believed that Stumpy may have been the actual individual who shot Tory York.

After Tory York's murder, Keisha Burgess and Furman (Last Name Unknown) were on their way traveling to the funeral home that was conducting York's funeral. During the trip, someone with plats in their hair, who was driving in a green Pontiac Grand Am vehicle, pulled up next to their vehicle and pointed his finger like he was pulling a trigger at them. York believed that this was a threat against Keisha Burgess, who was also involved in the theft of drugs which resulted in Tory York's murder.

Isaac Woods, also known as Bug, a drug dealer in Williamsburg County, kept telling York after Tory York's murder that there was one down and three more to go, which York took as a threat.

Sheretta (Last Name Unknown) from Lake City, South Carolina, was another girlfriend of Tory York. Sheretta was related to Dee Dee (LNU). Sheretta and Dee Dee may have information regarding Tory York's murder.

An individual, who York only knew as Monkey Joe, who owned a night club in Williamsburg County, probably was bribed to lie for Wakonda Cooper, also known as Little Dew; David Brockington, also known as Little D; and Arlo Fulton, also known as Todd. Monkey Joe was probably bribed to tell the police that those individuals were at his night club on the night of Tory York's murder. Monkey Joe's son's name was Terry.

Abla McClarey dated Wakonda Cooper on the date of Tory York's murder. McClarey should also have information regarding Tory York's murder.

LEAVE

245F-CO-23755

Since Tory York never returned to his residence with the drugs, Burgess went to B's Store and had the conversation mentioned earlier with Cooper, Fulton, and Brockington. While at B's Store, Burgess gambled with the money he was going to use to buy drugs by playing dice. Burgess stayed at B's Store approximately two hours and left at approximately 7:30 PM to 8:00 PM that night.

Burgess went to the Track Stop Convenience Store in Kingstree to hang out at approximately 8:30 PM to 9:00 PM that same day. Zachary Woods and Lamar Franklin told Burgess that Cooper, Fulton, and Brockington had just left Tory York's residence. They told Burgess that Fulton sat in Brockington's truck the entire time and that the other two went on the porch of York's residence and confronted him about stealing Brockington's drugs. At the time, they were driving in Brockington's Ford Expedition.

After arriving at the Track Stop Convenience Store, Burgess was dealing drugs at that location. [Approximately one to two hours later, Burgess heard that Tory York had gotten shot. Initially, Burgess heard that Cooper and Brockington had paid Terrell Brown, aka Rell, from Charleston, SC, to shoot Tory York. Later that same night, Burgess heard that Steve Singletary, aka Rab, and Neal Hammond actually did the shooting.]

[Keshia Burgess, Burgess' sister, told Burgess that Tory York, Keshia Burgess, Carlos York, and Tony York were all together the night before Tory York was murdered. Carlos York and Tony York are brothers and are cousins with Tory York. Keshia Burgess told Burgess that they followed Brockington that night when he left the Night Life nightclub in Kingstree. Keshia Burgess drove the vehicle they were all riding in and they followed Brockington to a location near Brockington's residence. Brockington had his drugs hidden in a safe near the residence. After Brockington left the location where he had hidden his drugs, they returned to that location and retrieved the safe, which contained the drugs, and busted it open to get the drugs. The drugs were hidden by a trailer used by Brockington to distribute drugs.)

According to Burgess, no one has confronted his sister regarding the theft of Brockington's drugs, but Cooper and others have confronted Carlos York and Tony York regarding the theft of the drugs.

After the murder of Tory York, Keshia Burgess told Burgess that Tony York had blood on him and had a lot of drugs in his possession. At that time, Carlos York and Keshia Burgess were dating each other.

EXH. 10

Carlos York told Burgess that Tory York had sold Kevin Pendergrass approximately two to four ounces of powder cocaine at a very cheap price earlier in the day on the day that Tory York was murdered. Since Pendergrass was close friends with Cooper, Burgess speculated that Pendergrass must have told Cooper about the transaction and Cooper made the connection with Brockington's stolen drugs.

In approximately 1997 or 1998, Burgess was driving a black GMC Jimmy vehicle, which was owned by Acquinetta (phonetic) Nesbitt, who lived in Turbeville, SC. At that time, Nesbitt dated Burgess' brother, Fred Burgess, aka Dirt. While Burgess was on his way to Nesbitt's residence in Turbeville to return her vehicle, the engine blew up and caught on fire. Burgess telephoned Nesbitt and Nesbitt arrived at the location with one of her friends. Nesbitt's friend drove Nesbitt and Burgess back to Nesbitt's residence and dropped them off at that location.

Shortly after arriving at Nesbitt's residence, Dennis Parrott, aka Dog Man, Williamsburg County Sheriff's Office, arrived at Nesbitt's residence. Nesbitt is the daughter of Parrott. Since Burgess was scared of Parrott, Burgess hid under a bed at the residence. Parrott had a conversation with Nesbitt and then gave Nesbitt an ounce of cocaine. After Parrott left the residence, Nesbitt admitted that Parrott had given her the drugs. Nesbitt stated, "You didn't know Dog Man was giving me dope?" Nesbitt told Burgess that Parrott was paying her rent and selling drugs was how she was making money.

It was Burgess' understanding that Nesbitt currently deals drugs out of a trailer on Airport Circle in Lake City, where she currently resides. Nesbitt also got drugs from Burgess' brother, Derrick Burgess, in the past.

Arlo Fulton, also known as Todd Fulton, was advised of the nature of the interview. Also present was Chris R. Graham, Special Agent, South Carolina Law Enforcement Division (SLED). The interview was conducted, pursuant to a written Proffer Agreement, at the Florence County Detention Center. Fulton provided the following information:

Fulton admitted that when he was previously interviewed regarding the murder of Tory York on March 23, 2001, that Fulton left out a key piece of information. According to Fulton, after Fulton; David Brockington, also known as Little D; and Wakonda Cooper, also known as Little Dew, left York's residence on the date that York was murdered, Brockington was cursing about the Yorks lying to him about stealing Brockington's drugs. Brockington then got real quiet while all three of them drove in Brockington's Ford Expedition to a liquor store in Kingstree. They were at the liquor store for approximately five minutes before departing that location.

After leaving the liquor store, Brockington drove to Young's Food Store, located off of Highway 261 near Farmer's Telephone Coop. At that time, Brockington saw Steve Singletary, also known as Rab, pumping gas at Young's Food Store. Singletary was driving a 1988 or a 1989 Cadillac four door Fleetwood with rims and a white top. Singletary was with his cousin, Neal Hammond, who was possibly from the Cedar Hill section of Williamsburg County, South Carolina. Fulton believed that Singletary was from the White Oak section of Williamsburg County.

While Brockington sat in the driver's seat of Brockington's vehicle, Singletary and Hammond came over to Brockington's vehicle and Singletary spoke with Brockington. When Brockington originally spoke with Singletary, Brockington told Singletary that he wanted Singletary to do him a favor. Singletary responded, "I need a bill paid anyway." Brockington discussed with Singletary how York stole Brockington's drugs.

Fulton also recalled that Brockington told Singletary that Tory York and the others were sitting on the porch of York's
