Ms. Norton,

Good afternoon.

Attached to this email you will see a transcript request form that I have completed concerning the below request for the transcript of the motion to reconsider hearing before Judge Price on May 27, 2020. Kindly provide an estimate for production of this transcript at your convenience. This request concerns the appeal of the above matter in appellate case number 2020-000936 before the South Carolina Court of Appeals.

Of course, if you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me.

Ms. Norton,

Good morning.

Please accept this email as a request for the furnishing of a transcript (in digital .pdf format, if possible) from the motion to reconsider hearing on May 27, 2020 discussed in this email chain. I am happy to tender a check or digital payment for the costs associated with fulfilling this request. Please send me an invoice and estimate of when you anticipate furnishing this transcript, if possible.

Of course, if you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.

The rules for saving audio of hearings has not changed. The recordings are for the benefit of the court reporter for any future transcripts, and those audio files are still saved for five years. The recordings are still not allowed to be released to parties or counsel, but they are there in case of any disputes regarding transcripts.

Yes, things are different; but that has stayed the same.

Hey Taylor,

I'm not sure about that. I can CC our court reporter so she can let you know whether she can send it to you.

Thanks,
