sick call request, so we think the comparative fault is in the case.

THE COURT: Okay. The biggest problem is that the stock comparative negligence charge presupposes that we're dealing with equal levels of negligence. One problem is that we've got to deal with gross negligence in this context. We're asking the jury to compare gross negligences to -- as against the plaintiff's contributory simple negligence, and the stock charge, some of it just doesn't really lend itself to that kind of comparison. For example, the second one, the magnitude of the risk created by each party's conduct including the number of persons endangered and the possible severity of the injury, significant of the goal of each party trying to reach and the need to achieve that goal, Number 5, existence of an emergency, if the true basis for the -- I think it's fair for Mr. Harter to argue that his own conduct caused pain, that the underlying but for causation of the defendant's pain was his intoxication, that's clearly got to be fair game in a case like this. It's not a situation where the guy was simply arrested for burglary and then get diagnosed with something in the detention center that wasn't treated like it should have been, okay?

So we've got the actual crime being the impetus for the damages or the cause of the damages that the plaintiff is complaining about in the jail. So we're really only talking about aggravation of those damages through acts or omission by the defendant.

So what I'm probably going to do and what you can probably count on me doing is eliminating some of those inapplicable considerations under the comparative negligence theory, because what I'm hearing from Mr. Harter, and I think it's correct -- a correct statement of how the jury would need to analyze this, if the plaintiff was negligent or didn't voice his concerns as vehemently as he otherwise should have, then he really shouldn't be complaining about the pain, and that's a jury issue entirely. Y'all are saying he did complain, they're saying he didn't. So I think that's a jury issue. So I'm going to tweak that a little bit.

I may very well also add in an instruction just so that the jury is kind of -- in most negligence cases, when it comes to the question of duty, that's a question for the Court. I might just put in there a statement along the lines of that any detention center has an affirmative duty to provide reasonable and necessary medical care to any inmate in their custody. The Court has found that this duty does exist in this circumstance and the question is whether the defendant breached it in a grossly negligent manner, words to that effect. So I may throw that in there, too, because we're dealing with duty breach, proximate cause damages. I've got to address that somehow. So ---

MR. HARTER: If you don't mind, Judge, can I kind of comment on that ---

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. HARTER: --- maybe make a little -- I think -- I think there's -- the responsibility of the jail I think is to provide access to medical care, and, of course, whether or not there's a breach of that duty depends on whether or not we were grossly negligent.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARTER: That's the -- you know, that's the -- I think "access" is the word and I think that the key is ---

THE COURT: I'll add "provide reasonable and necessary access to medical care and -- medical care, reasonable and necessary access to medical care for an inmate."

MR. HARTER: But our duty is to provide care to an inmate that is not -- and this is where grossly -- you know, when you say "reasonable," this -- I just want to make -- you know what I'm saying.

THE COURT: I know what you're saying.

MR. HARTER: I'm not saying it right. You've got it, you know. But I just want to make sure they understand we have to provide access to care, but liability does not light down on us unless there is ---

THE COURT: Gross failure.

MR. HARTER: --- that amounts to gross negligence.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARTER: That's it. So --

THE COURT: Technically, under the law -- yeah. I suppose under the law you're allowed to provide negligent medical -- negligent access to medical care as long as it's not grossly negligent.

MR. HARTER: Right. That's -- that's right. But liability doesn't attach till I get to that other ---

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARTER: I didn't decide that. You know that.

THE COURT: I know that. Okay.

MR. WHITE: Just so the record's clear ---

THE COURT: Yes, sir.

MR. WHITE: --- when you're saying by the giving of a comparative negligence charge at all or including it on the verdict form?

THE COURT: I realize that you object to it in its entirety, but you did raise -- by bringing that to my attention, you did at least make me focus on the fact that some of that just doesn't apply in this case, and there's no point in instructing the jury on law that doesn't apply.

I'll tidy these up and then email them again to you this evening so you can check them tonight. Please feel free to reply back to me this evening if you see anything glaring that you really, really, really want to change, too, so that -- and this is something else I wanted to raise with you. Some of the judges -- I know that Judge Griffith has started doing this and a few others have, too, but some of the judges have started instructing the jury on the law and then letting lawyers argue so that the lawyers could say you just heard the judge say X, okay? Y'all want me to do that in this case, or do you have a preference? Or -- gentlemen?

MR. WHITE: We would like that to be the order, Judge, if it suits the Court.

MR. HARTER: I would -- I'll tell you something. I would -- I don't mean -- I would rather you have the last say, okay?

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARTER: Because if we mess it up, I want it to be right from you, okay?

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARTER: So I would prefer that we do it the ---

THE COURT: Traditional.

MR. HARTER: --- old way. We picked the jury the old way, Judge. I have the -- first of all, I suggest we stay with the old program, okay?

THE COURT: Out of deference to your seniority, Mr. Harter, we shall do it the old way.

MR. HARTER: And can I mention one more thing, Judge?

THE COURT: Yes, sir. Go ahead.

MR. HARTER: There are exceptions under the Tort Claims Act. We've heard a lot of garbledy stuff about policies, but under 15-78-60, we requested a series of exceptions there to be charged.

THE COURT: Right. You did. You requested 4, 5, 20, and 25.

MR. HARTER: Right.

THE COURT: 25, I think, pretty much is my entire instruction, because it relates to gross negligence as it relates to an inmate.

MR. HARTER: Right. Okay.

THE COURT: So 25 is pretty much my whole instruction.

MR. HARTER: Okay.

THE COURT: 20 involving third-party acts, third-party criminal acts doesn't really apply.

MR. HARTER: All right.

THE COURT: 5 is related to exercise of discretion by government entity or employee. I don't know that -- that's more of a -- kind of a permitting sort of analysis as opposed to if a county employee has the authority to issue a permit or deny a permit and it's completely discretionary, then you can't sue them over that.

And I really couldn't figure out where 4 was coming from, adoption or enforcement of any law or ordinance. So that one kind of threw me.

MR. HARTER: 4, the way I figure 4 plays in is it says we're not liable for a loss resulting from the adoption or compliance with or failure to adopt or comply with any written policies. And we have spent a couple of days on written policies here. And I have a sneaky suspicion that these people are going to argue that we didn't comply with the policy, but the Tort Claims Act clearly says that we're not liable for failure to comply or adopt a policy unless we commit acts of gross negligent.

THE COURT: I thought it was adopt a law or ordinance. It's one of those that -- it's not a policy, but under the Tort Claims Act, and correct me if I'm wrong, but my memory was that it was -- applied ---

MR. HARTER: I'm looking -- I'm going to read 4 to you. "Adoption enforcement or compliance with any law or failure to adopt or enforce any law, whether valid or invalid, including but not limited to any charter, provision or resolution, regulation or written policies."

THE COURT: I always read that exception as applying to you can't sue the county counsel for failure to increase the -- maybe the shoulder on a road, and as a result, you run off the road and you injure yourself, that it was aimed at providing immunity to legislative bodies that exercise discretion, weigh the pros and cons themselves and then decide whether to adopt a law or ordinance as opposed to a policy.

The policy we're talking about here, if I were to charge that, that's going to conflict with my instruction on, you know, the policy could be evidence of negligence or gross negligence.

MR. HARTER: That's why I don't like that one.

THE COURT: I know you don't.

MR. HARTER: But, you know -- but I think -- I mean, this -- and it may be that there's a little bit of ambiguity with that, but I think this is -- I mean, I think this is applicable. I don't see why it isn't. And, you know, I know ---

THE COURT: If that's applicable, then that -- if that were applicable in this situation, then Paragraph 25 would have no meaning.

MR. HARTER: Well, that's why you're not going to charge Paragraph 25.

THE COURT: 25 is the entire charge.

MR. HARTER: You've got -- you've got that wrapped in, you know. So, you know, but I do think ---

THE COURT: Appreciate your position.

MR. HARTER: Okay.

THE COURT: Thank you.

All right. I'll give this to y'all sometime later on this evening. We'll do it the old-fashioned way. I'll speak last. Plaintiff opens, then Mr. Harter can go and y'all can reply, all right?

MR. WHITE: Thank you, Your Honor. We'll see you in the morning.

MR. HARTER: Thank you, Judge.

THE COURT: Who's going to close tomorrow, you or ---

MR. HAWKINS: Yes, Your Honor. I was closing.

But just so it's clear on the record, our directed verdict motions and our rest and at the close of his ---

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HAWKINS: Okay. Just want to make sure.

THE COURT: If there's a jury issue all around, all directed verdicts motions are made, and the record is protected. And gross negligence is a jury issue.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge.

MR. WHITE: Thank you, Your Honor.

(WHEREUPON, proceedings were adjourned, to be reconvened on Thursday, September 27, 2018.)

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 2019

THE COURT: All right. Let's go back on the record, if we can.

I've already mentioned to the attorneys we've lost one of our jurors. Mr. Leven had to be hospitalized last night, so we'll be going with 11 without objection from anybody. But I did speak to his wife, and apparently he's feeling better and doing better.

So we will bring the jury out. My clerk has already talked to the attorneys about the instructions that I emailed to everybody last evening. We did correct the typo that the plaintiff brought to our attention. And otherwise, there are no problems with the instructions or the verdict form with the exception of the fact I just noticed the verdict form needs to say "verdict form." And that's the only thing I haven't done, but I can fix that.

Are we ready to go?

MR. HAWKINS: Yes, Your Honor.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, yeah. Ms. Davis is having a little morning sickness ---

THE COURT: Oh, my. Okay.

MR. HARTER: --- which the child, that I'm sure regardless of its sex, is going to be named Rusty.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARTER: So she may, if it's okay, head out and use that ---

THE COURT: That's perfect.

Let's go off the record a second.

(Off the record.)

THE COURT: Let's have the jury, please.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, welcome back. You'll notice that we are one juror short this morning. Mr. Leven, unfortunately, last evening, I spoke to his wife this morning, it's not serious, but he had to be taken to the hospital. He was having some chest issues, and she tells me this has occurred before but he should be perfectly fine. But we're going to be moving forward with 11 jurors this morning since Mr. Leven is not feeling well and simply cannot be here, okay?

Ladies and gentlemen, we've reached that portion of the trial where you've received all of the evidence that you're going to have in order to judge this case, and now the attorneys will give you their closing argument. The way that we proceed is that the plaintiff goes first, Mr. Hawkins will go first, and Mr. Harter will go second, and then Mr. Hawkins will have an opportunity to reply to anything that Mr. Harter said during his closing argument.

I'll remind you, of course, that what the attorneys say during their closings is not evidence. It's merely their contention as to what has been proven or hadn't been proven. Certainly, you should pay attention to their closing arguments, but if, at any time, they say anything about the evidence and it differs from what you recall the testimony being, you should go with your recollection because, of course, you are the judges of the facts, you are the judges of the testimony, so anything that you remember that differs from what they say about the facts, go with your recollection of the facts, of course.

With that, Mr. Hawkins, you're recognized for your closing, sir.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor. May it please the Court.

THE COURT: Yes, sir.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS

MR. HAWKINS: I saw some of y'all this morning and I hope y'all don't think I was being rude, but I have to wait until now so I can talk to you. Now that I have a chance to talk to you about what you've seen in the case, I'm going to talk to you about the rule violations that Kyle described when he opened and that you heard about, the presentation of testimony from the witness stand and from us showing you documents through witnesses.

The reason this case is important to the people of Greenwood County is because the people of Greenwood County decide what they will tolerate from the government. The government is not allowed to break the rules like anybody else is not allowed to break the rules. Tony's not allowed to break the rules. That's why he went to jail. He took responsibility for what he did. There's no excuse for what he did. He broke the law. He went to jail.

The law also requires that the government not be grossly negligent. We have a whole statute about it. The Constitution requires that when somebody's detained, you can't be cruel or inflict unusual punishment on them. The Constitution, that's the most supreme law in our land.

When Tony broke the law, the government was happy to send him to jail. When the government broke the law, they're telling you, each 11 of you, that you're going to give them a pass. And here's the reason you can't give them a pass. If you give them a pass in one area, if you give the sheriff's office a pass, and one thing that it does, it makes the entire county more dangerous.

Deputies have to follow the rules when they pull people over. They can't stop them based on race or based on the fact that they think they might have something in the car. They've got to have probable cause. They've got to follow the rules. And if you give the sheriff's office a pass in this area, it will break the rules in other areas. That's why this case is important.

When that 23-year-old male deputy pulls over a 19-year-old Lander student, you don't want him trying to get her phone number at night on one of these country roads. You don't want him trying to get a date. You want him to follow the rules. When that DSS person is taking that child into custody and the deputies assist them, you want them following the rules. When a deputy is executing a search warrant or an arrest warrant, you want them to arrest the right person and search the right place.

The deputies don't get to do whatever they want because they have a badge. In fact, quite the opposite. They're supposed to follow the rules, whether it's one of the least among us. That's what they've implicitly told you about my client the whole time, he's one of the least among us. He made a bad decision so he doesn't deserve what everybody else gets as citizens. But he is a citizen of Greenwood County and he deserves the same right and laws of protection as anybody else.

What did you see in evidence? You saw that Mr. Smith testified. He wasn't involved in booking, but he remembers how bad Tony's injuries were. Ms. Middleton wasn't involved in booking, but she remembers how bad Tony's injuries were. The guy that took his neck brace from him said he doesn't remember him at all. It's documented. He took his fingerprints, and he said, "I don't remember Tony Young. We definitely would have given it back."

Everybody says we definitely should have given it back, and that's a violation of policy, too. Okay. Well, where's the witness that saw him get it back? It's the government. They had seven years to come up with a person that saw him get that neck brace back or to bring a person that'll say, yeah, I went to his cell and he had it, or to say here's a document that says we gave it back to him. And the only documents they can show you are documents with the neck brace painfully obviously absent for six days. His spinal cord could have been severed, and that could have been any member of the community that ended up at the detention center. This is serious.

Rule violations are especially serious when the government breaks the rules because it puts the community in danger. And they have an easy out because my client made a bad decision. It's easy to point to somebody that made a bad decision. That's an easy way to avoid responsibility for what you did, and what you did is you violated the policy when he came in, you violated the screening policy, then you violated the policy that requires you to give him his necessary medical equipment, and then you violated the policy that requires you to give him some kind of pain medication.

Mr. Smith said if it ain't documented, it didn't happen. Him getting that neck brace back ain't documented.

And then they said, well, we only note noteworthy things, so the reason that it's not documented means it had it on -- he had it on. That doesn't make any sense. They want an excuse. Tony didn't make excuses. He lost four years and some change of his life because of it. He deserved to. He broke the law.

The government doesn't get a pass because they're the government. They should be held to a higher standard. They're in -- they're in charge of people's safety. And if you let them break the rules, this is going to be a reoccurring thing. The only thing that exacts change with a governmental entity like the sheriff's office is a jury of the community holding them responsible and telling them in no uncertain terms what it will tolerate and what it won't.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, that's improper argument. You addressed that before.

MR. HAWKINS: In fact, Your Honor, I think you said I could make that argument to the jury.

THE COURT: You can make the argument to the jury, but, again, we're focused only on the question of the neck brace and only on the question of medication.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: The rest is collateral.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor.

Let's talk about the neck brace that this member of the community was deprived of. What evidence is there that he was not deprived of a neck brace that was stabilizing his spine? What evidence do we have that he got that in jail, at the detention center right over here? Well, he's told us how long he was deprived of it. He didn't make up some crazy story. He said it was this period of time. For this period of time, I didn't have it. Then when we get the records years later, it shows that period of time. He has the neck brace on when he comes in because the doctor says you've got to have it, then it's gone for six days, and then they write down the neck brace again. So we know that.

We know what he's told us. We know what his daughter's told us. I'm sure she would be here, but her husband has been in the hospital so she's dealing with that. But everybody saw Samantha Porter up here, and everybody could tell what kind of person she is. She doesn't have a dog in the fight. She just told you what she knows.

And what she knows is that when she went to the bond hearing on the 17th, after they booked him in, there was no neck brace. Not only did they deprive him at least from the period of time when he came in till the next day, they kept depriving him after she was so upset she went and got somebody else that they didn't give him the neck brace for those several hours. That means they had a chance to fix the problem, they had a chance to fix the rule violation, they had a chance to fix the danger to the member of the community that was in their custody, and they didn't take it. And they didn't take it for six days or however long they kept his collar gone. They didn't care. They didn't even exercise slight care. The judge is going to instruct you in a little bit if they don't even exercise slight care, that's gross negligence. That's what we're talking about. That's why it's important for the community to tell the government what the community will tolerate from the government.

You hold a raw and an awesome power as jurors. It's the most powerful group of people anybody could ever be a member of, and that's why most people in the world don't have juries. We're special in the United States in that the Seventh Amendment affords each and every one of you the right to hold a wrongdoer responsible, even if it's the government. Other countries don't want people to have that power. That's why we became a country in the first place. That's why we left England. The government was too oppressive. We came here, and we formed a country and we formed a constitution with the Seventh Amendment. It was so important, it was one of the first ten amendments when the Constitution was first drafted. You have a right to a trial by jury, members -- other people in the community.

This member of the community is to tell other members of the community what the government is doing to the community. And you hold that power in your hands and you hold the fate of the future of Greenwood County in your hands. And that's not grandiose or anything. That's real. What you do is directly going to impact what the sheriff's office is allowed to do in the future in all these different areas.

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, again, that's improper argument. We've addressed that.

THE COURT: Sustained. Sustained.

MR. HAWKINS: And we'll talk about -- let's talk about the verdict form. You're going to get a verdict form. You're going to have a chance to hold the government responsible with this verdict form, and you're going to have to go through these questions.

The first question is: Was the defendant, the government, sheriff's office, were they grossly negligent? If you mark "no" to that question, the government is off the hook for everything, for the screening violations, for the medication violations, for the neck brace violation, for the family calling and ignoring the family's concerns. For all those violations. The governments off the hook for everything. So we're going to ask you to mark "yes," they were grossly negligent. You all don't have to agree if they were grossly negligent in everything they did because we showed you a bunch of times that they were. You've just got to agree that they were grossly negligent once.

As soon as he comes in, they violate the bare minimum standards. They don't call the doctor. Remember, if they called the doctor, he could have dealt with a neck brace. And as soon as he saw a doctor, the doctor said, "Give this man his neck brace back. He's going to break his neck."

As soon as he comes in, they violate the screening policy. They don't have a physician inspect him, there's not even a physician in the building, and they don't even pick up the phone to call the doctor. A guy with a broken neck, now. That's not even slight care.

You go to the second question: Was the defendant's gross negligence the proximate cause of the plaintiff's injuries? And we are going to ask you to mark "yes" to that question, and I'm going to tell you why we're going to ask you to mark "yes" to that question.

The defense is going to get up here in a minute, and they're going to have a chance to talk to you. And they're going to say, "We didn't do anything to cause him pain. His wreck caused the pain." That's another excuse. They've been making excuses the whole trial. Oh, that's medical. Oh, those records were implemented at this time. Yeah, we're still under them, but we got in this other -- the judge is going to instruct you they can't delegate out that duty. You can't hire somebody that does something halfway and then say, hey, we hired medical. That's on them. Sorry. No.

They have the -- the sheriff's office has the responsibility to each and every person in this community, including every person on the jury and including my client, even if he's one of the least among us, even if he made a bad decision. It's impossible -- it's impossible for anybody but the government to have caused that increased pain. And that's all -- we're not claiming any injuries related to the wreck. We're saying the guy that's already in agonizing pain, why would you further torture him by just causing him more unnecessary pain? And that more unnecessary pain is what's important because they disregarded him, they acted like he wasn't a person, and then they let him lay there without a neck brace and without medication, and that's not right.

But it doesn't matter what I think. It matters what each 11 of you think. And if you don't think that their gross negligence, them stripping him of the collar then refusing to give it back to him, they did all that stuff, if they're responsible for that, if their actions proximately caused that increased pain, then the answer is yes.

Then you're going to go to the next few questions which had to do with comparative negligence. And it's important -- these questions are important because, again, the defense is going to say, well, you know, he caused the wreck. It's not our fault. Yeah. He told you on the stand he caused the wreck. He said it was his fault. But when he went to jail, he just asked that he have his necessary medical equipment.

What if that neck brace -- think about it like this. What if that neck brace would have been insulin? What if that would have been something that keeps him from going into a coma? Is that going to happen to the next person?

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, again, we -- this is improper.

THE COURT: Sustained. Well, correction. He's allowed to argue. This is argument. It's not evidence, so I'm allowing -- I'll allow this argument only as it relates to the question of actual damages, because that's all we're dealing with.

MR. HARTER: Thank you.

THE COURT: So go ahead.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge.

So when we get to the part about was the plaintiff negligent, we're going to ask you to mark "no" because it was impossible for him to be negligent in the detention center. He was in their custody and control. You heard him say when they tell you to sign something in jail, you sign it. When they tell you something in jail, you do it. When they told him they're taking his neck brace, there's no reason for him to make a complaint. The guy with the badge has told him, hey, I'm taking this, and it's contraband.

In fact, I'll stop for a minute and tell y'all this. Tony Young didn't even know he could do anything about this. He's not a sophisticated man. He doesn't know a lot about the legal system. He went on for a long time with this having happened to him, and his sister-in-law said, "You've got to write a lawyer a letter or something. You've got to get in touch with a lawyer." And that's when he wrote us a letter. I've still got it. Written in pencil to our office, said they took my neck brace, they're not giving me medicine. He didn't know about lawsuits or anything like that. He just said this is what's happening because he wanted something done about it. Somebody told him you can do something about it.

Is the plaintiff's negligence the cause of his injuries? Well, that increased pain, which is what we're talking about, him not getting medication those times is what we're talking about. We're going to ask you to mark "no." Was the plaintiff's negligence the cause of plaintiff's injuries? No.

Again, how could he cause that increased pain? How could -- he didn't make them -- look at these. It says "minimum standards." Minimum. The bare minimum. Do you want the sheriff's office to operate at a D grade? These are -- this is a D grade. This is the minimum, the least you can get by with a pass, and you're going to have it with you in the jury room. They got an F, your sheriff's office. The sheriff's office that runs this community, they got an F. They didn't even do the bare minimum.

When you turn to page 20 and you look at what that bare minimum standard is, somebody has visible injuries. He did, obviously. He even had the walker and all this stuff. Get a physician here. See what you need to do about the neck brace. Whatever. It's clear what a doctor would have done, because when she saw him, she said go get the man's neck brace.

But then they had a lifeline. They had a phone-a-friend lifeline, a 24-hour doctor on call, which is also required in the minimum standards. I'm not sure which page that's on. It might be 57. But you can find it in there. You're required to have a 24-hour doctor on call. And nobody can pick up the phone. They didn't text the doctor. Not even slight care. The failure to do something that it is incumbent upon them to do for a member of this community.

Or if they tell you, look, he should have wrote more sick call requests. He was negligent because he should have not believed the guy who took his neck brace and he should have wrote down a sick call request. All right. That's bottom 10 percent. But if you put more than half, the government is no more responsible than if you mark "no" to the first question if it's any more than half.

I don't think my client did anything once he got to the detention center to be negligent. All he did was go in, let them violate the screening policy, go over here, let them take his neck brace and then go to his cell and lie in agony for six days. He did everything they asked him to do.

In fact, he was in a special-needs cell, which means he was alone. He didn't even have anybody to talk to to take his mind off the pain. He was solitary. He was solitary and by himself, isolated. They didn't put him in a handicap cell where he could have had rails to help him get the tray. You heard him say he ate six or seven times the first six days. They didn't put him in a handicap cell where he had rails to get to the toilet. They just said you need to be by yourself, and think about what you did, I guess.

Keep in mind the man was innocent at this point. This is before he even had a chance to plead guilty, which he did. They did this to the man that was still innocent, hadn't even been convicted of anything or have a chance to plead guilty.

You can see was the plaintiff's negligence greater than 50 percent? We're going to ask you to mark "no" to that.

And then we get to the damages portion. Let me tell -- I'll just leave this up here while I talk to you about it. The damages portion asks you what kind of message you want to send to the government, the sheriff's office. That's not up to me. I can't tell you what to write down. That's up to you. But I ask you to consider this example when you're in your deliberations. Each and every one of you I ask to think about something specific.

I like dogs. I like animals, all right? So for this example, the dog is hit by a car, basically the same injuries Tony had. He got thrown through a windshield, but the dog gets hit by a car. And a good Samaritan is driving along and they want to -- they like dogs, too. They want to help this dog. The good Samaritan takes the dog to the Humane Society or the vet, I guess. The dog's stray. Doesn't have a collar on. No tags. Well, if they're going to try to save the animal, they give it pain relieving medication, they put splints and casts on it, and this member of the Greenwood County community, this Greenwood County citizen, they didn't give the care that a dog without a collar gets. He had a collar but they took it from him. What kind of verdict is going to hold them responsible? What kind of verdict is going to say you can't do this?

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, this is improper even -- before.

MR. HAWKINS: Your Honor, I'm allowed to ---

MR. HARTER: Actual damages.

THE COURT: All right. I understand to the extent -- he is arguing public policy to the extent that an award of damages acts as a deterrent effect. He may argue it. I'm sure you can handle it in your closing.

You can proceed, Mr. Hawkins.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor.

I want to talk about -- before I sit down and let Mr. Harter come up and talk to y'all, I want to talk about the evidence that's not here. If it ain't documented, it didn't happen. We sent requests for the evidence they had to support their case years ago. We sent a subpoena this week for the video evidence that would show the neck collar on or off. It would put that issue to bed. Did y'all see the video? I haven't seen one. I asked for one.

These cameras, this is just in the courthouse. What do you think they do in the detention center? Y'all have seen videos and stuff show up years later on TV. If they needed that video, do you think they'd have it here to show you? Lonnie Smith didn't even know I had sent the request or the subpoena. He had no idea. They didn't even exercise slight care to do that. They didn't make an attempt to go onto the hard drive, they didn't call an IT person, they didn't go to -- and this is the government. This is the detention center. You don't think all these videos are logged and stored somewhere? Oh, it purges after 90 days. We don't have that. Or that's the same thing as, oh, that's medical, or I don't know. We wouldn't have done that. None of us know that it -- we gave the neck brace back, but definitely shouldn't have -- yeah. We all agree on that. They told you it was a violation of policy to deprive somebody of a neck brace that's keeping him alive.

What other evidence is not here? There's no evidence of that neck brace and those progress notes for those six days we're talking about.

Where's that state trooper at? I asked them. They said, well, they would have called the hospital or the hospital would have called them or whatever. All right. You going to call a trooper? Well, you know, where is he? Is he here? I don't see him. Not back there. I don't think he's going to come in late.

I'm not going to take up any more of y'all's time for the first part of this. I'll have a chance to come back and respond to what Mr. Harter says. But I'm asking you to keep in your mind the fact that the government didn't have any problem handing out a sentence. They took plenty of justice out of him, and they were glad to give it. He broke the law. Will you allow the government to break the law and then tell you to give them a pass? What will you tolerate from the government? And I'll leave you with that question as you listen to Mr. Harter.

THE COURT: Mr. Harter?

MR. HARTER: May it please the Court, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're recognized for your closing, sir.

MR. HARTER: Thank you.

Mr. Foreman, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, on behalf of the sheriff's office, the folks I represent, I want to thank you for your attention through the trial of this case. This is going to be my last opportunity to address you. I will not have a chance to come back again. But I appreciate how this is a sacrifice for your personal matters, and we appreciate your attention today. We handpicked you for this job. And you've been very attentive throughout the week, and I've tried on my side of the case to move things along and to appreciate and honor your time commitment.

But I want to make a couple of points, ladies and gentlemen. And I want to -- first of all, I want to emphasize something that you've already heard from the judge, and something that you may hear again. But what we are saying as lawyers up here when we argue is not evidence. Sometimes we say things up here that might not be consistent with the evidence in this case. And if you hear that, or if you hear something that is different from what the judge tells you, or what you've been told by the judge, or what you heard from the witness stand, or what you see from a document, go with your understanding and your recollection, and go with what you remember as being said.

I'm going to suggest to you that we've heard a lot of stuff in some of these arguments and suggestions that just ain't so. And I'm going to suggest to you that this case and many of the allegations that are made in this case just don't fit, ladies and gentlemen. It's kind of like trying to put a square peg in a round hole. But we trust you, and in your deliberations, you go with your recollection of the facts, you go with what your common sense tells you, and you go with your gut about what you think and know is right.

And I am a firm -- can I use this, please. I'm a firm believer in this wonderful jury system that we have, and we've all had those lessons in school about how valuable this process is. And it is based on the fact that there are people like you that are conscientious and attentive and will base decisions based on reason, common sense and the evidence and not be swayed by emotion and/or let speculation affect your verdict.

Now, in terms of this case, we have been over there all week, and we have been here this morning, and there's been a lot of finger-pointing. Numerous times today there have been fingers pointed and accusations made against the government. And ladies and gentlemen, I want to talk about that for a second, and I want you to think back about what you've seen and heard in this trial.

Who is the government? What does a road deputy that's working out on Highway 25 at night, what does the deputy who's responding to a burglary call have to do with this? I suggest it has nothing to do with this. The government -- the government is having their fingers pointed over at them in this trial today.

It's a group of people. It's a group of people from this community, many of whom you've seen and heard from in this case. It's people like Beverly Weaver who works with the sheriff's office, now works with the magistrate's office who saw this man when he came in. It's people like Sharon Middleton who was assistant jail administrator at the Greenwood County Detention Center for years. It is people like Lonnie Smith who have been with the sheriff's office for many years.

And, you know, we're not talking about people that come and go when the sheriff gets elected or not elected. These are people, ladies and gentlemen, that have pursued careers in an area, they have gone to four weeks of training at the Criminal Justice Academy in South Carolina and Columbia, they have undergone screening and tests, and they have been certified as detention officers to work in a jail setting. And they have done that.

And so I want you, ladies and gentlemen, to reflect back about who the government is that you've heard from today or this week. It is people that I submit to you are compassionate, it's people that I submit to you are trained, it's people that I submit to you that care about their job and they care about the people that come through the doors at the detention center. And in the large part, they are pointing fingers at the people the government has chosen to use to work and provide help and care to inmates at the Greenwood County Detention Center. And in that regard, I'm talking about a trained staff of medical people which include nurses, LPNs, it includes physicians.

And you had the opportunity to hear from Sherry Bouknight. You know who she is, you know where she is, where she came from, what kind of work she does now, and you saw a picture of the other people that are in the government that are there to provide health services to inmates.

And we heard a lot about policies, and we heard testimony about days -- or a day of testimony about this policy says this, this minimum standard says this, this says this. Well, ladies and gentlemen, you heard directly from the horse's mouth, from Lonnie Smith, and these policies that they talked about and waved around, they were policies at one time. They were policies that we don't disagree were there. But in an effort to improve care and improve the function at the detention center, you were told that in December of 2010, a transition was made, and thereafter, instead of officers handing out medication to inmates, that there was a change and they hired a medical team from Southern Health Partners to take over all of the medical care at the Greenwood County Detention Center. And that included doing inmate screenings, that included providing inmate care on a daily basis, responding to sick calls. That included treating inmates there at the facility. It included having a nurse there from 7:00 in the morning until 7:00 at night, and it included having Dr. Massey or a physician available on call.

So you hear them talk about this policy, you didn't follow this policy, you didn't -- ladies and gentlemen, we followed a better policy. We followed a new policy. We followed a new plan of care that I submit to you was very reasonable and it was far and above what was being done before. It's part of improvement, and it's part of the sheriff's office attempting to improve the quality of care at the jail.

And now let me tell you, you heard from these officers, and you had a chance to look at them, and you heard from Nurse Bouknight. And ladies and gentlemen, the last shall be first and the first shall be last, but I hope and pray that you have never gotten the impression from any of these people that are the government that they considered Tony Young to be nothing other than the man that he was, a man that was unfortunately brought to the Greenwood County Detention Center, who was injured, who was required by law to be housed there, and I hope that you do not think that these people that you heard from were not attentive to him and were not compassionate for him and did not do what they could within the setting that they were in to help him. I hope you don't think that.

Now, let me talk about what happened in the first place. Mr. Young was involved in a motor vehicle accident. It was an accident that he caused. It was an accident that resulted in serious injuries to people including him. And he had a need for immediate medical care, and he was taken to Greenville Memorial Hospital, to their trauma unit. And he was seen and treated there.

And now we've heard hoopla about whether the Highway Patrol officer is here or not. Well, ladies and gentlemen, have you heard anything other than that, that the Highway Patrol made this case, the Highway Patrol went to the hospital, the Highway Patrol got a call that Mr. Young was there and ready to be discharged and that Mr. Young, who left the hospital, and he knows he left the hospital with the Highway Patrol and was brought to the detention center? Did I go call the Highway Patrol?

Nope. Because we agreed to all that. And I appreciate your time here, and I don't need to repeat something that I believe and hope we're not fussing about.

So he -- but at that point in time, Mr. Young's status changed. And what I mean by that is because he had caused a serious automobile accident, because he was under the influence, because he was charged by a law enforcement officer and a judge with a felony, he had then entered the criminal justice system of the State of South Carolina. He had placed himself in a situation where his status changed. And because his status changed, he was under arrest, he was not free to go where he wanted to go, and some judge made the determination that he needs to be detained, and he needs to be detained at a hospital until such time as he is released, and when he is released, he is to be brought to a jail, and he is to be detained there until he meets a bond requirement or his case is over with.

Now, who made those determinations? Mr. Young made those determinations in part because he's the one who was responsible for his status. But beyond that, ladies and gentlemen, you know that he was placed under arrest. There's no misunderstanding about it and there's no conflict in any of these records but that he was discharged by a doctor at Greenville Memorial Hospital on the afternoon of August 16, 2011. He was discharged home. He was taken by the Highway Patrol. And those discharge instructions, he was not sent to a rehab facility, he was not sent to a nursing home. Those discharge instructions didn't say physical therapy. Those discharge instructions didn't say that he had to have home health, and those discharge instructions didn't say that he was bedridden. And that -- those discharge instructions came with him to the Greenwood County Detention Center.

Now, they say, well, you didn't examine him with a doctor on the afternoon of the 16th when he came in. Well, no, we didn't. And I think you might have heard repeatedly why we didn't is because he just got sent from a doctor. It was just a doctor that had just cleared him to go home.

Now, are we supposed to argue with that? Are we supposed to send him back and say, doc, you don't know what you're talking about? Are we supposed to send him over here to Self and say, look, y'all, does Greenville know what they're talking about? These were the doctors that treated him, that discharged him.

And, you know, when you're in the jail, I mean, it would be nice if nobody had to come there. It would be nice if you're the team of detention officers and medical staff at the jail, you don't have to do things. You don't have to accept people, you don't have to treat people, and you still get paid and you still do what you need to do.

But the jail, they don't get to pick their residents. They don't get to pick their residents if they have been medically cleared. Now, if they haven't, then, yes, there's a process to go through. But we're not talking about the hypothetical case. We're talking about Mr. Tony Young, and he was cleared on the afternoon of August the 16th to be brought to the jail, and he was under and the jail was under an order to keep him. And that's what we're required to do. And keep him because he is a risk and a danger to people out there on the road, and people out there need to be protected so you keep him here. And by keeping him here, we also may be keeping him from hurting himself again.

So, ladies and gentlemen, and also, at the time of this discharge, I want you to remember when you go back and plow through these exhibits, if you want to or if you feel a need to, and confirm, verify, verify, verify what I'm saying. Go with your memory. Go with these documents. Verify, verify, verify.

But when he was discharged, I'm going to submit to you there was an instruction to return -- to keep the collar, there were weight-bearing instructions, he was not bedridden, he had two return consults, one to ortho and one to neurosurgery, and he was discharged with no instructions. He received no dental care at the hospital, nor did those discharge instructions say do this or give him dental care or do anything like that. They did say "follow-up appointments." They did mention keeping the neck brace. They did mention the walker. Go with what you see and with what you remember. And when he was discharged, he was discharged that way. And when he came to the detention center, and you heard this testimony, he was booked, and he was kept there from August the 16th until April the 10th of 2012. He was there during that period of time.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, sometimes in the jail there are people there that come in one day and they go out the next. There's some people that are in there for a week and then they're gone. There's some people that are in there for months. And when you're the jail and we're getting the medical team, you don't know, I don't know if this guy is going to be here for a week or a month. I mean, his family, whoever he is, can come in and post a bond, pick him up and get him home just like that. And that's one of the challenges in a jail setting, and that's one of the challenges in dealing with a medical situation like this.

But I'm going to submit to you that during this time frame between August 16th and April 10, 2012, Mr. Young got reasonable and appropriate care at the Greenwood County Detention Center. And we also know this, and these are some facts that are undisputed, is that he had an ortho consult, he was cleared by orthopedics on September 23, 2011, cleared with no follow-up needed from an accident that had occurred the month before. He was cleared by neurosurgery in Greenville, South Carolina, on October 31st for his back/neck issues for the accident that had happened August 10, 2011. Wow. That's pretty good, y'all. That's pretty good for him to be cleared for that during that period of time and not to require any additional follow-up.

Now, he was at the detention center during that period of time, and he was taken out for those consults. And you've got the records from those consults that are going to be in evidence here.

Now, let me just mention a couple things. Let's -- what is this case about? Well, let me kind of see if I can boil it down a little bit to what it's about. Well, let me say what it's not about and then we'll come back. It's not about -- and I don't believe that the plaintiff is going to argue or continue to argue or suggest to you that the detention center was required to give Mr. Young Lortab and/or narcotic medications. I don't believe they contend that. I don't believe they argued it. So we're not arguing about that.

We're also not arguing -- based on what I heard from Mr. Young, there's no argument that after the doctor saw me, which was about six days or so, there's no argument that after that, I had my neck brace until I didn't need it anymore.

There is no argument from Mr. Young, as I understand it, that during this time period, while I was at the detention center, that after six days, after I saw the doctor, I got pain medication pretty much every day. Now, you go with your memory, and go with what he said from the witness stand. But I think we agreed or he agreed he wasn't really sure, but he said pretty much every day. After I saw the doctor, I got pain medication pretty much every day.

We also agree, I think, and Mr. Young agreed that he did not, for those first six or eight days or till he saw the doctor, he did not make any complaint or write any complaint or sick call request related to either his collar or his medication, lack of medication. Okay.

Now, what I -- I think we're not arguing about those things. What I think we're arguing about and boiling this case down to is that he said he didn't have his collar for six days, and during those six days, it was painful for him. And I think he also contends and claims that for those first six days or until he saw the doctor on the 23rd of August, that he never saw any medical person at all and never was examined, and never had any medication or medical care until he saw Dr. Massey, and that date, ladies and gentlemen, on the record, I believe, is August the 23rd of 2011.

And so let's talk -- let's talk about the collar right now. And Mr. Young says they took this collar from me. We know it was not on him at booking because we saw the picture. And he says they didn't give it back to me for six days.

All right. Now, let's talk about the collar thing for a minute. Did we take his collar from him? Well, I don't know that we took his collar from him, but he was asked to remove his collar so that his booking photograph could be made for the reasons that you heard and I just won't necessarily repeat. But we believe and we submit that after that photograph was made, this collar would have been given back to him. That's the way it should be.

Now, in a booking report, in a booking record, do you -- is that recorded? No. We didn't record that. We didn't document that. But we didn't include this collar as any of the other stuff that was taken from him at the time he was booked like the Lortab. It doesn't show up as being taken from him. We have no reason to think that it was. And you know there's mention about him not having it on at a bond hearing.

Now, his daughter Samantha was here. We heard from her. She talked about -- a little bit about what she knew about her father's care. And, I mean, daughter is concerned about her dad. I commend her for that. Regardless of what happened, you care about your family, you care about other people, and I'm sure she cared intensely about her dad. And she says he didn't have his collar on at the time of this bond hearing. Well, I don't know whether he did or not. I wasn't there. But I do know that it was a removable collar, and he could have removed it if he wanted to.

And I do know this, that we heard testimony from Mr. Young's ex-wife who said that she was there at the bond hearing, and she said he had it on at the bond hearing, but she also said that he didn't like to wear it. Now, I wasn't there and I don't -- maybe he had it on, maybe he didn't. But the fact that he didn't have it on does not mean that it was taken from him, especially in light of this testimony that he didn't like to wear it from somebody not with the sheriff's office.

Now, let me tell you, Mr. Young's claim that he did not have his collar on and he was not seen for any medical encounters between the time he was booked and the time that he saw the medical doctor, I want to talk about that for a minute. Ladies and gentlemen, you will see and you have with you back in the jury room records. And I'm not going to flash these up and down any more than I have to, but there is a record of the time he was booked on August the 16th, and this record was by Beverly Weaver, and it's dated August 16th. And Beverly completes this form, and this record includes Beverly's writing, and it includes Sherry Bouknight's writing.

Now, you will have this and you will have these other progress notes with you back when you deliberate. But ladies and gentlemen, let me tell you, if you look back at these records, you're going to see between August the 16th and August the 23rd when Dr. Massey saw him that there were ten medical notes made in the chart by three or four different people that said we gave medication, and/or that there was medical interaction during that time period. This documentation includes ten notes, three different people, where medical encounters were documented in these records by three different people that Mr. Young had some kind of medical encounter and/or was seen and/or had some medication.

I'm going to suggest to you I don't know why Mr. Young doesn't remember that, I don't know why

Mr. Young says his collar was taken from him, I don't know why Mr. Young is so adamant about those things, but I do know this. I do know that there is documentation that contradicts what he said. And this documentation, I submit to you, is credible, and this documentation, I submit to you, was documentation that was done contemporaneously and at the same time of these medical encounters. And we see a lot of people in the jail, but I'm going to submit to you that this documentation is accurate and it confirms what you've heard from these witnesses about the interaction with Mr. Young in a medical setting that contradicts what he says.

I'm also -- and I remember that there was some reference to the fact of, well, wait a minute, now, on this document -- and they said this documentation is false. It's not like, well, he had that medical encounter but I remember it differently, or that's what happened but I remember it differently. That ain't what they're saying. They're saying it never happened, you know.

And one of the things that they harped on was that, well, these notes, there were these -- there were these ten notes, progress notes before Dr. Massey saw this gentleman, and those notes don't say his C-spine collar was on. Those notes don't say adjusted C-spine collar. So if they didn't write it in those notes between August 16th and August 23rd, guess what? It wasn't on. Well, I don't believe that's right. And let me suggest to you if you really want to be a detective, go back and look at the progress notes after August the 23rd of 2011.

Now, in those progress notes, after Dr. Massey sees him, he says, "I got my C-spine collar back and I'm good with that." Well, I'm going to suggest to you if you go back and you look at the progress notes from August 26th, August 27th, August 28th, August 29th, September 2nd, September 20th, October 4th, there ain't no mention of the C-spine collar being on. But everybody agrees it was, including Mr. Young. And then at the end of that month on October 31st, he's discharged and released and not have to wear it anymore.

You know, it's kind of interesting here, and I will tell you I represent some medical people, and they -- we hear this stuff out there if it's not documented, it didn't happen. I'm just going to suggest to you in the real world, that's not the case. But here, it's interesting that the plaintiff's theme of the case is, well, if they didn't document it, it didn't happen. If you said -- if you didn't say the C-spine collar was on him between August 16th and 23rd, it wasn't on there. So if you didn't document it, it didn't happen. But at the same time, if you documented nine or ten medical encounters between August the 16th and August the 23rd, those ain't right. Those didn't happen. So if you didn't document it, it didn't happen, or if you did document it, it didn't happen unless it gives me some argument in my favor.

Ladies and gentlemen, it is what it is, and y'all are smart people. Don't be fooled by a game of smoke and mirrors.

Now, with reference to the medical records and the medications, again, Mr. Young says, "I didn't get my medicine for six days." I think the documentation indicates otherwise. He says, "After six days, I got it, but I didn't get -- I missed some days," you know. And look. It might be that can happen. I want to ask you, though, to look at the evidence and remember what you heard about that.

But let's talk about that medication issue for a minute. He says, "I got medication for pretty much every day, pain medication pretty much every day until I was sent out to SCDC." Now, in that regard, ladies and gentlemen, I want to ask you to pay attention, if you're so inclined, to the MARs. And I want to talk about these for a minute.

And I believe that you heard testimony that Naprosyn -- or naproxen, I'm sorry, ibuprofen are medications that had pain relieving effects. And I'm going to suggest to you that on August the 16th, that he was started on a medication, and we've highlighted here the times that he got pain medication or some of these medications. And I'm going to suggest to you that throughout the month of August, he got pain medication pretty much every day. And then I think for September, if we follow the yellow lines all the way across, I'm going to suggest to you that he got medications for pain, some medication for pain every one of those days. And then if we move into October, and this is the month that he was -- where he was discharged from the neurosurgeon, I'm going to suggest to you that he got medications consistent with this during that whole month for pain medication. And then we move to November. Again, that whole month he got some pain medication. And then in December -- and these two meds were added in addition in December. And then January, again, pretty much the whole month. I mean, he kind of agrees with this, I guess. And then February. And then -- and then, sorry, a couple of additional meds in February, and then March, and then April, and then he goes to SCDC.

Now, I will tell you, feel free if you want to to go analyze these MARs if you want to. But I'm going to suggest to you, ladies and gentlemen, that if you look at them closely, that you will find that maybe Mr. Young did not get medication on September 19th, September 20th, December 7th. And then we move into March the 1st, the 2nd, the 3rd, the 4th, the 5th, I'm going to suggest to you, according to the MARs, he did not get medication.

Now, I'm going to suggest to you that all throughout, medications were given consistent with the orders of Dr. Massey. You know, we might not be in a perfect world, and one of the doctors that I represented one time told me, he said, "Rusty, we're humans treating humans." And I really hope you believe that these people at the detention center and the people that are performing these medical things are people that care about the people they're taking care of.

But I don't know -- I don't even know, and you can go back and check it if you want to, I don't even know if he was supposed get meds then, but the documentation is he didn't get meds for a couple days. But I'm not even suggesting that he was supposed to get medication then.

But in any event, I certainly don't think that is a conscious failure to exercise due care or the failure to exercise even a slight care, because if you go and you compare Dr. Massey's orders with these MARs, then you will see that they're in line, that sometimes the doctor writes an order, it might take a nurse a little while to get that order off and get it going. And I don't know. You know, they weren't asked that, so I don't know.

And there's another thing I want to bring up to you. There was a medical appointment that was supposed to be scheduled -- or was scheduled with Dr. Kanos, for I believe it was, August the 31st. We're not sure what happened on that appointment, and I don't have any proof that it happened. But I don't believe there's any suggestion, ladies and gentlemen, in the record that it didn't necessarily didn't happen, but the medical records from Dr. Kanos in October clearly indicate that this patient had progressed and had done well and recovered with no follow-up and there was nothing else that needed to be done.

And now I know when I did Mrs. Bouknight's testimony, I kind of let myself get in a hurry and get going. And I want to just mention something. I don't see that the plaintiff's lawyers have not mentioned this or brought this up, but when you look at these MARs, I think you will recognize that these MARs are electronic records, or some of them are. And I'm going to confess to you, I don't -- I look at these things a lot, but I don't know how to interpret every one of them. And I'm not sure what everything means in an electronic medical record. And I don't know when these medications were discontinued by a pharmacy or whatever, and I don't know when they were taken out of the system.

I don't know when -- these are the records of Southern Health Partners. I know when they were printed, but if you wanted to, if you wanted to try to say we're manufacturing records or we're, you know, hiding stuff or we're -- you might want -- somebody could look at this and say, well, wait a minute now. This is an MAR that is dated in October of 2011, and it's got these dates and all this stuff going across it, but also on the page is some kind of other date that's like 2013, 2012, two thousand -- you know, these are 2012 records, and y'all went back and copied, and y'all went back and filled this stuff in. I do not -- I did not ask her to tell you how that is, but these are electronic records, and I don't know when these medications were discontinued in the pharmacy or how that works. But I would hope, ladies and gentlemen, that based on what you've seen and what you've heard, you would not jump to the conclusion that there was some person that went back and manufactured these MAR records after Mr. Young left the jail.

And, again, you heard from the witnesses here, you saw them, you had the best opportunity to judge their credibility and believability, and I'm going to suggest to you that what they explained was credible and believable and consistent with the law and consistent with what they said.

Ladies and gentlemen, again, I'm going to wrap up here in just a second. I promise. But in terms of this case, the judge is going to tell you, I believe, in his charge that the detention center has a responsibility to provide a certain amount of medical care to inmates there, but that to find the sheriff's office to be liable, there must be proof and showing of gross negligence, that there was something that the sheriff's office people did that was grossly negligent, and that is the failure to exercise even slight care or the conscious failure to exercise due care. Okay. Now, that's a notch above negligence, you know.

In another kind of case like a car wreck case or something like that or if somebody falls at a grocery store, they have to prove negligence. And negligence is the failure to exercise due care or reasonable care.

But in order -- and we didn't make this rule. It's established by the legislature. In order for there to be fault or blame on the sheriff's office for this, and the judge is going to explain this to you -- and go by his explanation not mine, but there has to be this not just negligence, but there has to be this gross negligence. And gross negligence is the failure to exercise even slight care or a conscious failure to exercise due care.

I'm going to submit to you we don't get there, you know.

And that verdict form, if I could put it up here, I'd show you there's another choice, and it is "no." And I'm going to submit to you that the evidence you've heard in this case would lend itself to the answer that I question to be no. And that's the end of the case.

But even if that were the case, that there is this next tier of decision-making process that involves proximate cause. Now, we're talking about Mr. Young's pain. We're not talking about medical bills, we're not making a lost wages -- he's asking for medication -- I mean for damages for his pain, for pain that he says -- and this is where the little disconnect might come in -- I've got these bad injuries, I cause these bad injuries, I admit that, but I have this additional pain that I want you to pay for because you didn't give me enough medications when I wanted them.

And I'm going to ask you to really think about that. Is his pain that he's talking about really pain that was caused by what he did in his injury or is it something that we caused? And I want you to go with that. And I know we've heard a lecture here about what the plaintiff's lawyers think about it, but tell us what you think about it.

And then you have the -- if you were to ever get to a point of damages, you would be -- and the judge will tell you that you would consider actual damages. And this is actual damages to put somebody back in the same place they would have been before had this thing not happened. It's not to go out and send a message and go out and straighten out the jail or go out and correct these people about the things they're doing wrong. That's not what this is about. This case is not about that.

There is a kind of case, and there are the kinds of damages where you can do that. But the judge is going to tell you what the damages can be in this case. And those kind of cases where you have somebody who's violated a law clearly and they've done something aggravatedly and/or they've done something with a conscious disregard and you want to deter them from doing something in the past -- or in the future, that's called punitive damages. That's to punish somebody. That is to send a message out to the world if you do that, you might have to pay money. That happens in a DUI case. If you caused that accident, sir or ma'am, and you're under the influence, then you're responsible for my damages in this case, and because we want to let this community know we're not going to tolerate drunk drivers, we're going to assess punitive damages. Those are not damages that you are allowed to even consider in this case. And I apologize to my brother about interrupting his argument, but to suggest otherwise I felt would be unfair to this process.

Ladies and gentlemen, again, I want to tell you thank you for your service, thank you for your attention through this process. I hope that when this process is over, that you feel good about what you've done, and you look in the mirror and you are proud because that's what we want. And it is a great privilege for me to be a lawyer and get to do this. It's an honor to represent these people in the sheriff's office. I'm not getting any younger. I don't know how long I'm going to be able to do this, but you have a great court system here in Greenwood County and all the great people.

We trust you to do the right thing, ask you to render a verdict which speaks the truth. Don't be sidetracked. Don't chase any rabbits. Go with your gut. Go with your common sense, what you know is right.

And here again, we thank you for your service. God bless you in your deliberations.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Harter.

Ladies and gentlemen, y'all have been sitting there for about an hour and 20 minutes. Mr. Hawkins will have an opportunity to reply to the defense's closing argument. Does anybody need a break? I don't know how long he's going to take. But a yes. I was figuring as much. I've been drinking coffee, too.

We'll adjourn for the moment, for about five, ten minutes, okay? Feel free to use the facilities, get a little something else to drink. We'll be back on the record shortly. Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom and a recess was taken.)

THE COURT: All right. Let's have the jury please.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. We've got everyone. The jury is back and seated.

At this point, Mr. Hawkins, you're recognized for your reply, sir.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor. May it please the Court.

THE COURT: Yes, sir.

MR. HAWKINS: When a lawyer tells you he's going to try to be short, I know y'all take that with a bunch of seriousness, but I am going to try to be as short as I can. I promise.

I find it interesting that Mr. Harter said, "Don't be fooled by smoke and mirrors," and then immediately pointed y'all to other places in the rule violation. Well, look at this doctor's encounter over here after we'd already, you know, broken the rule, after we'd already not called the doctor when he came in, after we already screened him through when he should have never been there in the first place.

You look at those discharge notes he just talked about, you're going to see he was discharged to home, and there's no evidence at all that the doctor knew where he was going. They could have called the trooper and said hospital, call us. Trooper never came. I mean, they're the government. They can call him. Call him on the phone. Hey, we need you down here in court. The plaintiff's lawyer raised something we need to deal with. Is he here? That's the only person that could say whether or not the hospital knew where Tony was going when he wrote "discharged to home" with medicine they were never going to give him in the detention center, with notes like if you have worsening symptoms, come back, have issues with pain. I mean they gave him the minimum to deal with his pain, this Lortab. He could have come back if the pain increased. He can't do any of that from the jail.

And he wants you to buy this fact, oh, the doctor cleared him to go to jail. Everybody is on the same page. They didn't bring any evidence of that. In fact, the evidence says nobody's on the same page.

Had they called the doctor like they were supposed to in the minimum standards, the doctor could have dealt with the neck brace issue, because when he finally saw a doctor, that's exactly what happened. He said, "Get the guy his neck brace." I mean, what are y'all doing?

And then we heard Mr. Harter talk a lot about the records and whether the records were accurate and all this kind of stuff, but it's pretty clear from the general population policies and procedures that you're going to have back there with you, reports should be written in such a way that you jurors should know exactly what happened today years after the fact. The government is in control of all the records it creates. It's in control of all the errors, it's in control of all the omissions, it's in control of what it brings you here today, and there's no way to verify what happened. Tony never said anybody intentionally falsified a document.

The point is, they didn't even pay slight attention to the documents. You saw the document that was filled out incorrectly about the injuries, two of them, the detention docket and the screening form. And you saw then in the progress notes they didn't even know which arm was injured. On the 8/16 progress note, or it may be on 8/23, it's on one of them, it says his right arm is injured. They didn't even get the right arm. And they want you to come in here, buy a story about how he must have gotten his neck brace back because we just never would have done something like that, but they don't have anybody to tell you that he got it back.

The only thing, the only shred of an attempt at evidence they have is a woman who had fluid on her brain, was suffering from seizures and didn't even know that his neck brace was not on him in the picture. At one point, she said the neck brace is on him, and then she didn't know what color the neck brace was. That's the only shred of anything they've got to lean on, not the truth or not the doctor that wasn't there when he came in and not the doctors that they called but they were supposed to. Nothing.

And there was a lot of -- I want to touch on this because this is important. There was a lot of argument and comments made about, well, he was DUI. He caused this wreck. Yeah. He was. That's why he pled guilty. He never made any excuse. He never said I came over a hill and a tractor was in the middle of the road, and the three and a half beers I had in the course of the last few hours had nothing to do with it. He never said that. He said, "I plead guilty. I broke the law." Don't you think he's fall-down drunk. It wasn't the case. There's a tractor in the middle of the road, and he shouldn't have been drinking and driving, and that's why he pled guilty. That's why he took responsibility. That's why he didn't say, well, my blood alcohol level was only .08. He didn't say any of that. He said, "I broke the law, and now I'm going to go do my time."

But between the time he broke the law and the time he got done with the last minute of his sentence, they didn't have any right to take something like a neck brace when somebody has multiple -- not just one, multiple fractures in their neck, a member of the community, multiple fractures in their back, at least three fractures in his pelvis.

And it's not just the increased pain from not having his neck brace. That was an outrageous rule violation. And you're going to be charged on when you can consider policy violations as evidence of gross negligence. The judge will give you that instruction. That was outrageous. But there's also a lot of other stuff to consider, like if somebody's got all these broken bones and they're lying in their cells and they don't even have the pain medication the doctor said was necessary, they don't even have that, can you not just instead of holding the tray out, go in and set it close to where they can reach it with their good arm?

You heard evidence about deprivation of medication or food is corporal punishment and can result in criminal prosecution or termination of that employee. Nothing happened to anybody. They didn't even do an investigation. They didn't even look into it. They didn't care nothing about a member of the community whose rights they violated to even look into it or ask the question in the seven years. They came here and told other members of the community, oh, we didn't really do anything wrong. Look in the future when we finally did start following the rules. Look when we did take him to the doctor. Look at that. Don't look over here about when we could have killed him. That's outrageous.

And I sincerely do hope that y'all hold the government responsible for this.

And as far as them trying to personalize it, well, they're saying the government, but look at all these people. Those people, some of them don't even work there anymore. I don't even think Bouknight works in the same place, and she was never part of the sheriff's office to begin with, I don't think. Y'all go back and check your notes on that. I know Middleton doesn't work where she worked anymore.

And the new people that come in that are getting trained by this Powell guy, the first witness you heard from, you know, he's not there either, but they're going to get trained by somebody like him. What are they going to train these people on? It's a sheriff's office. How are they going to train people to interact with the public? Because I'll give you some hypothetical examples. When you break the rules, when you break the safety rules, people escape from the detention center, inmates that shouldn't be released are prematurely released into the community. People who are detained and shouldn't be are detained when a warrant says one person, they arrest somebody else. Those are things that actually happened in Greenwood County because ---

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, that's improper. It's absolutely improper.

THE COURT: Let's try and stick to the facts of this case if we may, please.

MR. HAWKINS: That's five objections.

When I'm thinking about this damages issue, how responsible do you want to hold the government, what kind of message do you want to send to follow the rules, I start thinking about myself, what would I -- you know, because I can't tell you right now. I have absolutely no power over it. Mr. Harter doesn't have any power over it, I don't have any power over it, Carly, Kyle. None of us have any power over what you do. You have absolute raw power as jurors, as guardians of your community, conscious of your community.

So when you're thinking about that, I'll suggest to you what I'd think about if it were me. I'd think what would I take to have a crushed pelvis, broken fingers, broken arm, my teeth are shattered and knocked out, a broken back, my neck brace is gone, they took that, nobody's paying any attention to any policies, I'm lying their in agonizing pain and I don't even have the medicine the doctor said was necessary or medicine from CVS.

So what would I think? I'd think, well, if it's me, it's worth a whole bunch of money. I wouldn't take $1,000 an hour for that. But he's just an inmate, remember. I mean, he made a bad decision, so he -- let's cut a bunch of it off right quick. Let's say $600 an hour. Well, he's supposed to be sleeping a third of the day. Let's cut that down to $400. But he's just an inmate. I mean, he had three and a half beers that day. Let's take 1/10 of that. Let's take $40 an hour. $40 an hour, 400 is two-thirds of 600. $40 an hour. And then let's multiply that by 45 days, not 24 hours a day because he's supposed be sleeping for the day 16 [sic] hours a day. 45 times $40 times 16. That's $28,800. Is that going to send a clear message? I don't know. You write down whatever you want. You can write down zero, you can write down a penny, you can write down $100 million or whatever. But Tony don't care if you write down $28, as long as you hold them responsible. It's never been about the money to him.

He's told me that multiple times. He don't care what number you write down as long as you hold them responsible for what they did to him. He's waited seven years to be able to tell somebody, to tell his fellow members of the community what's going on at the detention center.

The defense has never taken responsibility one second at all, not even on the witness stand seven years later. They looked each and every one of you in the eye and said, "We're not responsible at all. He got better care. We took better care of him. We did him a favor. We did him a favor by taking his neck brace. We did him a favor by ignoring all these policies. We did a favor by not even doing the bare minimum and calling the doctor that is on call 24 hours a day for just this kind of scenario. We did him a favor."

Maybe there's a different way to assess damages. There's six days he didn't have his neck brace. How much is each one of those minutes worth?

When you get back there, I'd suggest to you an exercise. When y'all get to this point, somebody with a watch say, all right. We're going to start it and we're going to go one minute and nobody say anything for a minute and see how long that is to endure the worst pain you can possibly imagine, including the increased pain of not having the only thing that was keeping your neck stable and sitting there having to worry about it. See how long that is. How much is each one of those minutes worth? Because in six days, there's 8,640 minutes. But like I said, he don't care if you write down $8, as long as you hold them responsible, as long as you don't let them get by with it. Because if they're -- if they get by with it, they'll break the rules in all these other areas, and that's not ---

MR. HARTER: Your Honor, again.

THE COURT: We're in argument. Let's let it go.

Go ahead. Please proceed.

MR. HAWKINS: I'll move on from that. I think the jury has what I'm trying to say.

How many rules were violated? How many times were they grossly negligent? It only takes one. How many times were they grossly negligent? That's the question y'all need to think about back there, I think, because that shows a pattern. That shows that, well, maybe you missed one thing, but when there's a continuous pattern, it shows you don't care at all. Well, we didn't have a doctor there, so sorry.

The nurse saw him on her way out. I think one of the documents says Nurse Bouknight signed a document like the next day, which I guess you wanted to beat traffic when the guy with a broken neck came in, but that's fine. Look when her signature is dated on the document, because I think that's the 17th, not the 16th.

But they could have called the doctor, remember? But they didn't do that either.

Then they took his neck brace and said this is contraband. And remember, the guy that took it says he can't even remember Tony. Apparently, his injuries from being thrown through this windshield were so extensive that everybody else remembers him except the guy that took his neck brace from him.

You're going to see in these policies and procedures they have to give necessary medication, they have to provide necessary medical care including medical equipment. They violated that policy. It's black and white, it's mechanical, it's mathematical. I mean, it's a mathematical rule violation which you can consider as evidence of gross negligence as soon as he walked in the door and then remained for at least six days.

You heard Kyle talk about the hole in the screen. There's a screen in the detention center. People are not supposed to come in, people are not supposed to go out. They're supposed to leave. There's a hole in the screen. They had a system for it. They had a -- they had a safety catch. They had this rule that required a physician. And if you go to the post orders, that's the bare minimum standards. They violated that at least twice because the doctor didn't see him and they didn't call the doctor. And there's other stuff in there they violated, too, but I won't go through all of it now.

If you look at the post orders, they broke Rule 1.0 and 2.5, because Rule 1.0 requires good physical health. He was thrown through a windshield and had all these broken bones.

Rule 2.5 requires that you do a visible evaluation. You can't deal with him, you get somebody to, you know, say, yes, you can come in, and you make paperwork to that effect. None of that stuff was done. They want a pass. They're the government. They hold all the power. They hold all the documents. It's easy to -- by definition, because he was there, he's done something, made a bad decision, so it's easy for them to point to that. Oh, well, he did this and he did that. Don't look at us. Don't hold us responsible. I mean, it's just the Eighth Amendment we violated. Don't look over here. Look over there in October when we took him to the doctor. It's just the Tort Claims Act we violated. But don't look over here. Look over there when we did take some Advil to his cell.

And by the way, speaking of Advil, did y'all hear Lonnie Smith say if somebody came in with a severed leg they would take him? His leg's cut off. That person would bleed to death out of their femoral artery. That's what will happen. And they said -- he told you they'll take that person because nobody's making them follow the rules. Do they give that person Advil?

I'm going to sit down in just a minute, and I'm just going to leave you all with this. I'm passionate about this because I don't like to see the government, whether it's the sheriff's office or anybody else in the government get by with what it does to people sometimes and the danger that it poses to the community. And I don't have any say-so in that jury room. The 11 of you have all the say-so. Some of you probably have known people that have maybe been at the detention center or somewhere like that. When it's somebody close to you, even if they made a bad decision, they don't deserve to be treated like they're in a Turkish prison. He didn't want the Holiday Inn. He just wanted his neck brace. He just wanted a little bit of comfort. That was robbed from him because they already screened him through and took away the doctor's medication. So I'm asking y'all to hold them responsible. And I don't care what you write now on the last line, just something to hold them responsible.

CHARGE ON THE LAW

THE COURT: All right. Now, ladies and gentlemen, it now becomes my obligation to instruct you on the law that applies in this particular case, and I will let you know that the way in the past this was done 25, 26 years ago when I first started practicing law, the way most judges did it and the way many judges still do it today is they sit up here and they read you basically ten pages taken from the law books, and you're supposed to get it in the ten minutes that it takes me to read it to you. I always found that a little unreasonable. Like most people, it took me three years to get through law school. It took me three years to learn this stuff. So what I'm telling you, ladies and gentlemen, is that you'll have a copy of these instructions that you can refer to if you need to in the jury room during your deliberations.

Of course, please pay attention to the instructions as a whole and don't simply ignore other parts of the instructions to the detriment of other portions of the instructions.

If you have any questions, Mr. Foreman, about the law on this, simply give me a note, write me a note, give it to the bailiff and I'll try and answer whatever legal question you may have.

Of course, if you have any factual question, odds are I'm not going to be able to help you because at this stage of the case, it's not possible to reopen the record, it's not possible to take additional testimony. So if you've got a factual question, I'm probably going to have to tell you that you're just out of luck. You'll have to judge the case based upon your recollection.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I remind you that during this trial you and I have certain duties to perform, and as the trial judge it's been my responsibility to preside over the case and rule on the admissibility of evidence. You're to consider only the evidence before you, so any testimony which was presented and struck from the witness stand, ordered -- if I ordered you to disregard it, you have to disregard that testimony because you consider only the competent evidence before you.

I have the additional duty to charge you the law applicable, and as the judge, I'm, of course, the sole judge of the law. You're sworn to accept and apply the law as I state it to you now. So if you've got any ideas of what the law is or what it should be and that idea disagrees with what I tell you the law is, you have to abandon this idea because, again, you're sworn to accept and apply the law as I state it to you now.

Now, as has been said several times, ladies and gentlemen, you are the sole and exclusive judges of the facts in this case. Understand that a trial judge is not permitted to comment on or make any statement about the facts in any case tried by a jury. Since you're the sole judges of the facts, please don't think by anything that I've said during the progress of this trial in ruling upon the admissibility of evidence or otherwise that I have any opinion about the facts in this case. Ladies and gentlemen, the law does not permit me to have any opinion about the facts. This is solely for you to determine.

Now, in judging the facts, ladies and gentlemen, there are typically two types of evidence presented during a trial: direct evidence and circumstantial evidence. Direct evidence is the testimony of a person who claims to have actual knowledge of a fact such as an eyewitness. It's evidence which immediately establishes the main fact which is sought to be proven. Circumstantial evidence is proof of a chain of facts and circumstances which then indicate the existence of a fact. It's evidence which immediately establishes collateral facts from which the main fact may be inferred.

Circumstantial evidence is based on inference and not on personal knowledge or observation. It's proof that does not actually establish the fact in question but that asserts or describes something else from which you may either reasonably infer the truth of the fact or at least reasonably infer an increase in the probability that the fact is true.

For circumstantial evidence to be sufficient to warrant the finding of the fact, the circumstances must lead to that fact with reasonable certainty. The facts and circumstances should be considered in light of your ordinary experience and common sense. And again, the existence of a fact cannot be based on speculation, surmise or conjecture.

Now, the law makes absolutely no distinction between the weight or value to be given to either direct or circumstantial evidence, nor is a greater degree of certainty required of circumstantial evidence than of direct evidence.

Now, as part of your job, ladies and gentlemen, necessarily, you have to determine the credibility of witnesses who have testified in this case. And again, credibility just means believability. It becomes your duty as jurors to evaluate the evidence and determine which evidence convinces you of its truth.

In determining the believability of witnesses who have testified, you can believe one witness over several or several witnesses over one witness; you can believe a part of the testimony of a witness and reject the remaining part of the testimony of that same witness; you may believe the testimony of a witness in its entirety or reject it in its entirety; you may consider whether the witness has any interest in the result of the trial, whether the witness is prejudiced towards either the plaintiff or the defendant; you can consider the opportunity for the witness to have seen the matters and things about which they testify; and you may also consider the way they act while on the witness stand.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I instruct you that under the law a detention center has a duty to provide access to reasonable and necessary medical care and treatment for an inmate. The question for you is whether the defendant breached this duty in a grossly negligent manner. I instruct you that the plaintiff has the burden of proof in this case, and to recover, the plaintiff must prove that the defendant was grossly negligent. While negligence is merely the failure of a person to exercise due care, gross negligence is the failure to exercise even slight care. That is, gross negligence involves a conscious failure to exercise due care. A person who was so indifferent to the consequences of his conduct as to not give a slight care as to what he is doing acts with gross negligence.

Now, in this case, ladies and gentlemen, there's been some testimony about policies and procedures. The plaintiff claims that the defendant failed to comply with one or more of its own policies or procedures as it relates to not consistently dispensing the nonnarcotic pain medication to the plaintiff and/or not providing him with his neck brace. Under the law where there is a relevant internal policy or procedure and the plaintiff shows that the defendant violated the policy or procedure, the violation may be considered by you as evidence of gross negligence and may be considered in connection with all other facts and circumstances surrounding the case in determining whether the defendant was grossly negligent.

A defendant may also delegate a duty to an independent contractor to provide medical care or dispense medication to inmates of a detention center, but if the independent contractor breaches the duty by acting negligently or improperly, the defendant remains liable for that breach. In other words, a duty to properly dispense medication may be delegated to another, but any liability for a failure to perform that duty is not delegable.

Next, ladies and gentlemen, the plaintiff must prove that the defendant's gross negligence was the proximate cause of any excess pain that he would otherwise -- than he otherwise -- than he would have normally -- let me just start over with that one, okay? Next, the plaintiff must prove that the defendant's gross negligence was the proximate cause of any excess pain than what he would have normally experienced if he had possession of his neck brace and/or if medication had been dispensed to him appropriately.

Now, if you decide that the plaintiff is entitled to a verdict, your next step would be to decide how much money the defendant should be required to pay. Actual damages are to compensate the plaintiff for the plaintiff's injuries or loss and to put the plaintiff as near as possible in the same position that he was in before the incident occurred. In other words, actual damages would be the actual losses and pain which the plaintiff has suffered because of the defendant's negligence.

I instruct you that under the law, pain and suffering compensates the plaintiff for physical discomfort and emotional response to the sensation of pain caused by the injury. There is no definite standard by which to compensate the plaintiff for pain and suffering. You have the authority to determine the amount, if any, to be allowed for pain and suffering using your calm and reasonable judgment to ensure that the damages are just and reasonable in light of the testimony and the evidence presented in this case.

Furthermore, ladies and gentlemen, I instruct you that mental suffering, apprehension, shock, fright, emotional upset, humiliation and anxiety, either present or expected, can be properly considered as an element of damages. The amount of damages for mental suffering, of course, cannot be exactly measured.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, in this case the defendant claims that the plaintiff's own negligence proximately caused the plaintiff's injuries. If you find that the defendant was negligent, then you must then decide whether the plaintiff was negligent. Defendant must prove by a preponderance or greater weight of the evidence that the plaintiff breached a duty of care which proximately caused the plaintiff's injuries, in this case the excessive pain. The same law that I've instructed you on that you will use in deciding whether the defendant was grossly negligent should be used in deciding whether the plaintiff was negligent.

If you find that the negligence of both the plaintiff and the defendant proximately caused the plaintiff's injuries, you must then decide how much of the negligence of the plaintiff contributed to his injuries and how much the defendant's negligence contributed to the plaintiff's injuries.

In deciding the percentages of negligence of the plaintiff and the defendant, you may consider among other things the following factors: first, whether each party's conduct was only inadvertent or whether it was engaged in with an awareness of the dangers involved; you may consider each party's capabilities and abilities to realize and eliminate the risks involved; you may consider the relative closeness of the causal relationship of the negligent conduct of the defendant and the harm to the plaintiff; and you may consider whether the conduct of either party involved, involved a violation of a safety statute or regulation.

Now, Mr. Foreman, I've prepared a verdict form that will help guide your deliberations, and it kind of spells out sort of maybe a flowchart way that you can approach this case in this matter, all right? And I'm just going to explain it to you. I don't think you're going to have any questions about it. If you do, send me a note. I'll try to help you, all right?

But basically, the first question asks: Was the defendant grossly negligent based upon the definition of gross negligence that I've given you here? If you answer that the defendant was grossly negligent, you would then go on to Question Number 2. If you find that the defendant was not grossly negligent, then you stop your deliberations, sign the verdict form, knock on the door, let the bailiff know, okay? And we'll get you back out here.

So if you find that the sheriff's department was grossly negligent, you would then go down to Question Number 2, which asks: Was the defendant's gross negligence a proximate cause of the plaintiff's injuries, namely, his excessive pain? If you answer yes, you go to Question 3. If you answer no, you stop your deliberations, sign the verdict form, knock on the door, and we bring you in.

Question 3 then asks: Was the plaintiff negligent? If the answer is yes, you go to the next question. If the answer is no, then you go to Question 7. There's a typo here so I'm going to correct that right now.

If you conclude that the plaintiff did contribute in some way to his own pain, then you would go to Question Number 4. That asks: Was the plaintiff's negligence also a proximate cause of his injuries, his excessive pain? If yes, you go to Question 5. If no, you go to Question 7.

Question 5 then says: Using the combined negligence that proximately caused the plaintiff's injuries is 100 percent, what percentage of the negligence is attributable to the plaintiff and what percentage is attributable to the defendant? You've got to break down on the next page plaintiff's percentage, defendant's percentage, okay? That, of course, has to add up to 100 percent.

The next question, Number 6: Was the plaintiff's negligence greater than 50 percent? If the answer is yes, then the plaintiff is not entitled to any recovery. You would sign the verdict form, knock on the door. If you find that the plaintiff's negligence was 50 percent or less, then you would answer no and you go to Question 7 which asks about the amount of damages as I've instructed you, okay?

Again, not terribly complicated, the verdict form. I think you're not going to have any problem with it, all right?

Now, ladies and gentlemen, all 12 [sic] of you have to agree on the verdict. In South Carolina, we do not have majority verdicts. You have to be unanimous. So all 11 of you have to agree on the outcome in this particular case, okay?

Understand that your verdict cannot be based on sympathy, passion, prejudice, any emotion or any other consideration which is not in evidence in this case.

I'll ask you to return to the jury room at this time or in just a few moments, but I do want to let you know that your cue to begin your deliberations will be receipt of these instructions, the verdict form and the evidence which has been introduced into the record in this particular case, okay?

Additionally, ladies and gentlemen, I sometimes get a question from jurors. This happens periodically. They'll ask me, well, how long do we have to deliberate? Ladies and gentlemen, five minutes, 15 minutes, five hours. Hopefully, it's not five days. It's entirely up to you, okay? There is no set time in the law. The key thing is that all 11 of you have to agree on whatever the outcome is, and you have to agree as it relates to each and every question posed on the verdict form, all right? So there is no time limit, there is no minimum, there is no maximum.

However, if we start bumping up against 1:00, odds are I'm going to bring you out and let you break for lunch and then we're going to move everything that you're working on. So if you're still deliberating around 1:00, we're going to move everything that you're working on over into the grand jury room, because I have a second jury coming up to start a case at 2:00, so I kind of need that room.

Don't mean to kick y'all out, but the grand jury room is more comfortable.

So if you're still deliberating around 1:00, that's what's going to happen, just to let you know, all right? So deliberating at 1:00, we'll kick you out of there, you go to lunch, and when you come back, you'll go to the grand jury room.

With that, adjourn to the jury room. Don't begin your deliberations. Your cue to begin your deliberations will be receipt of these instructions, the evidence and the verdict form. Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. Let's double check the evidence and make sure that everything is square as far as what is going back to the jury, and we will get it to them.

MR. HAWKINS: And, Judge, can we briefly just make a record ---

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HAWKINS: --- and review our objections on the inclusion of the comparative negligence and the noninclusion of the occurrence instruction and then also including the comparative negligence on the verdict form? Just to renew that from yesterday.

THE COURT: Very good point. Very good point. That's renewed. Same ruling as yesterday.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Your Honor.

(WHEREUPON, the jury begins deliberating and a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: All right. Since the jury is still deliberating, I'll go ahead and dismiss them for an hour and 15 minutes and have them report back at 2:15 to the grand jury room, and let them get some lunch and let us get some lunch, okay?

Let's have the jury in, please.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. The jury is back.

Ladies and gentlemen, we're going to go ahead -- since you're still deliberating, we're going to go ahead and take a lunch break. When you return, when all 11 of you are present in the grand jury room back here, we'll send the material that you've got back there. The evidence that's been introduced, we'll send that back and you can resume your deliberations.

Mr. Foreman, have y'all marked anything on the verdict form yet? Nothing's been marked on it? Okay. If you haven't written anything on -- I was going to give you -- if you'd written something on it, I was going to give you an envelope to put the verdict form in, but if it's still completely blank, just if there's nothing written on it, it can go with the other evidence, okay?

Go ahead and take your lunch break. Be back here at 2:15. Again, I'm going to be starting a case, another case that we picked a jury on in this courtroom at 2:00, so I'll need you to report to the grand jury room, which is right back here, it's right next to my office, okay? So the door right next to where it says Frank Addy, can't miss it, and they'll help you find it, okay?

So with that, be back at 2:15, and as soon as everybody's here, we can resume deliberations on that, all right? Enjoy your lunch. Don't talk to anybody about it over lunch. Thanks.

When you come back, come to the side door over here. It's locked. Okay. I'll have a bailiff out there, and they'll get you through that locked door that's right back there instead of coming in the main courtroom. Or hold on.

THE BAILIFF: It may be better if they come in -- we put them all in 201 right now, and when they all get there, then bring them around.

THE COURT: That is a better idea.

Go to Room 201 when you come back. 201 is the room you were in on Monday when you first came in, okay? 201. Thanks, guys.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. I'll see you all back around 2:15. Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, a recess is taken.)

THE COURT: I'm told the jury has reached a verdict, in Young vs. Greenwood Sheriff's Department.

Nothing before the jury is received in the courtroom from the plaintiff? Nothing from the defense?

MR. HAWKINS: No, Your Honor.

(WHEREUPON, the jury entered the courtroom.)

THE COURT: All right. The jury is back and seated.

Mr. Foreman, I'm told that the jury has, in fact, reached a verdict in this case; is that correct?

JURY FOREPERSON: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. And all 11 of you agree as to the outcome in this case?

JURY FOREPERSON: Yes.

THE COURT: All right. If you would, hand the verdict form, please, to the bailiff.

All right. Madam Clerk, if you'll publish, please.

VERDICT

THE CLERK: State of South Carolina, County of Greenwood, Tony Young vs. Greenwood County Detention Center, Case Number 16-CP-24-157. Was the defendant grossly negligent? No. Signed by the foreperson, dated September 27th.

THE COURT: All right. Ladies and gentlemen, if this is your verdict, please indicate by raising your right hand. The record will reflect all hands are up.

Anything prior to the jury being discharged from the plaintiff?

MR. WHITE: Not from the plaintiff.

THE COURT: Nothing from the defense?

MR. HARTER: No, sir. Thank you.

THE COURT: Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, I want to thank you for your service here this week. You are done. I've got another jury waiting in there so I'm not going to keep you long except to just tell you a couple of quick things. First of all, your debit cards will be loaded with the payment that you get for jury service. Is it $10 or $15 a day?

THE CLERK: $15 a day.

THE COURT: $15 a day. So it should be $60. That will be loaded on Monday, so these will be available for you to use on Monday. And the clerk will give those to you as you leave.

Also, with your juror payment is a letter from me. I'm saving myself $0.47, $0.48, by simply giving it to you instead of putting it in the mail.

The letter's purpose is primarily to thank you for your jury service this week, but I do have, like most people, I may have an ulterior motive, and I do in this case. It's also to solicit feedback. So if there's anything you liked, I want to know about it, anything you didn't like about jury service, I definitely want to know about it. Any questions that you have about the judicial system, this case, how I did, who I am, my favorite color, give me a call, shoot me an email, whatever the case may be. I will respond to you. So any questions that you have, I'm more than happy to answer those for you, okay?

I will not keep you any longer except to remind you that because you served here on this jury this week, you do get that get-out-of-jury-service-free card. It's not an actual card. You've got to remember in September 2018 you came here, okay? But the next three years, if you get summoned for General Sessions or Common Pleas Court and you do not want to come, just let the clerk of court know that in September 2018 you came here, you served as a juror, and you will be exempted, okay? You won't even have to show up on the first day. Can't help you if it's Federal Court, magistrates court or city court, but if it's General Sessions or Common Pleas, you're good to go, okay?

With that, I'm not going to keep you any longer. Again, you have my appreciation, you have my most sincerest thanks for the work that you have done here this week. And I won't keep you. Y'all have a great time, great weekend. Watch the game. Stay safe, stay dry. Be good. Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, the jury exits the courtroom.)

THE COURT: Gentlemen, I typically afford ten days for any posttrial motions, so if you want to file a motion for a new trial, that's perfectly fine. Otherwise, it's been a pleasure working with you guys on this. Hope you've enjoyed your time in Greenwood.

MR. HAWKINS: Thank you, Judge.

MR. WHITE: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Y'all take care.

MR. WHITE: We'll take you up on that ten days.

THE COURT: Very good.

1000 GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

1001 STATUTORY AUTHORITY

The authority to establish and enforce the standards and requirements herein, unless otherwise noted, is based upon the South Carolina Code of Laws, 1976, as amended, Sections 24-9-10 through 24-9-50, which read as follows:

24-9-10. Jail and Prison Inspection Division established in Department of Corrections; personnel.

There is hereby established a Jail and Prison Inspection Division under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections. The inspectors and such other personnel as may be provided for the Division shall be selected by the Director of the Department.

24-9-20. Inspection of State and local penal facilities housing prisoners or pretrial detainees ; reports.

The Division shall be responsible for inspecting, in conjunction with a representative of the State Fire Marshal, at least annually every facility in this State housing prisoners or pretrial detainees operated by or for a state agency, county, municipality, or any other political subdivision, and such inspections shall include all phases of operation, fire safety, and health and sanitation conditions at the respective facilities. Food service operations of the facilities must be inspected at least annually by an employee of the Department of Health and Environmental Control. The inspections of local confinement facilities shall be based on standards established by the South Carolina Association of Counties and adopted by the Department of Corrections, and appropriate fire and health codes and regulations. The division, the inspecting fire marshal, and the food service inspector of the Department of Health and Environmental Control shall each prepare a written report on the conditions of the inspected facility. Copies of the reports shall be filed with the chairman of the governing body of the political subdivision having jurisdiction of the facility inspected, the chairman of the governing body of each political subdivision involved in a multi-jurisdictional facility, the administrator, manager, or supervisor for the political subdivision, the responsible sheriff or police chief if he has operational custody of the inspected facility, and the administrator or director of the inspected facility. All reports shall be filed through the Director of the Department of Corrections.

24-9-30. Enforcement of minimum standards.

(a) If an inspection under this chapter discloses that a local confinement facility does not meet the minimum standards established by the South Carolina Association of Counties and adopted by the Department of Corrections, and the appropriate fire and health codes and regulations, the Director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections shall notify the governing body of the political subdivision responsible for the local confinement facility. A copy of the written reports of the inspections required by this chapter shall also be sent to the resident or presiding judge of the judicial circuit in which the facility is located. The governing body shall promptly meet to consider the inspection reports, and the inspection personnel shall appear, if requested, to advise and consult concerning appropriate corrective action. The governing body shall initiate appropriate corrective action within ninety days or may voluntarily close the local confinement facility or objectionable portion thereof.

(b) If the governing body fails to initiate corrective action within ninety days after receipt of the reports of inspections, or fails to correct the disclosed conditions, the Director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections may order that the local confinement facility, or objectionable portion thereof, be closed at such time as the order may designate. However, if the Director determines that the public interest is served by permitting the facility to remain open, he may stipulate actions to avoid or delay closing the facility. The governing body and the resident or presiding judge of the judicial circuit shall be notified by registered mail of the Director's order closing a local confinement facility.

(c) The governing body shall have the right to appeal the Director's order to the resident or presiding judge of the circuit in which the facility is located. Notice of the intention to appeal shall be given by registered mail to the Director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections and to the resident or presiding judge within fifteen days after receipt of the Director's order. The right of appeal shall be deemed waived if notice is not given as herein provided.

(d) The appeal shall be heard before the resident or presiding judge of the circuit who shall give reasonable notice of the date, time, and place of the hearing to the Director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections and the governing body concerned. The hearing shall be conducted without a jury in accordance with the rules and procedures of the Circuit Court. The Department of Corrections, the governing body concerned, other responsible local officials, and fire and health inspection personnel shall have a right to be present at the hearing and present evidence which the court deems appropriate to determine whether the local confinement facility met the required minimum standards on the date of the last inspection. The court may affirm, reverse, or modify the Director's order.

24-9-35. Reports of deaths of incarcerated persons; penalty.

If any person dies while being incarcerated in any municipal or county overnight-

Updated by South Carolina State Law

lockup, or jail, county prison, or state correctional facility, the jailer or any other person physically in charge of the facility at the time death occurs shall immediately notify the coroner of the county in which the institution is located. The jailer or other person in charge shall also report the death and circumstances surrounding it within seventy-two hours to the Jail and Prison Inspection Division of the Department of Corrections. The division shall retain a permanent record of such reports. Reports shall be made on forms prescribed by the division.

Any person knowingly and willfully violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars.

24-9-40. Certification of compliance with design standards; notification of opening or closing of state or local prison facility.

In order to certify compliance with minimum design standards, the Jail and Prison Inspection Division of the Department of Corrections shall be provided with architectural plans before construction of any state or local confinement facility. Further, the Jail and Prison Inspection Division shall be notified not less than fifteen days prior to the opening of any state or local prison facility so that inspections and reports may be made. Ninety days prior to the closing of any state or local prison facility, the Division shall be notified by the officials concerned.

24-9-50. Reports on detention facilities to the Department of Corrections; electronic reporting preferred.

(A) Each local governmental entity responsible for a municipal, county, regional, or multi-jurisdictional detention facility shall report to the Department of Corrections, at the times and in the form required by the department, data and information prescribed by the department:
(1) for the classification and management of inmates who receive sentences greater than three months; and
(2) on the classification and management of inmates who are in pretrial status and inmates who receive sentences to be served locally.

(B) Data and information authorized in the Minimum Standards for Local Detention Facilities in South Carolina for the operation and management of a statewide jail information system shall be reported to the department by each local governmental entity.

(C) To the greatest extent possible, reports should be submitted through a means of electronic data transfer approved by the department. If it is not possible for a local governmental entity to submit reports through the approved means of electronic data transfer, it shall certify such to the department. The department and the respective local governmental entity shall determine a suitable alternative means for submission of reports until such time as the local governmental entity is able to electronically transfer data in the manner approved by the department.

1002 INTRODUCTION

These regulations have been prepared and adopted for the purpose of establishing minimum standards for the operation, administration, and design of detention facilities. These regulations shall be known as "Minimum Standards." The development of these standards has not been an arbitrary or discretionary procedure. Various agencies and organizations involved in local corrections in South Carolina were solicited and asked for comments on these standards. Various national standards developed by professional organizations such as the American Correctional Association, the National Sheriffs' Association, and the American Medical Association, as well as sound management principles, were the fundamental guides for the development of the standards.

The appendices to these standards are provided as reference material. As such, they shall be updated as deemed necessary.

1003 INTEGRITY OF INDEPENDENT SECTIONS

If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of these standards is, for any reason, subsequently held to be unconstitutional; contrary to federal or state law; or otherwise inoperative, such decisions shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of the standards.

1004 OTHER STANDARDS AND REQUIREMENTS

These are considered minimum standards and nothing that is contained in these standards shall be construed to prohibit a city, county, or multi-jurisdictional agency operating a local detention facility from adopting other standards and requirements governing its own employees and facilities, provided such standards exceed and do not conflict with these standards. Nor shall these standards be construed as an authority to violate any state fire safety regulation or code, building code, or health and safety regulation or code.

1005 DEFINITIONS

The following definitions shall apply:

(a) "Agency Director " means the governing authority for the South Carolina Department of Corrections, who and which act by and through the Director of the Jail and Prison Inspection Division and his/her designated employees.

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

(b) "Facility Administrator" herein means the County Administrator/Manager/Supervisor, Sheriff, Mayor, City Administrator/Manager, or other official charged by law with the administration of a local detention facility.

(c) "Facility Manager" means the director, chief jailer, warden, superintendent, administrator, or other comparable employee who has been delegated the responsibility for operating a local detention facility by a Facility Administrator.

(d) "Shall" is mandatory; "should" is expected practice; and "may" is permissive.

(e) "Security personnel" means those officers with the rank of deputy, correctional officer, detention officer, or other equivalent sworn or civilian rank whose primary duties include the supervision of inmates.

(f) "Emergency" means any significant disruption of normal policies, procedures, or activities caused by riot, fire, attack, or other similar disturbance.

(g) "Facility" is, for the purposes of these standards, any holding cell (if not part of another facility as defined in this paragraph); overnight lockup; juvenile holdover facility; city, county, or multi-jurisdictional jail; county prison camp or work camp; work/punishment center; juvenile detention center; or juvenile community residential facility.

(h) "Holding Cell" is a facility (City/County/Multi-Jurisdictional Lockup) for the temporary holding of persons for detoxification or who are awaiting bond, other judicial action, or transportation. If a person is to be detained longer than six (6) hours, he/she shall be transferred to a Type I or Type II facility.

(i) "Type I Facility" is a facility (overnight lockup) for the temporary detention of persons who are being held while awaiting a judicial hearing. If a person is going to be detained longer than forty-eight (48) hours, he/she shall be transferred to a Type II facility unless there is some documented compelling reason for not doing so.

(j) "Type II Facility" is a facility (City, County, or Multi-Jurisdictional Jail) which houses persons awaiting court action, inmates sentenced to three (3) months or less, and civil contemptors.

(k) "Type III Facility" is a separate facility (County or Multi-Jurisdictional Prison Camp) which houses only sentenced adult inmates.

(l) "Type IV Facility" is a facility (combined County or Multi-Jurisdictional Jail/Prison Camp) which houses persons awaiting court action, civil contemptors, and inmates sentenced to three (3) months or less, and which may also house inmates with longer sentences under a designated facilities agreement with the Department of Corrections.

(m) "Type V Facility" is a work/punishment center, stand alone or otherwise, which houses sentenced inmates and civil contemptors who are participating in community programs such as work release or education release.

(n) "Type VI Facility" is a Juvenile Holdover Facility for the temporary custody of juveniles who are awaiting an initial detention hearing. If a juvenile is not released after the hearing, he/she must be transferred to a Type VII or VIII facility.

(o) "Type VII Facility" is an approved Juvenile Detention Center for the lawful custody and treatment of juveniles who are alleged to have committed acts that would actually constitute a violation of criminal law if committed by an adult.

(p) "Type VIII Facility" is a Juvenile Community Residential Facility which is a structure, or is within a structure, that lacks security hardware and other more traditional confinement accessories and which serves as an alternative for providing non-secure housing and/or programming for pre- and/or post-adjudicatory juveniles.

(q) "Type IX Facility" is Home Detention, which means confinement of a person to his/her place of residence and/or other location(s) as an alternative to incarceration when there are both legal authority and administrative provisions to do so. (Added December 2004)

(r) "Standards" are the paragraphs, sections, or lines preceded by a four (4) digit number, which are considered minimum standards for the operation of a local detention facility. "Discussion" following a standard is for guidance and clarity, but it is not part of the official standard nor is it mandated. "Recommendations" should not be considered standards. They are principally suggestions for the efficient operation of a facility, but they are not mandatory.

*(s) "Juvenile" is an individual who is under the age of seventeen years.

* (t) "Delinquency" means the commission of an act by a juvenile which, if committed by an adult, would constitute a violation of the law.

Digitized by the Arizona State Library

* (u) "Status Offenders" are juveniles who are charged with, or who have committed, offenses that would not be criminal if committed by an adult.

* (v) "Juvenile Detention" means the temporary care of juveniles in physically restrictive facilities. This does not constitute " arrest" but "custody." Custody is not punitive.

(w) "Direct Supervision" means management of inmates in which security personnel are not separated by a barrier that prohibits visual and audio interactions with the inmates. Officers work directly in housing units and provide frequent, non-scheduled observation of and personal interaction with inmates. Each housing unit has at least one (1) Security Officer posted to supervise the unit twenty-four (24) hours a day, seven (7) days a week. Security Personnel are assigned/posted to housing units at a ratio of no less than one (1) per every sixty-four (64) inmates or portion thereof. When the entire inmate population in a living unit is in a secured mode (e.g., cells/rooms are locked for sleeping, etc.), the ratio may be altered, provided that adequate supervision is maintained in each living unit. (Revised August 2005)

(x) "Housing Unit" means a group or cluster of single and/or multiple occupancy cells or detention rooms that houses inmates and is immediately adjacent and directly accessible to a day or activity room.

(y) "Local Detention Committee" refers to the permanent, formal group established by the South Carolina Association of Counties for the purpose of considering requests for waivers, proposed classification plans, and other appropriate matters as determined by the Association's Board of Directors.

(z) "Variance" is a temporary deviation from a standard(s) in extenuating circumstances which can be overcome in a reasonable period of time; "waiver" is a long term deviation from a standard(s) in extenuating circumstances which are not likely to be overcome in a reasonable period of time.

(aa) "Essential Support Functions" are the duties and activities identified by the Facility Manager and the Jail and Prison Inspection Division for the safe, secure, and efficient operation of the facility. (Revised August 2005)

(ab) "Juvenile Charged as Adult" is a person under the age of criminal majority, who may be housed in an approved adult facility which meets separation requirements because his/her case is being handled in General Sessions Court. (Revised August 2005)

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

(ac) "Average Daily Population (ADP)" is the official count taken at midnight for an aggregate time period and divided by the number of days in the specified time period. (Revised August 2005)

(ad) "Average Length of Stay (ALOS)" is the period of time spent in a facility by pre-trial inmates as calculated using the following formula: ALOS = (365 x Pre-trial ADP ÷ Total Pre-trial Bookings for One Year). (Revised August 2005)

(ae) "Operational Capacity" is the optimum number of inmates that a facility can efficiently and effectively manage and classify. Operational capacity is usually expressed as a percentage of design or rated capacity (e.g., 80% of rated capacity). This percentage will vary from one facility to another, based on factors such as the types of inmates held, housing unit design, and proximity of staff. Note: Authoritative Reference: "Resource Guide for Jail Administrators", Mark D. Martin & Thomas A. Rozazza, NIC, December 2004, Page 52. (Revised August 2005)

(af) "Design Capacity" is the total number of beds in a facility as envisioned by the architect and initially built. (Revised August 2005)

(ag) "Rated Capacity" is the total number of recognized beds in a facility as approved by the Jail and Inspection Division based upon criteria in the Minimum Standards. (Revised August 2005)

(ah) "Intercom" refers to equipment or a system that enables initiating and receiving sound at each station within a facility without dependence upon staff assistance.

(ai) "Unit Management" means a management system that subdivides a detention facility into units. The unit management system has several basic requirements: (Added December 2006)

1. Each unit holds a relatively small number of inmates. Ideally, there should be fewer than 150 but not more than 500 inmates.

2. Inmates are housed in the same unit for a major portion of their confinement.

3. Inmates assigned to a unit work in a close relationship with a multidisciplinary staff team who are regularly assigned to the specific unit and whose Detention Officers are located within the unit.

4. These staff members have actual decision-making authority for the institutional programming and living conditions for the inmates assigned to the unit within broad rules, policies, and guidelines established by the Facility Manager and approved by the Facility Administrator.

5. Inmate assignments to each unit are determined by using the facility's classification plan, and are based on the individual inmate's need for control and security, as well as the inmate's need for services and programs offered.

Discussion:
Unit management increases contact between staff and inmates, fosters improved interpersonal relationships, and leads to more knowledgeable decision-making as a direct result of staff dealing with a smaller, more permanent group. At the same time, the facility benefits from the economies inherent in centralized services, programs, and systems, such as utilities, food service, health care, educational systems, vocational programs, and recreational facilities.

*These definitions are not intended to denote language of the current state law, but are given to assist in possible categories of classification.

1013 EMERGENCY SUSPENSION OF STANDARDS

The Facility Administrator may temporarily suspend, for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days, any standard herein in the event of an emergency which threatens the safety of the local detention facility, any of its inmates or staff, or the public.

Such suspension shall be reported to the Jail and Prison Inspection Division immediately, or no later than the next business day, by telephone, and then in writing via fax; through e-mail; or by letter as soon as practical, outlining the nature of the emergency; expected end of the emergency; and steps taken to reduce or eliminate it. Inspecting authorities may enter any detention facility in this State at any time without prior notice; shall be admitted without unnecessary delay; and may confer privately with any employee or inmate after coordination with the Facility Manager or the senior official on duty. Visits will deal with inspections and/or related matters but will not involve investigations of criminal activities. As a professional courtesy, inspecting authorities will attempt to meet with the Facility Manager or senior official on duty at the time of the visit. Inspecting authorities may make additional visits to provide technical assistance when requested.

In accordance with South Carolina Code of Laws § 24-9-20, staff from the Jail and Prison Inspection Division of the Department of Corrections will conduct an annual inspection of each facility. The inspecting authorities will conduct an exit interview with the Facility Manager or designee. A written report will be provided within sixty (60) days of the inspection. (Revised August 2005)

1020 ADMINISTRATION/MANAGEMENT

Once a year, the Facility Administrator should arrange for a visit of the facility by the governing body, circuit court judges, magistrates, and other interested parties, to examine the facility's condition, the treatment of inmates, and the programs available to inmates.

1037	1068	2036
J1041.1	1081	2037

1064	2032	3001

Discussion:
The facility should detail in writing specific procedures which can be implemented quickly when an emergency occurs. The procedures should contain provisions for sounding an appropriate alarm, alerting officials, mobilizing needed resources, and ending the alert. For example, a fire suppression plan would be coordinated with, and recognized by, the local fire department and would include a fire prevention plan

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

(f) All incidents that result in serious physical harm to or threaten the life of any inmate in the facility shall be reported promptly to the Facility Manager. (Revised August 2005)

(g) Vehicles in the facility's parking lot should be kept locked. (Added August 2005)

(See Medical Standards 2050 through 2056.)

1092 MENTALLY DISORDERED PERSONS

Each facility shall have written policies and procedures providing for the appropriate housing of all mentally disordered inmates as determined by the classification plan.

1093 ADMINISTRATIVE SEPARATION

Each facility shall develop and implement written policies and procedures for the administrative separation of inmates who are determined to be prone to escape or to assault staff and other inmates, or whose presence in the general population poses a serious threat to the orderly operation or security of the facility. Such policies and procedures shall include:

(a) Documentation of reasons for placement and retention in administrative separation;

(b) Self placement (protective custody): inmate signs agreement requesting to be placed in, or removed from, protective custody;

Property of New Jersey State Library

(c) Periodic review (at least monthly) of each inmate in administrative separation.

Administrative separation shall consist of separate and secure housing but shall not involve any other deprivation of privileges except as necessary to obtain the objective of protecting the inmates and staff.

1096 RESERVED FOR FUTURE USE

1097 SAFEKEEPERS

Inmates who are in pre-trial status, inmates who have received sentences of three (3) months or less for criminal convictions, and inmates who have received sentences of any length for civil convictions in Family Court shall not be transferred to SCDC without legal authorization and prior coordination with appropriate SCDC officials. Application requests, screening, decision making, maintenance, and management of safekeepers will be handled in accordance with South Carolina Code of Laws § 24-3-80 and the most current Executive Order. (See Appendix E) (Revised August 2005)

2000 DISCIPLINE

2001 RULES AND DISCIPLINARY PENALTIES

An opportunity for the inmate(s) to prepare a defense to the charge(s) against him/her

A hearing before an impartial panel or officer

An opportunity for the inmate to present information and to request witnesses in his/her own behalf

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

A decision based upon the charge(s) and information produced at the hearing

Preparation and retention of a summary of the proceedings

A review of the decision of the hearing officer or panel by the Facility Manager;

J(c) Assurance that no adult or juvenile inmate shall sit in judgement of, or have supervisory authority over, juveniles. (Revised August 2005)

Discussion:

The determination of whether a violation of facility rules and regulations is major or minor is determined not in the substantive violation but in the potential punishment. Any violation that results in a forfeiture of good time or in punitive segregation is major and requires the attendant due process protection. Those violations resulting in suspension of privileges, extra duties, etc., may be classed as minor, requiring only notice of charges, opportunity to respond, and disposition reduced to writing.

2003 FORMS OF AND LIMITS ON DISCIPLINARY ACTION

(a) Summary punishment shall not exceed a reprimand, extra work detail, or the loss of privileges including disciplinary detention of no more than three (3) consecutive days. (Revised August 2005)

2010 PHYSICAL PLANT

2011 INITIAL PLANNING

(a) When the construction of a new facility, or the extensive remodeling of, or addition to, an existing facility is considered, the governing body shall file a letter of intent with the Jail and Prison Inspection Division within ten (10) days of the resolution or formal action to proceed.

Discussion:

Upon receipt of a letter, the Jail and Prison Inspection Division will offer to assist agencies with arranging for the technical expertise necessary for the effective and economical construction of detention facilities.

(b) Prior to the design phase, a program statement shall be filed with the Jail and Prison Inspection Division which includes the following:

(1) Projected capacity of facility
(2) Types of inmates to be housed
(3) Inmate movement
(4) Food preparation and serving

(5) Staffing
(6) Bookings
(7) Visiting and attorneys' interviews
(8) Laundry operations
(9) Inmate separation
(10) Future needs and possible expansion
(11) Activities such as recreation and rehabilitation programs.

(c) A copy of the preliminary design documents and working drawings shall be submitted to the Jail and Prison Inspection Division for pre-construction review to evaluate compliance with these standards prior to releasing for bid. The Division shall respond in writing to advise whether materials reviewed were in compliance with relevant standards, and to remind all parties concerned of their responsibility to adhere to applicable laws, standards, codes, and regulations in the design and construction of the project.

(d) The Jail and Prison Inspection Division shall provide consultation service to the city or county, as may be requested.

2012 RATED CAPACITY

The Director of the Jail and Prison Inspection Division shall ascertain the maximum number of inmates, of whatever classifications, based upon square footage and other relevant requirements, that can properly be housed in each facility and in the various living areas within each facility. After determining the rated capacity, the Director shall notify, in writing, the Facility Manager, the Facility Administrator, and the governing body which has responsibility for the facility. These numbers shall be reviewed annually.

2013 LIVING UNITS - EXISTING FACILITIES PRIOR TO JULY 1980
(Revised August 2005)

Unless otherwise noted, this standard applies to all facilities which were operational or for which plans were submitted and approved prior to July 1980. Each such facility shall comply with the following requirements for living units:

(a) The number of inmates occupying a cell, room, or dorm shall not exceed the rated capacity of the cell, room, or dorm when based upon the average daily population for the previous three (3) months.

(b) In an existing Type II facility, all cells or rooms with a minimum of thirty-five (35) square feet and less than seventy (70) square feet shall have a rated capacity of one (1) inmate.

(c) In an existing Type II facility, all cells or rooms of seventy (70) square feet or greater may be considered multiple occupancy cells or rooms, with rated capacity based upon a minimum of thirty-five (35) square feet per inmate.

(d) Any existing Type II facility with less than fifty (50) square feet per cell or room shall not confine an inmate to his/her cell or room more than sixteen (16) hours per day excluding counts. (An exception to this requirement is that inmates temporarily assigned to separation may be confined more than sixteen (16) hours.)

(e) Each facility shall provide dayroom (communal activity) space for each cellblock or cluster of rooms. (Any area within a dormitory or other living unit considered dayroom space shall not be added to the square footage when determining rated capacity.)

This room shall be subject to direct observation from a twenty-four (24) hour staff position.

2014 - 2 FIRE CODES

The facility conforms to applicable federal, state, and/or local building and fire safety codes. Compliance is documented by the authority having jurisdiction. A fire alarm and automatic smoke detection system are required, as approved by the authority having jurisdiction. (See Appendix B)

Discussion:
The applicable code(s) should be applied to all areas of the facility. Reports of periodic inspections and any actions taken in respect to those inspections must be available. The authority having jurisdiction in South Carolina is the State Fire Marshal.

Toilets are provided at a minimum ratio of one (1) for every twelve (12) inmates in male facilities and one (1) for every eight (8) inmates in female facilities. Urinals may be substituted for up to one-half of the toilets in male facilities. All housing units with three (3) or more inmates have a minimum of two (2) toilets. (Revised August 2005)

2014 - 17 WASH BASINS

2014 - 26 DAYROOM FURNISHINGS

Dayrooms provide sufficient seating and writing surfaces for every inmate using the dayroom at one time. Dayroom furnishings are consistent with the custody level of the inmates assigned.

Discussion:
The standard provides managers and designers with flexibility in designing and furnishing dayrooms and takes into consideration the range of activities that may occur (e.g., television viewing, reading, exercise, friendly conversation, and sometimes meals and work). In lower security settings, the use of more traditional furnishings should be considered.

(1) General Population Units:
Outdoor exercise areas shall provide at least fifteen (15) square feet per inmate for the maximum number of inmates who are expected to use the area at one time, but not less than 750 square feet of unencumbered space, with none of the dimensions less than fifteen (15) feet.

(2) Segregation/ Maximum Security Units

2015 LIVING UNITS - NON-DIRECT SUPERVISION FACILITIES SINCE JULY 1980 (Revised August 2005)

Unless otherwise noted, this standard applies to all facilities which became operational or for which plans were submitted and approved after July 1980.

(a) Each facility shall provide at least half its pre-trial rated capacity bed space for single occupancy living. Multi-occupancy cells or rooms also may be provided for housing certain pre-trial inmates according to an appropriate classification plan. However, if a city or county develops a comprehensive classification plan which requires less single occupancy housing, it shall be submitted to the Local Detention Committee of the South Carolina Association of Counties for consideration. If approved in writing by the Local Detention Committee, the classification plan may be implemented as an alternative. Sentenced prisoners may be housed in cells, rooms, or dormitories designed for multiple occupancy according to an appropriate classification plan.

(b) All cells, rooms, or dormitories shall have, at a minimum, seventy (70) square feet of floor space per inmate if single occupancy, and forty (40) square feet of floor space per inmate if multiple occupancy, with no less than seven (7) feet between walls and eight (8) feet between floor and ceiling.

2016 RESERVED FOR FUTURE USE (Revised August 2005)

2017 PHYSICAL PLANT - DIRECT SUPERVISION FACILITIES ONLY

Unless otherwise noted each standard in the 2017 series applies to all new construction of, renovations to, and additions on facilities for which plans were submitted and approved in accordance with Standard 2011, Initial Planning, after January 1, 1993, if the new facilities or components are being managed by direct supervision. In facilities that have been constructed, or have undergone major renovations or added new housing units since July, 1980, the responsible governing body may elect to adopt the 2017 standard series. All facilities operational prior to July, 1980, however, shall continue to be inspected utilizing that edition of the Minimum Standards for Local Detention Facilities in South Carolina which is appropriate.

Discussion:
It should be noted that whenever renovations exceed 50% of the current value of the building, State Fire Marshal Regulations require that current codes for new construction be met. Plans for renovations, additions, and new construction must be submitted to the State Fire Marshal's Office in addition to the Jail and Prison Inspection Division for review and approval prior to starting of work.

2017-1 STAFF/INMATE INTERACTION

Physical plant design facilitates continuous personal contact and interaction between staff and inmates in the general population housing units.

Discussion:
Separation of supervising staff from inmates reduces interpersonal relationships and staff awareness of conditions on the housing unit. Staff effectiveness is limited if the only staff available are isolated in control centers as observers or technicians in charge of electronic management systems.

2017-2 UNIT SIZE

All living areas are constructed to facilitate continuous staff observation, excluding electronic surveillance, of cell or detention room fronts and areas such as dayrooms and recreation spaces.

Discussion:
Continuous observation of inmate living areas is a fundamental requirement for maintaining safe, secure custody and control. The physical plant should facilitate the performance of this operational function.

Additional Reference:
ACA 4-ALDF-2B-03

2017-3 INMATE HOUSING (GENERAL POPULATION)

(a) The facility is designed to provide single occupancy housing for at least one-third of the pre-trial population. Multi-occupancy cells or rooms also may be provided for housing certain pre-trial inmates according to an appropriate classification plan. However, if a city or county develops a comprehensive classification plan which requires less single occupancy housing, it shall be submitted to the Local Detention Committee of the South Carolina Association of Counties for consideration. If approved in writing by the Local Detention Committee, the classification plan may be implemented as an alternative.

(b) If the facility has, or would have, a rated capacity that is greater than seven hundred fifty (750) by applying all traditional criteria from the Minimum Standards for Local Detention Facilities in South Carolina, and the city or county elects to implement unit management throughout the facility and also develops a comprehensive classification plan which requires single occupancy housing for at least one-sixth of the pre-trial population, then the proposal shall be submitted to the Local Detention Committee of the South Carolina Association of Counties for consideration. If approved in writing by the Local Detention Committee, the classification plan in conjunction with the use of unit management may be implemented as an alternative.

(c) Single occupancy cells/rooms shall be available when indicated for the following:

- inmates with severe medical disabilities
- inmates suffering from serious mental illness
- sexual predators
- inmates likely to be exploited or victimized by others
- inmates who have other special needs for single occupancy housing.

Discussion:
Good security, control, and programmatic practices require that the Facility Manager have adequate housing options available. "When indicated" refers to determinations made by the classification system, medical diagnosis, or other professional conclusion. (Revised December 2006)

2017-4 INMATE HOUSING (MAXIMUM SECURITY)

Single cells are required for inmates assigned to maximum security. All cells in which inmates are confined conform with the following requirements:

(a) There must be at least 35 square feet of unencumbered space for the single cell occupant.

(b) When confinement exceeds 10 hours per day, there are at least 70 square feet of total floor space for the occupant.

(c) "Unencumbered space" is usable space that is not encumbered by furnishings or fixtures. At least one dimension of the unencumbered space is no less than seven feet. In determining unencumbered space, all fixtures must be in operational position and must provide the following minimum areas per person: bed, plumbing fixtures, desk or approved writing surface, and chair or stool.

Discussion:
This standard encourages design flexibility and creativity by relating cell size to the amount of unencumbered or free space provided.

2017-5 INMATE HOUSING (MINIMUM & MEDIUM SECURITY)

Single cells/rooms and multiple occupancy cells/rooms may be used for housing inmates in medium/minimum custody when the classification system, cell/room size, and level of supervision meet the following requirements:

(a)

Number of Occupants	Amount of Unencumbered Space*
1	35 square feet per occupant
2-64	25 square feet per occupant

(Revised August 2005)

*"Unencumbered space" is that usable space which is not encumbered by furnishings or fixtures. In determining unencumbered space in the cell or room, the total square footage is obtained and the square footage of fixtures and equipment is subtracted. All fixtures and equipment must be in operational position and must provide the following minimums per person: bed, plumbing fixtures (if inside the cell/room), desk or approved writing surface, and chair or stool.

Sleeping area partitions are required if more than six (6) people are housed in one sleeping area. At least one dimension of the unencumbered space is no less than seven feet. (Revised August 2005)

(b) When confinement exceeds 16 hours per day, there is at least 70 square feet of total floor space per occupant.

(c) Housing is in compliance with Standards SC 1082, SC 2014-16, 2014-17, 2014-18, and 2014-20. (Revised August 2005)

A classification system is used to divide the occupants into groups which reduce the probability of assault and disruptive behavior. At a minimum, the classification system evaluates the following:

* mental and emotional stability
* escape history
* history of assaultive behavior
* medical status
* age
* enemies of record
* other categories that may impact facility security (Revised August 2005)

Medium security inmates housed in multiple occupancy cells/rooms require direct supervision. (See glossary for definition of direct supervision.)

Each facility shall develop and implement an inmate visiting plan which shall include the following:

(a) A minimum of one (1) hour per week of visitation per inmate shall be permitted. Each facility shall develop and implement a written plan for the handling of inmate mail. Such a plan shall include the following provisions:

Official mail is defined as mail from officials or organizations including, but not limited to: courts, counsel, officials of the confining authority, government officials, administrators of grievance systems, Department of Corrections, Jail and Prison Inspection Division, Department of Juvenile Justice, and members of the Parole Board.

While it should not be considered the responsibility of the facility to pay for an inmate's legal counsel, the facility must provide the assistance necessary for the inmate to have effective access to counsel. The assistance provided may range from providing a listing of local attorneys, with their office phone numbers and mailing addresses, to obtaining requested legal materials from the county law library.

APPENDIX C

COMPUTATION OF GOOD TIME CREDITS

South Carolina Code of Laws
(unannotated)
Current through the end of the 2004 Regular Session

SECTION 24-13-40. Computation of time served by prisoners.

The computation of the time served by prisoners under sentences imposed by the courts of this State shall be reckoned from the date of the imposition of the sentence. But when (a) a prisoner shall have given notice of intention to appeal, (b) the commencement of the service of the sentence follows the revocation of probation or (c) the court shall have designated a specific time for the commencement of the service of the sentence, the computation of the time served shall be reckoned from the date of the commencement of the service of the sentence. In every case in computing the time served by a prisoner, full credit against the sentence shall be given for time served prior to trial and sentencing. Provided, however, that credit for time served prior to trial and sentencing shall not be given: (1) when the prisoner at the time he was imprisoned prior to trial was an escapee from another penal institution; or (2) when the prisoner is serving a sentence for one offense and is awaiting trial and sentence for a second offense in which case he shall not receive credit for time served prior to trial in a reduction of his sentence for the second offense.

SECTION 24-13-210. Credit given convicts for good behavior.

(A) A prisoner convicted of an offense against this State, except a "no parole offense" as defined in Section 24-13-100, and sentenced to the custody of the Department of Corrections including a prisoner serving time in a local facility pursuant to a designated facility agreement authorized by Section 24-3-30, whose record of conduct shows that he has faithfully observed all the rules of the institution where he is confined and has not been subjected to punishment for misbehavior, is entitled to a deduction from the term of his sentence beginning with the day on which the service of his sentence commences to run, computed at the rate of twenty days for each month served. When two or more consecutive sentences are to be served, the aggregate of the several sentences is the basis upon which the good conduct credit is computed.

(B) A prisoner convicted of a "no parole offense" against this State as defined in Section 24-13-100 and sentenced to the custody of the Department of Corrections, including a prisoner serving time in a local facility pursuant to a designated facility agreement authorized by Section 24-3-30, whose record of conduct shows that he has faithfully observed all the rules of the institution where he is confined and has not been subjected to punishment for misbehavior, is entitled to a deduction from the term of his sentence beginning with the day on which the service of his sentence commences to run, computed at the rate of three days for each month served. However, no prisoner serving a sentence for life imprisonment or a mandatory minimum term of imprisonment for thirty years pursuant to Section 16-3-20 is entitled to credits under this provision. No prisoner convicted of a "no parole offense" is entitled to a reduction below the minimum term of incarceration provided in Section 24-13-125 or 24-13-150. When two or more consecutive sentences are to be served, the aggregate of the several sentences is the basis upon which the good conduct credit is computed.

(C) A prisoner convicted of an offense against this State and sentenced to a local correctional facility, or upon the public works of any county in this State, whose record of conduct shows that he has faithfully observed all the rules of the institution where he is confined, and has not been subjected to punishment for misbehavior, is entitled to a deduction from the term of his sentence beginning with the day on which the service of his sentence commences to run, computed at the rate of one day for every two days served. When two or more consecutive sentences are to be served, the aggregate of the several sentences is the basis upon which good conduct credits must be computed.

(D) If a prisoner confined in a facility of the department commits an offense or violates one of the rules of the institution during his term of imprisonment, all or part of the good conduct credit he has earned may be forfeited in the discretion of the Director of the Department of Corrections. If a prisoner confined in a local correctional facility pursuant to a designated facility agreement commits an offense or violates one of the rules of the institution during his term of imprisonment, all or part of the good conduct credit he has earned may be forfeited in the discretion of the local official having charge of the prisoner. The decision to withhold forfeited good conduct time is solely the responsibility of officials named in this subsection.

(E) Any person who has served the term of imprisonment for which he has been sentenced less deductions allowed therefrom for good conduct is considered upon release to have served the entire term for which he was sentenced unless the person is required to complete a community supervision program pursuant to Section 24-21-560. If the person is required to complete a community supervision program, he must complete his sentence as provided in Section 24-21-560 prior to discharge from the criminal justice system.

(F) No credits earned pursuant to this section may be applied in a manner which would prevent full participation in the Department of Probation, Parole, and Pardon Services' prerelease or community supervision program as provided in Section 24-21-560.

SECTION 24-13-220. Time off for good behavior in cases of commuted or suspended sentences.

The provisions of Section 24-13-210 shall also apply when a portion of a sentence which has been imposed is suspended. Credits earned for good conduct shall be deducted from and computed on the time the person is actually required to serve, and the suspended sentence shall begin on the date of his release from servitude as herein provided.

SECTION 24-13-230. Reduction of sentence for productive duty assignment or participation in academic, technical, or vocational training program.

(A) The Director of the Department of Corrections may allow any prisoner in the custody of the department, except a prisoner convicted of a "no parole offense" as defined in Section 24-13-100, who is assigned to a productive duty assignment or who is regularly enrolled and actively participating in an academic, technical, or vocational training program, a reduction from the term of his sentence of zero to one day for every two days he is employed or enrolled. A maximum annual credit for both work credit and education credit is limited to one hundred eighty days.

(B) The Director of the Department of Corrections may allow a prisoner in the custody of the department serving a sentence for a "no parole offense" as defined in Section 24-13-100, who is assigned to a productive duty assignment or who is regularly enrolled and actively participating in an academic, technical, or vocational training program, a reduction from the term of his sentence of six days for every month he is employed or enrolled. However, no prisoner serving a sentence for life imprisonment or a mandatory minimum term of imprisonment for thirty years pursuant to Section 16-3-20 is entitled to credits under this provision. No prisoner convicted of a "no parole offense" is entitled to a reduction below the minimum term of incarceration provided in Section 24-13-125 or 24-13-150. A maximum annual credit for both work credit and education credit is limited to seventy-two days.

(C) No credits earned pursuant to this section may be applied in a manner which would prevent full participation in the Department of Probation, Parole, and Pardon Services' prerelease or community supervision program as provided in Section 24-21-560.

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

(D) The amount of credit to be earned for each duty classification or enrollment must be determined by the director and published by him in a conspicuous place available to inmates at each correctional institution. If a prisoner commits an offense or violates one of the rules of the institution during his term of imprisonment all or part of the work credit or education credit he has earned may be forfeited in the discretion of the official having charge of the prisoner.

(E) The official in charge of a local detention or correctional facility to which persons convicted of offenses against the State are sentenced shall allow any inmate serving such a sentence in the custody of the facility who is assigned to a mandatory productive duty assignment a reduction from the term of his sentence of zero to one day for every two days so employed. The amount of credit to be earned for each duty classification must be determined by the official in charge of the local detention or correctional facility and published by him in a conspicuous place available to inmates.

(F)(1) An individual is only eligible for the educational credits provided for in this section, upon successful participation in an academic, technical, or vocational training program.

(2) The educational credit provided for in this section, is not available to any individual convicted of a violent crime as defined in Section 16-1-60.

(G) The South Carolina Department of Corrections may not pay any tuition for college courses.

SECTION 24-13-235. Voluntary program.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the governing body of any county may authorize the sheriff or other official in charge of county correctional facilities to offer a voluntary program under which any person committed to such facility may perform labor on the public works or ways. The confinement of the person must be reduced by one day for every eight hours of labor on the public works or ways performed by the person. As used in this section, "labor on the public works or ways" means manual labor to improve or maintain public facilities, including, but not limited to, streets, parks, and schools.

The governing body of the county may prescribe reasonable regulations under which such labor is to be performed and may provide that such persons wear clothing of a distinctive character while performing such work.

Nothing contained in this section may be construed to require the sheriff or other such official to assign labor to a person pursuant to this section if it appears from the record that the person has refused to perform labor as assigned satisfactorily or has not satisfactorily complied with the reasonable regulations governing such assignment. A person is eligible for supervised work under this section only if the sheriff or other such official concludes that the person is a fit subject therefor.

If a court sentences a defendant to a period of confinement of fifteen days or more, the court may restrict or deny the defendant's eligibility for the supervised work program.

The governing body of the county may prescribe a program administrative fee, not to exceed the pro rata cost of administration, to be paid by each person in the program, according to the person's ability to pay.

SECTION 24-13-260. Effect of failure of officer having charge of convict to allow deduction in time of serving sentence.

Any officer having charge of any such convict who shall refuse to allow such deduction in time of serving sentence shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, suffer imprisonment for not less than thirty days or pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars.

Digitized by South Carolina Legislature

SECTION 20-7-1350. Penalties for violations by adults.

An adult who wilfully violates, neglects, or refuses to obey or perform a lawful order of the court, or who violates any provision of this chapter, may be proceeded against for contempt of court. An adult found in contempt of court may be punished by a fine, a public work sentence, or by imprisonment in a local correctional facility, or any combination of them, in the discretion of the court, but not to exceed imprisonment in a local correctional facility for one year, a fine of fifteen hundred dollars, or public work sentence of more than three hundred hours, or any combination of them. An adult sentenced to a term of imprisonment under this section may earn good time credits pursuant to Section 24-13-210 and work credits pursuant to Section 24-13-230 and may participate in a work/punishment program pursuant to Section 24-13-910 unless his participation in any of these programs is prohibited by order of the sentencing judge.

(B) In a jurisdiction in which the governing body has established a system for receipt of deposits in lieu of recognizance, a person held or incarcerated in a jail or detention center who is entitled to deposit a sum of money in lieu of entering into recognizance under this section may secure his immediate release from custody by paying to or depositing the sum of money required by this section with the jail or detention facility in which he is being held.

(C) Money paid to or deposited with a jail or detention facility under the authority of this section is considered paid to or deposited with the magistrate or municipal judge in lieu of entering into recognizance and must be accounted for and paid over to the magistrate or municipal judge by the jail or detention facility for disposition according to law. Within one year of appointment, a reserve must successfully complete a jail operations training program promulgated by the Department of Public Safety pursuant to Article 9, Chapter 6 of Title 23 in order to be eligible for continuation as a reserve. A reserve who serves more than one year must complete the same annual in-service training requirements as regular full-time jailers or detention officers. All training which is provided locally or regionally is subject to review by the South Carolina Law Enforcement Training Advisory Council and approval of the South Carolina Department of Public Safety.

SECTION 24-5-330. Physical competence and capability.

Before final acceptance as a reserve, a candidate, at his own expense or through the offices of the doctor of his political entity, shall submit to the director a summary of the results of a current physical examination for the satisfaction of the director concerning physical competence and capability. Other minimum selection standards recognized by law as applicable to full-time jailers or detention officers also shall apply to reserves.

SECTION 24-5-340. Additional requirements.

Additional requirements beyond those set out in this article may be imposed by the local political entity through the responsible authority.

Upon request by the director and assurance by the director that minimum requirements have been met, identification cards registering a reserve's status may be issued by the Department of Public Safety.

SECTION 24-5-350. Duties of reserve detention officer; supervision.

A reserve shall serve and function as a jailer or detention officer only on specific orders and directions of the director. To maintain status, a reserve shall perform a minimum logged service time of ten hours a month or thirty hours a quarter.

No reserve detention officer shall perform any jailer or detention officer duties except under the direct supervision of a full-time jailer or detention officer. A reserve shall not assume full-time duties of jailers or detention officers without complying with the requirements for full-time jailers and detention officers.

A department utilizing reserves shall have at least one full-time officer as a coordinator-supervisor who must be responsible directly to the director.

SECTION 24-5-360. Additional training to become full-time jailer or detention officer.

SECTION 24-5-370. Reserve identification card for former full-time jailers or detention officers.

A currently certified full-time jailer or detention officer who leaves his position under honorable conditions within twelve months, at the request of his director and with the concurrence of the Department of Public Safety, may be issued a registration card identifying him as a member of the reserve if the use of reserve detention officers has been approved by the responsible authority. The officer is not required to undergo the preliminary training for reserves but is required to have a current physical exam and to continue the same annual in-service training requirements as regular full-time jailers or detention officers.

SECTION 24-5-380. Uniforms and equipment; handguns.

The uniforms and equipment issued by the political entity shall remain the property of the entity but, in the discretion of the director, may be entrusted to the care and control of the reserve. A reserve shall wear a uniform which will identify him as a jailer or detention officer. Handguns, if issued, must be of a caliber approved by the responsible authority.

SECTION 24-5-390. Workers' Compensation benefits.

Workers' Compensation benefits may be provided for reserves by the governing body in the same manner benefits are provided for full-time jailers or detention officers.

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

For purposes of compensation or benefits arising from duty-related injury or death, reserves must be considered employees of the political entities for which they were appointed and must be included with regular duty jailers or detention officers in the assigned responsibility for prevention, suppression, and control of crime.

This sentence shall not be served concurrently with any sentence being served at the time the offense is committed.

SECTION 24-13-460. Furnishing prisoners alcoholic beverages or narcotic drugs.

(D) A person who knowingly or wilfully submits inaccurate or untruthful information concerning sexual misconduct as defined in this section is guilty of the misdemeanor of falsely reporting sexual misconduct and, upon conviction, must be imprisoned for not more than one year.

(E) A person who has knowledge of sexual misconduct who has received information in the person's professional capacity and fails to report it to the appropriate law enforcement authority, or a person who threatens or attempts to intimidate a witness is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be fined not more then five hundred dollars or imprisoned for not more than six months, or both.

WHEREAS, an individual held in a pretrial confinement facility may be transferred to the custody of the South Carolina Department of Corrections for safekeeping by commitment duly authorized by the Governor pursuant to § 24-3-80; and

WHEREAS, the current guidelines and procedures for approval for the admission and detention in an institution of the Department of Corrections for safekeeping of a prisoner tendered by a law enforcement officer of this State are set forth in Executive Order #76-15, issued May 17, 1976; and

WHEREAS, there is a need to establish new criteria and procedures for approval for the admission and detention in an institution of the Department of Corrections for safekeeping of a prisoner tendered by a law enforcement officer of this State and rescind the previous safekeeping procedures set forth in Executive Order #76-15.

NOW, THEREFORE, I hereby establish the following criteria and procedures for approval for the admission and detention in an institution of the Department of Corrections for safekeeping of a prisoner tendered by a law enforcement officer of this State and rescind the previous safekeeping procedures set forth in Executive Order #76-15:

Section 1. An individual held in a county pretrial confinement facility may be transferred to the custody of the South Carolina Department of Corrections by commitment duly authorized by the Governor pursuant to § 24-3-80, if the individual: (1) is a high escape risk; (2) exhibits extremely violent and uncontrollable behavior; and/or (3) must be removed from the county facility to protect the individual from the general population or from other detainees.

The application must include: (1) a properly issued arrest warrant for the individual; (2) an affidavit from the chief county law enforcement officer providing the reason(s) why the individual should be committed to the custody of the Department of Corrections; (3) a certificate prepared by the circuit solicitor indicating concurrence with the proposed safekeeping transfer; (4) a certificate of service indicating that notice of the application of safekeeping has been filed by the county and has been given to the individual's attorney. Upon receipt of the application, the Director of the Department of Corrections shall review the documents submitted and any other relevant facts and forward his recommendation of action to the Governor. If issuance of a safekeeping order is recommended, a draft order will be forwarded with the Director's recommendation to the Governor for consideration.

Section 3. Upon receipt of the recommendation of the Director of the Department of Corrections, the Governor shall make a determination as to whether a safekeeping order should be granted and, if appropriate, issue the requested order.

Section 4. Upon issuance of a safekeeping order, officials of the county requesting the order must deliver the individual to the Department of Corrections and provide the Department with all appropriate documentation and relevant records relating to the individual, including but not limited to any special facts, issues, or circumstances known to the appropriate county officials concerning the particular propensities, special medical or dietary needs of the individual, or any special dangers posed by the individual.

Section 5. Safekeeping orders for detention in the Department of Corrections are valid for no more than one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of issuance. A safekeeping order may be renewed for up to ninety (90) days upon a showing of good cause and/or no material change in circumstances. Section 7. All medical costs associated with an individual held by the Department of Corrections for safekeeping who develops a need for hospitalization or other special medical attention while in the custody of the Department of Corrections is the responsibility of the County that requested the safekeeping of the individual.

APPENDIX H

Minimum Standards for Local Detention Facilities in South Carolina

HOME DETENTION STANDARDS

HOME DETENTION

Pursuant to § 24-13-1530 of the Code of Laws of South Carolina, minimum standards for the development and implementation of a home detention program are hereby established.

(1) "Department", as defined by § 24-13-1520(1), means, in the case of a juvenile inmate/offender/defendant, the Department of Juvenile Justice and, in the case of an adult inmate/offender/defendant, the Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services, the Department of Corrections, and any other law enforcement agency created by law. "Department" includes a local detention facility of any county, municipal, or multi-jurisdictional governmental entity.

(2) "Court", as defined by § 24-13-1520(2), means a circuit, family, magistrate's, or municipal court having criminal, civil, or juvenile jurisdiction to sentence an individual to incarceration for a violation of law.

(3) "Approved electronic monitoring device", as defined by § 24-13-1520(3), means a device approved by the department which is primarily intended to record and transmit information as to the inmate's/offender's/defendant's presence or nonpresence in the home and/or other location(s) as designated by the department.

An approved electronic monitoring device may record or transmit: oral or wire communications or an auditory sound; visual images; or information regarding the inmate's/offender's/defendant's activities while inside the inmate's/offender's/defendant's home and/or other location(s) as may be designated by the department. These devices are subject to the required consent as set forth in § 24-13-1550.

Such devices may be used for identification and supervision of the inmate/offender/defendant, to include monitoring and recording as appropriate, but not for the purpose of eavesdropping or conducting any other illegally intrusive monitoring.

(4) "Home detention", as defined by § 24-13-1520(4), means the confinement of a person convicted of or charged with a crime, delinquency, or violation of court order to his/her place of residence and/or other location(s) as designated by the department and under the terms and conditions established by the department.

(5) "Participant", as defined by § 24-13-1520(5), means an inmate/offender/defendant placed into an electronic monitoring program or into some other suitable program (including non-electronic home detention for properly screened and classified inmates/offenders/defendants) which provides supervision and/or monitoring in the community.

PLACEMENT

Section 24-13-1530 (A) of the Code of Laws of South Carolina permits the placement of certain inmates/offenders/defendants as selected by the court into a home detention program if there is a home detention program available in the jurisdiction. The applicant must meet the criteria of the department's program. Such placement is an alternative to:

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

(1) pretrial or pre-adjudicatory detention;

(2) probation (intensive supervision);

(3) community corrections (diversion);

(4) parole (early release);

(5) work release or work/punishment;

(6) institutional furlough;

(7) jail diversion; or

(8) shock incarceration.

Section 24-13-1530 (B) further permits local governments to establish by ordinance the same alternative to incarceration for persons who are awaiting trial and for inmates/offenders/defendants whose sentences do not place them in the custody of the Department of Corrections.

VOLUNTARY PROGRAMS

Each applicant/participant, whether selected by the court and/or by the department, must sign a consent form acknowledging, but not limited to, his/her understanding of and concurrence with the following conditions:

(1) Participation in a home detention program is voluntary in nature; and, should he/she elect to participate in the program, he/she will abide by the program's rules and regulations and will follow all written and verbal instructions of the department's staff.

(2) He/she agrees and acknowledges that no person has a right or expectation to be enrolled in and/or to participate in the program and/or to stay in the program, and can be removed at any time at the department's discretion.

(3) He/she agrees to pay all program fees, including any advance payment as may be required.

(4) He/she agrees to install and maintain a telephone as may be required.

(5) He/she agrees to obtain the consent of adult residents in the participant's home/residence, as determined by the department's coordinator.

(6) He/she acknowledges that, in accordance with § 24-13-1570, a violation of the order for home detention subjects the participant to prosecution for the crime of escape; that being arrested or charged with another crime revokes the order for home detention; and that, if there is a violation of the order or commission of another crime, the court will sentence him/her to imprisonment.

(7) He/she acknowledges that he/she agrees to abide by all conditions as set forth by the department, and that failure to comply with any such condition, including the non-payment of fees, will result in the participant's removal from the program without appeal and return to the custody of the local detention facility, exclusive of any criminal charges that may be filed.

Since program participation is voluntary in nature for both the department as well as the participant, a participant can be removed from the program at any time for any or no reason without appeal, including a department's decision to terminate or abolish the program. In the event that the participant is a pre-trial inmate/offender/defendant and he/she is enrolled in the program as a condition of bond, the participant is still subject to all the program's rules and regulations. Violations of any of these conditions will result in his/her removal from the program in the same manner as any other participant. However, should such removal occur, the person in charge of the program must, as soon as possible, notify the court of jurisdiction of the participant's removal from the program.

After acceptance into the program, the participant must remain incarcerated or in secure custody until all paperwork has been completed and until the electric monitoring device has been attached to the inmate.

The governing body of the county, municipality, or other multi-jurisdictional governmental entity may, if it deems it to be necessary and desirable, impose a program administrative fee, not to exceed the pro rata cost of administration, to be paid by each person in the program. Documentation of all such fees imposed, collected, and disbursed will be maintained by the county's, municipality's, or the other multi-jurisdictional governmental entity's treasurer and must be available for inspection and audit at all times. These funds are to be used at the discretion of the department's administrator.

Failure to pay such fees will be sufficient grounds for an individual's removal from the program.

PROMULGATION OF REGULATIONS

Pursuant to § 24-13-1540, the department must promulgate regulations that prescribe reasonable guidelines under which a home detention program may operate.

VERIFICATION

In accordance with § 24-13-1550:

The participant must admit a person or agent designated by the department into his/her residence at any time for purposes of verifying the participant's compliance with the conditions of his/her home detention.

The participant must make the necessary arrangements to allow for a person designated by the department to visit the participant's place of education or employment at any time, subject to the approval of the educational institution or employer, for the purpose of verifying compliance.

Failure to grant or receive such approval will be reason for the denial of an individual to participate in the home detention program.

USE OF ELECTRONIC MONITORING DEVICE

If so instructed by the department, the participant must use an approved electronic monitoring device at all times to verify compliance with the conditions of detention and must maintain a monitoring device in his/her home, at some other approved location, or on his/her person in accordance with § 24-13-1560.

CRITERIA FOR PLACEMENT

In accordance with § 24-13-1570, 24-13-1580, and 24-13-1590 and other criteria as established by the department, the following will serve as a guide to applicant/participant selection:

Unless otherwise established by ordinance, the court of jurisdiction must make all applicants/participants eligible for participation.

A. Family Court:

VICTIM INPUT

Pursuant to § 24-13-1570(D), the victim of the participant's crime, or his/her immediate family, must be provided the opportunity for oral and/or written input and comment to the department or to the court, or to both, regarding the participant's home detention sentence.

APPENDIX I

BEST PRACTICES

1030 PERSONNEL

Salaries for detention center officers should be equal to that of other law enforcement officers.

1031 NUMBER OF PERSONNEL

Each facility should have an officer whose job functions include risk management and safety related activities.

SOUTH CAROLINA JAIL ADMINISTRATORS' ASSOCIATION RESOLUTIONS

The following are philosophical and professional policies that represent the membership of the South Carolina Jail Administrators' Association.

AGAINST THE USE OF THE TERM "GUARD"

Associations such as the American Jail Association, the National Sheriffs' Association, and the American Correctional Association have enacted resolutions regarding the use of inappropriate terms to describe the men and women who supervise the prisoners in our nation's jails and prisons.

Jail administrators, correctional staffs, and sheriffs should undertake to counter this practice and oppose the use of the term "Guard". Terms such as "Correctional Officer" "Deputy" or "Detention Officer" should be substituted instead.

AIDS

The South Carolina Jail Administrators' Association supports the following guidelines and procedures with respect to AIDS in all jail settings:

Infection control and health precaution should follow the U.S. Public Health Service/Centers for Disease Control "universal precaution" infection control procedures. These guidelines are based on an assumption that no person's blood or body fluids are safe.

Training of all sections staff and inmates is a critical, essential part of the management of health care. Training should be updated with current knowledge and should be recurring for staff and inmates. Ordinarily, training should be provided to prisoners upon admission and/or release from custody. Training should be varied with the opportunity for questions to be asked by knowledgeable staff.

Jails should adopt procedures for HIV screening. Such procedures should reflect current public standards and legal constraints. Procedures may be adopted to pursue effective medical management goals and to pursue inquiries into management questions about prevalence of the disease in the population. Confidentiality of results must follow current public health and legal standards. Ordinarily, disclosure of test results is limited to those with a need to know, based on medical, legal, and security concerns.

Referral to counseling or treatment for patients, and in appropriate circumstances for those in close relationship to them, is an important part of any AIDS program.

Management of AIDS requires a policy for housing those inmates who are symptomatic. Inmates who are HIV positive need not be separated unless medically indicated or unless there is a security or health threat justification. Jails should have procedures and practices established to handle risk situations such as body fluid spills, altercations, CPR, and biting incidents. In addition to training, these may require special equipment and precise directions for handling these situations.

DISCRIMINATION AND SEXUAL HARASSMENT

There have been a number of laws, rules, and regulations, at the national, state, and local levels against discrimination of individuals on the basis of race, creed, religion, sex, age, race, disability, or national origin.

Sheriffs, jail administrators, and jail and detention staff have made conscientious efforts to comply with both the spirit and the letter of these laws, rules, regulations, and written injunctions.

The SC Jail Administrators' Association (SCJAA) strongly supports and encourages efforts to educate all jail staff as to the importance of eliminating discriminatory behavior through training, education, and written policies and procedures prohibiting such behavior.

HOUSING OF INDIVIDUALS WITH MENTAL ILLNESS IN AMERICA'S JAILS

Many of the individuals with mental illness who are arrested are or were clients of the mental health system and failed to gain access to effective mental health treatment.

Criminal justice officials are concerned about the increasing percentage of calls for assistance involving untreated/non-medicated mental health clients, and corresponding decreases in available community and state treatment resources.

Court officials, already overwhelmed by crowded dockets, struggle to respond appropriately to defendants with mental illness. Defendants often cycle through the courts repeatedly with the outcome failing to address long-term placement and treatment issues.

The growing number of inmates with mental illness and the lack of appropriate resources in jails to screen, treat, and properly house these individuals, strain daily jail operations and weaken staff morale. Additionally, the problem compromises the safety of staff and inmates alike, exacerbates crowding, and increases the cost of operating our nation's jails.

The jail setting is not the proper therapeutic milieu for effective, long-term treatment of mental illness and steps by state and local governments can improve the response to people with mental illness who come into contact with the criminal justice system.

Facility Administrators and Managers should strive to improve the response to people with mental illness who come into contact with the criminal justice system by developing and promoting programs, policies, and legislation that accomplish the following goals:

Improve collaboration among stakeholders in the criminal justice and mental health systems;

Integrate mental health and substance abuse services to more effectively address the needs of individuals who have co-occurring mental health and substance abuse disorders;

Focus efforts toward providing the mental health system with resources and training regarding the criminal justice system;

Recognize that the solution to this complex problem depends on an effective and accessible community mental health system;

Support efforts to establish mental health courts that would effectively divert non-violent offenders from the criminal justice system into appropriate treatment and/or supporting social services;

JUVENILES IN JAILS

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

The housing of juveniles in the nation's jails has been a problem that jail officials have tried to deal with across the years with very little success. Juveniles charged with certain major crimes in this state may be legally housed in jails, and according to law, juveniles must be housed separately from adult inmates and this results in costly additional expenditures for staff and training.

It is well known that juveniles housed in adult jails may use the experience to escalate their criminal standing with peers when returned to society.

The care and legal requirements of housing juveniles are not a part of an adult jail facility's responsibilities, and require specially trained staff and specially designed programming which are not readily available in an adult facility.

PAY PARITY FOR CORRECTIONAL OFFICERS/ DEPUTIES

The National Sheriffs' Association study, The State of Our Nation's Jails -1982, cited a number of sheriffs' departments where jail officers/deputies are paid less than other members of sheriffs' departments. The disparity between salaries is a contributing factor in job turnover among jail personnel and helps to defeat the purpose of developing a professionally trained jail cadre.

The SC Jail Administrators' Association, in conjunction with the American Jail Association and the American Correctional Association, supports the position of pay parity for jail officers/deputies with law enforcement counterparts. (Guideline 039A of the National Sheriffs' Association Jail Audit Manual - A Systems Approach to Jail Evaluation reads: "Are salary levels and employee benefits for jail officers comparable with those for law enforcement officers working in the same municipality?")

PRIVATIZATION OF JAILS

Jails have traditionally been operated by city, county, state, or federal officials, and the responsibility and constitutional liability of jail operations rest squarely on the shoulders of the officials in charge of jails and privatization of jails does not relieve officials of responsibility or liability of private jail operations.

Private providers often are not held to the same high standard of public disclosure as is government, thus diminishing the public's ability to know how their jail is operating.

Therefore it is important that, in keeping with State Statute, all SC jail facilities should be an element of the public sector of government.

RESTRAINT ASPHYXIA

In restraint-related deaths, including in-custody deaths, asphyxia has occurred in persons restrained in the hogtie position. This usually involves subjects with one ore more predisposing or debilitating conditions that could have been the direct cause of their deaths.

The hogtie restraint position is dangerous for individuals with diminished capacity to exert strong respiration or in excitatory states. Unfortunately, there are situations requiring immediate control and restraint of agitated or aggressive individuals which do not allow for screening of pre-existing medical conditions or risk factors, and individuals exhibiting such behavior are more likely to be under the influence of alcohol or other drugs. Therefore the hogtie or hobble position should be considered risky practice and avoided. In cases where force and restraining have been used, immediate and continuous monitoring of respiration, oxygenation, and consciousness is important.

STAFF SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

Staff sexual misconduct is unethical and unprofessional and threatens the safety and security of the institution, staff, and inmates. Inmates and staff have a right to a non hostile workplace with no inappropriate sexual remarks.

Digitized by South Carolina State Library

Sexual misconduct does not only include rape, but also a range of behaviors including inappropriate remarks, sexualized name-calling, correspondence, fondling, inappropriate viewing, and sexual contact.

Staff and inmates cannot engage in consensual sexual relations. Inmates have a right to be free from staff sexual misconduct.

All facility administrators and managers should support the implementation of policies that prohibit staff sexual misconduct and encourage the passage of laws that identify criminalization of this conduct.

4B-01 CLASSIFICATION/POLICY

Policy

A. Classification is an ongoing process that occurs at frequent intervals during the inmate's stay in the facility. It is used to identify inmates and separate inmates with behavioral patterns into groups to ensure the safety and security of the individual inmates as well as the orderly operation of the facility.

B. Classification policies and procedures are reviewed annually and updated as necessary. Inmates are classified using the Classification Manual /Policy.

Procedures

1. During admission, an inmate is assigned to temporary housing in accordance with his/her immediate needs. This first step in the classification process is Initial Classification.

2. The Officer who completes the book-in process will assign temporary housing and a custody status based upon the following:

    1. Sex (males and females will be housed separately)
    2. Observed behavior
    3. Work release status
    4. Special risk factors (i.e., medical, protective custody, max security, witnesses, civil, enemies)

3. Primary classification is the assignment of housing and a custody status by the Shift Supervisor based upon information gathered during the orientation process. The Operations Lieutenant assigns permanent housing and custody status based on the following:

   a. Sex (males and females will be housed separately)
   b. Observed violent behavior (at present)
   c. Past violent behavior (propensity towards violence)
   d. Special risk factors - those inmates shall be classified according to their housing and programming needs.
   e. Escape history
   f. Suicide risk

4. Housing assignments may be made as follows:

   1. Intake Holding - for all newly admitted inmates, prior to move to orientation housing, who do not fall into any special risk category.

   2. Orientation Housing - for all male inmates moved from intake, prior to classification, which do not fall into any special risk category.

   3. General Population - for all male general population inmates who have completed orientation and primary classification.

   4. Women's Housing - all newly admitted and general population female inmates.

   5. Women's Special Management – currently held in general house on lock down status.

   6. Medical -Inmates with physical/psychological dysfunctions or who are suffering from drug/alcohol withdrawal may be housed in this unit at the direction of the medical staff.

   7. Protective Custody - for inmates, who, for reasons not related to medical or disciplinary problems, may be separated from general population.

   8. Administrative Custody - for inmates who are dysfunctional in a general population status.

   9. Disciplinary Custody - for inmates serving active disciplinary sentences or who are in pre-hearing detention.

10. Maximum Security - for inmates who have classified to the highest possible custody status based upon institutional conduct, severity of offense, etc.

11. Male Work Release - male inmates granted work release by the courts.

12. Female Work Release - female inmates granted work release by the courts.

13. Inmate Worker - Male inmates who are selected, as inmate workers will be housed in this housing unit. Female inmate workers will be housed in the women's housing unit.

5. If the Shift Supervisor or Operations Lieutenant learns during the initial orientation interview that two (2) or more inmates are enemies, the Officer will use the information when housing assignment considerations are made. If information concerning an enemy situation is received from another staff member, the Shift Supervisor will maintain written documentation of the information and any action taken will be documented in the confinement of all involved inmates. Any information regarding a visitor who may be an enemy of an inmate will be forwarded to the Shift Supervisor or Visitation Officer. Inmates will not be scheduled for visitation at the same time as other inmates who are documented enemies or "Keep Separates". When possible, inmates who are listed as "Keep Separates" will not be transported together. Inmates who are co-defendants will not be automatically separated unless they are known enemies or the court has directed the jail to keep them separate. The Arresting Officer or prosecuting attorney may request the co-defendants to be kept separate by contacting the Shift Supervisor or Operations Lieutenant.

6. Any classification action that significantly deprives an inmate of privileges afforded other inmates or in any way places him/her in a lesser status will be justified in writing and may be appealed by the inmate in writing to the Administrator or designee.

7. An inmate may be reclassified any time his/her custody status changes. These changes may occur due to medical reasons, changes in disciplinary actions, or to ensure the safety and security of the inmates and staff in the facility. These changes will be fully documented and maintained by the Operations Lieutenant. Inmates may make a written appeal of any classification decision to the Administrator or designee.

Record/Warrant Checks

An NCIC check will be conducted to ensure there are no outstanding warrants on the inmate. If an outstanding warrant is found, a teletype will be sent notifying the issuer of the warrant, advising of the subject's incarceration at the GCDC, and asking the originating agency to send a response as to whether they wish to have a detainer placed against the subject. If an inmate has been housed fourteen (14) days or more prior to his/her release, this check will be repeated. Before releasing an inmate a warrant and NCIC must be completed.

4B-02 RECLASSIFICATION

Policy

The Operations Lieutenant will reclassify all inmates who have status changes during their stay in the GCDC, and after every 90 days of incarceration.

Definitions

Reclassification- The custody and housing reassessment of general population and special management inmates following status changes or every 90 days of incarceration. The reason for a reclassification will fall into one or two categories, these are "aggravating" or "mitigating" circumstances.

Rules

A. Inmates will be reclassified at the time of status changes. Status changes include, but are not limited to:

Aggravating Circumstances

If it is determined that a reclassification is warranted and the reclassification will be higher than the current classification due to aggravating circumstances such as a disciplinary infraction, a change in legal status (i.e. serious new felony charges), status change from sentenced back to unsentenced (due to new charges being added), etc., use the Reclassification for Aggravating Circumstances Tree.

1. Serious assault/escape behavior problems
2. Serious non-assault or escape behavior problem
3. Less serious behavior problem
4. Serious behavior problem
5. Legal status change

Mitigating Circumstances

If it is determined that a reclassification is warranted and the reclassification will be lower than the current classification or that the current classification may likely stay unchanged, use the reclassification for Mitigating Circumstances Tree. This would be due to mitigating circumstances such as a periodic review for positive program involvement, positive attitude change, court/staff compliance, an extended period of disciplinary free, good behavior, a change in legal status from unsentenced to sentenced, removal of detainers, warrants, or holds, etc.

1. Marked improvement in compliance or positive attitude change
2. Program effort, positive attitude change or court/staff compliance
3. Detainers, warrants or balance of length of stay greater than 2 years
4. Sentenced
5. Felon or misdemeanor
6. Community ties
7. Overrides
8. High risk
9. Special condition
10. Change in medical status

A. Inmates may appeal, the assigned classification status.

Procedures

The Classification Officer will:

A. Review all pertinent information.

B. Reassign custody level (if applicable)

C. Document the classification status change on:

1. JICS reclassification tree form.
2. Assignment sheet

D. Inform the inmate of any change in classification.

4B-03 SPECIAL MANAGEMENT INMATES

Policy

The GCDC will provide Special Management units for the housing and supervision of individuals whose continued presence in the general population poses a threat to the safety and security of the facility, staff, themselves, or other inmates. Special management units include administrative custody, disciplinary detention, protective custody, and medical segregation.

Rules

A. The Administrators, Operations Lieutenant, Training Sergeant or Shift Supervisor may order immediate change of custody of an inmate when it is necessary to protect the inmate or others. The Operations Lieutenant or designee will review the action within 72 hours.

B. All inmate requests for placement in Special Management must be in writing by the inmate and will be documented in the inmate's confinement screen. The Operations Lieutenant will be notified immediately of the inmate's request.

C. Inmate request for Special Management will be evaluated by the Operations Lieutenant to determine if a move is warranted and no reasonable alternatives are available.

D. Special Management may be ordered when:

F. All inmates housed in Special Management units will be afforded the same basic living conditions as those housed in general population. However, if an overriding security concern exists or the status is a result of a disciplinary hearing, some privileges may be restricted. Restrictions are permitted only when found necessary by the Shift Supervision and must be documented and justified in writing. Basic living conditions include, but are not limited to the following:

1. The opportunity for personal hygiene
   a. Shaves and showers
   b. Barbering services
   c. Possession of personal hygiene products

2. A minimum of one (1) hour per day exercise outside the cell.

I. If an inmate uses food or food service equipment in a hazardous manner, alternative meal service may be provided.

J. The Administrator or designee will make daily visits to Special Management units.

Procedures

A. When an inmate is placed in Special Management, an entry will be made on the inmate's confinement record and will include:

1. Date, time and reason for admission

1. Housing Officers will conduct well being checks of inmates in Special Management every 30 minutes, or more frequently if ordered.
2. If the GCDC health care staff determines an inmate is actively suicidal, that inmate will be placed under continuous observation.

C. All inmates in Special Management will be reviewed in the following manner:

1. On a daily basis, the Operations Lieutenant will review the status of all inmates held in Special Management.
   a. This review will be documented in the inmate's file.
   b. If the Operations Lieutenant believes an inmate's Special Management status is no longer necessary, the inmate may be moved to more appropriate housing.

2. On a daily basis, the Shift Supervisor will personally visit each inmate in Special Management. The results of these visits will be documented on the shift log.

3. A GCDC health care staff member will personally visit each inmate housed in Special Management a minimum of two times per week. These visits will be documented on the inmate's confinement record.

1. The Officer will remove the items, if the immediacy of this action is in the best interest of the inmate and/or the GCDC.
2. The Officer will notify the Shift Supervisor.
3. The Officer will document the reasons for this action on the inmate's file.
4. The Officer will complete a GCDC Incident Report that will be signed by the Shift Supervisor.

These include formal and informal counts to insure around- the- clock accountability of all inmates within the facility and a physical count of all inmates on temporary absence from the facility.

2.0 Definitions:

A. Formal Count- Counts that are conducted at specific times of the day or night in an organized manner.

B. Informal Count and Irregular Counts- Counts made while inmates are working, engaged in daily activities, recreation, sick call, ect. Frequent but irregular checks should be made to insure that inmates under the supervision of an employee are present. A report is only made if an inmate is missing.

C. Emergency Counts- An emergency count is an official count taken at other than regularly schedule counts. If there is a reason to believe an inmate is missing, a count may be necessary to determine who and how many are gone. After a major disturbance is under control, a count must be taken to determine that no one has escaped or is hiding. During emergency counts, all inmates shall be confined to their quarters.

3.0Responsibility- Detention Officers have the primary responsibility for the completion of an accurate count of all inmates within the facility. All officers shall be familiar with the procedures for conducting a count, types of counts and possible errors that can occur.

4.0 Principles of Counting:

A. Formal counts shall be conducted at the beginning and end of each shift. Movement should cease into and out of housing unit during count. Inmates will cease all movement and conversations and are required to stand next to their beds. Officers shall count only living and breathing flesh and be alert to the possibility of inmates switching identification, making dummies and /or other types of deceptions.

B. Report all counts to the intake area for coordination and verification. If after all counts have been telephoned to the intake area and a discrepancy exist, a recount shall be called. If the count remains incorrect, shift supervisor shall send officers to the unit to assist with the third count. Additionally, the intake technician shall audit all records for error. No count shall be cleared and no employees shall be relieved until all counting errors have been cleared.

C. Records of all counts shall be maintained.

D. Informal counts shall be made by all employees supervising inmates to verify the inmate's presence. The employee conducts these counts during the work details, sick calls, recreational periods, receiving and issuing laundry, meals, ect. These counts are not reported unless a problem exists.

E. While counting, Officers shall allow nothing less than an emergency to distract them.

F. Officers shall call inmates by name when conducting a formal count and informal count.

G. Officers shall ensure all inmates counted are alive, moving, and breathing.

H. At night, Officers shall use a flashlight JUDICIOUSLY, however, a flashlight should be used to ensure that he / she living breathing flesh and not a dummy. This will help prevent escapes, assaults, ect.

I. Counts are the responsibility of the officers and the staff; inmates shall never participate in the preparation or documentation of the count.

Head Count

1. Fifteen (15) minutes prior to the end of shift, the on duty officer instructs all inmates to go to their cell and prepare for headcount. Inmates should be sure beds are made neatly and the cell in order. Inmates should be standing in front of their bed when the count begins.
2. Off going officer should be sure all paperwork has been completed and his / her station is clean and in neat order.
3. Pod Officer may keep Pod Worker(s) out to continue cleaning if day area, showers, or recreation yard does not meet his / her satification.
4. When oncoming officer arrives, he /she should inspect equipment and make notation if any equipment is missing, broken, or not complete.
5. The off-going officer will accompany on- coming to cells to begin count. The Annex officers will accompany on- coming to the sleeping area to begin count.
6. The on-coming officer enters the cells and checks for the following:
   A. Verifies identity of the inmate standing next to the bunk by calling name from roster.
   B. Is the inmate hurt or injured?
   C. Beds made properly. (On first and second shift)

Principles of Report Writing

1.Of all the official duties a detention officer must undertake during his / her shift, report writing is perhaps the most important. A detention officer's report is an official document and often serves as the basic for actions which are taken by other personnel, including:

A. Arresting an inmate or visitor
B. Disciplining an inmate
C. Repairing a safety hazard
D. Correcting a security breach
E. Referring an inmate with emotional or mental problems to proper medical professional.
F. Counting the number of meals served
G. Keeping track of medication administered
H. Check jail security (rounds)
I. Passing on information to other officers

2. Greenwood County Detention Center requires officers report specific actions which they take as they make their rounds of the Pod and Linear Units or perform other tasks.

These actions often involve potential liability problem for the department, and must be documented in writing. For example, accurate and up to date medical reports are necessary to prove that a sick or injured inmate received proper medical care.

3.Reports also are used by the jail administration to update and maintain records, provide the necessary data for statistical analyses of various jail functions (number of meals per day, cost of each meal served, ect.) and to help the administrators evaluate detention policies to determine if they are effective.

4. In addition, reports provide a format for detention officers to communicate up the chain of command and assure that vital information is not lost, as it tends to be when messages are passed on orally. With a clearly written report, the officer on duty is able to advise his/ her supervisors about safety and security defects which need to be repaired quickly. Through a report, the officer can alert on-coming shifts about who will need to be watched closely because of problems, which became evident on the officer's shift. (Potential suicide, fight brewing, threats on officers, ECT.)

5. The detention officer's best defense in liability suits brought by inmates is the ability to prove that he/she followed the facilities policy and procedures and acted in "good faith". If the officer keeps good records, he /she will be able to defend themselves in courts, even years later.

6. The following list covers most situations in the facility which could lead to legal complaints by inmates:

    A. Life Safety Inspections: As the officer patrols the pod/ unit, dormitory, and common areas, he /she should prepare written reports about any fire hazards, physical hazards (broken stair railing), and electrical problems (exposed wires) which he/she observes.

    B. Security Inspections: The officer should prepare written reports about all security related problems, such as jammed cell door locks, broken windows, disputes between inmates, and missing tools. This category also includes filing reports about inmates who have been exhibiting behavioral changes (a normally loud and boisterous inmate has been withdrawn and keeping to him, indicating a potential suicide problem).

    C. Inmate Misconduct and Disciplinary Action: Inmate misconduct may be a violation of inmate rules, facility rules may be illegal, such as possession of narcotics which have been smuggled into the jail. All incidents of inmate mis-conduct, including those which the officer administers on the spot discipline should be documented in either a formal narrative report or in the pod/ unit's log book, depending on the seriousness of the incident and whether or not it is a "repeat performance" on the part of the inmate. The facility should maintain complete written records on all formal disciplinary action taken against inmates, especially those which result in segregation, loss of "good time", or restriction of privileges.

D. Inmate Complaints: When inmates have complaints about various situations (cold food, alleged officer misconduct, threats from another inmate, ect.) the officer should prepare a written report documenting the complaint. As the complaint is investigated and resolved, reports should also be prepared to document the action taken. Since it is often difficult to sort out legitimate complaints from everyday griping, all inmates' complaints should be documented (by inmate request forms, officer's log book, and/or incident report) so that a serious problem is not overlooked.

7. Written records concerning other inmate or administrative activities are kept either in the logbooks or on forms designed to record information about each specific activity. Accurate records should be maintained daily for the following inmate activities because they often form the basis for legal complaints.

   A. Inmate correspondence
   B. Visitation
   C. Religious activities
   D. Medical / dental treatment
   E. Recreation
   F. Court
   G. Attorney visits
   H. Inmate property records (release /intake)
   I. Meal service
   J. Inmate work activities

8. With good facility records, the detention officer and the administration will be able to prove that inmates were afforded their legal rights and privileges.

This process is done by any and all of the employees that come in contact with the inmates in this facility.

Procedures

A. During the process of book-in, the inmate is asked questions pertaining to the individual's history of mental illness, history of suicide, and "nervous problems." The officer also has the option to note any unusual behavior exhibited by the inmate being committed. These "flag" items are noted on the inmate's book-in record and are referred to the medical department for further evaluation.

B. All staff members who work with inmates receive in-service training yearly. To maximize training opportunities, several different classes are offered and the employee may choose the most appropriate to their specialty.

C. The assessment of inmates that are designated to possibly be suicidal is done by the Nurse at the first available time. This will involve an interview and observation of the individual's behavior in the housing unit. After the assessment is done, the lethality and suicide potential of the individual will be assessed and the appropriate precautions will be assigned and taken to ensure the safety of the individual.

D. Monitoring of the possible suicidal individual will be done continuously by the housing officer. Periodic checks will also be conducted by the health care staff. This will be done on several levels:

This decision may include, but is not limited to:

1. Psychiatric Hospitalization
2. Emergency Evaluation by the Nurse
3. Isolation within the Facility

F. When an inmate is deemed suicidal or a possible suicide risk, the housing officer will be notified by Inter-Office Communication (I.O.C.) and be briefed by the officer from the previous shift. The monitoring and status of the inmate will be done as discretely and professionally as possible to ensure the confidentiality of the inmate. The observations made by the officers of the inmate's mood and behavior will be passed on to the next shift to ensure the safety of the inmate.

G. When a staff member or another person notices that there appears to be a suicide in progress, the housing officer tells the other inmates to lockdown immediately while sounding a "CODE BLUE" for assistance. The inmate will be treated immediately for any injuries incurred in the attempted suicide. While the inmate's physical well being is being provided for, E.M.S., the Sheriff, Administrator and Assistant Administrator will be contacted and informed of the situation. The individual will be assessed by the nurse or another appropriate designee for hospitalization or further mental health care. The Assistant Administrator or Operations Lieutenant will contact the family of the inmate to inform them of the incident and to relate to them the status of the inmate. This review will be done with the Administrators, Sheriff, the Facility Physician and the Medical Staff. This review of the incident will review the procedures used to ensure the inmate's safety, what failed, and what could be changed to prevent this from happening in the future. Counseling will be provided to those individuals requesting assistance.

DISCHARGE DIAGNOSES:
1. Odontoid type 1 fracture.
2. Left superior inferior public ramus non-displaced fracture.
3. Left fourth/fifth proximal phalanx fractures.
4. Left posterior rib fractures with pulmonary contusion.

ATTENDING PHYSICIAN: Dr. Benjamin Manning.

RESIDENTS: Dr. Brian Boland and Dr. Julia Lee, Dr. Phil Way.

CONSULTS:
1. Orthopedic consult.
2. Hand surgery consult.
3. Neurosurgery consult.

BRIEF HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS/PERTINENT PHYSICAL EXAMINATION/LABS:
Briefly, from admission HP done on august 10th, this is a 40-year-old white male that was involved in a motor vehicle collision as an unrestrained and ejected passenger. There was positive loss of consciousness at the scene. He was intubated at the scene as well. He was admitted to the Green surgery team, placed in ICU after initially being seen in the trauma bay and having a thorough workup there as below.

Initially on physical examination, important findings included vital signs showing heart rate of 120, blood pressure of 180/130, respiratory rate of 22, and O2 saturation 95%. Pertinent physical examination findings included Patient missing a few anterior teeth. His tympanic membranes were clear and atraumatic. He had equal breath sounds, no deformity to his chest other than some abrasion to the right upper check. He was intubated initially. Patient was tachycardia but had regular rate. He did have some left sided flank abrasions but no distention in the abdomen. His pelvis was stable and his rectal examination showed no high riding prostate or gross blood. The extremities showed multiple bilateral knee and left hip abrasions and his initial GCS was 3T.

Pertinent labs on admission show a glucose of 120, white blood cell count of 20, hemoglobin of 17, hematocrit of 55, platelets of 242, INR of 1.1, and alcohol of 242.

HOSPITAL COURSE BY PROBLEM:

1. Multiple fractures including superior/inferior pubic ramus fracture and L2-L4 transverse process fractures. Orthopedics was consulted and followed the patient throughout the hospital course. Once the patient was extubated, his chief complaint ws back pain, but he was moving all extremities. Patient became alert and oriented x3 and per ortho, was allowed to have weightbearing as tolerated on his left lower extremity with non-weightbearing to his left upper extremity and non-weightbearing to his right lower extremity. PT was consulted and Patient was allowed out of bed once he was stabilized from the primary team's perspective Pelvis films were reviewed by ortho and decided the patient could have touchdown weightbearing on his right lower extremity for balance. This was reviewed with physical therapy and Patient understood and was cooperative with these orders. Patient, on day of discharge, was able to climb stairs with the help of PT and mobilize with a crutch and with a walker. At this point, will have him follow with ortho in two weeks as an outpatient, as he is currently stable and his pelvic films after weightbearing were reviewed by them.
2. Hand fracture. Initially Patient was intubated, but upon waking up complained of hand pain. Hand x-rays were performed which showed fourth and fifth proximal phalanx fractures. Patient had casting placed per hand team and post x-rays were satisfactory from their standpoint. He will continue weightbearing per their recommendations of the left upper extremity with follow up with their clinic at time of discharge.
3. Type 1 odontoid fracture. Patient had neurosurgery involved in his care after finding of a type 1 odontoid fracture. He remains alert and oriented x3 and neurologically intact throughout his hospital course with 5/5 strength in all extremities once initially awoken and extubated. At this time, Patient is to remain in a Miami J collar for three months and will follow up with neurosurgery in the near future for further evaluation, but is currently stable for discharge from their standpoint.
4. General surgery. The patient was initially admitted to general surgery team, intubated. He was stabilized overnight and was able to be extubated and transferred to the floor. As above, this was the result of multiple medical conditions for handle by the referring consult. Regarding pain control, he was able to be titrated from IV to p.o. pain medication for his multiple fractures. He was ambulating and physical examination findings remained unremarkable other than his multiple fractures as above. His labs remained stable and after Patient was cooperative with physical therapy and able to transfer 30-40 feet and walk stairs, it was felt that he was stable for discharge with appropriate follow up.

Of note, during the patient's hospital course, he did have multiple readings of elevated blood pressure. This was attributed to his pain and on day of discharge, his pressures were 130/70 and below. At this point, we will not start him on any hypertension medication and he will need to follow up with the primary care provider as an outpatient for further evaluation.

DISCHARGE CONDITION/DISPOSITION: The patient is discharged home in stable condition.

DISCHARGE MEDICATIONS: Lortab 10 mg one p.o. q. 6 p.r.n. for pain, dispensed No. 90.

DISCHARGE INSTRUCTIONS: The patient is discharged ho ELECTRONICALLY SIGNED BY Manning, Benjamin M. - 26232 09/01/2011 08:48:27 He is to follow up with ortho trauma clinic in two weeks. He is follow up with neurosurgery also and Dr. Kanos in two weeks. He is non-weightbearing in the right upper extremity and limited weight. Touchdown weightbearing on the right lower extremity. Per physical therapy, he is aware to keep his C-spine in place for approximately three months per neurosurgery and he will follow up with them in 2-3 weeks as well. He is also aware to contact us should he develop any increasing pain, weakness, loss of motor function, or other worrisome symptoms.
