THE SOUTH CAROLINA COURT OF APPEALS

Bernard Bagley, #175851

Appellant,

v.

South Carolina Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services,

Respondent.

APPELLATE CASE (Note 2020-0006110)

Ralph K. Anderson, III, Chief Administrative Judge, ALC
Docket No. 2020ALJ1500091J

RULE 240 MOTION, SCACR

The Appellant, come now before this Court respectfully requests that the Court accept this Rule 240 Motion, SCACR, in which he received the Court's letter on the 29th of July, 2020, that is dated July 13, 2020, and arrived at the institution on July 15, 2020.

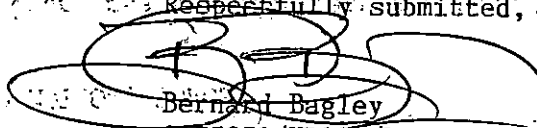

Nevertheless, Appellant believes that the ALC Order Clarifying the Case Status dated June 23, 2020, stated reasoning that the ALC improperly characterized the Appellant's Motion as being made in conjunction with, or as, a Notice of Appeal was made under circumstances to force the Appellant to proceed in the Court of Appeals and to pay a $250.00 filing fee that he does not have.

Appellant requested that the Respondent to provide him the vote count of his 2010 through 2012 parole hearings, along with the names of the members that participated in the hearings and votes during that period.

The Respondent failed to provide the Appellant the information, but instead the ALC dismissed the case without ordering the Respondent's to provide the information, and then the Respondent filed a brief to argue that the matter should be summarily dismissed solely for the purposes of delay. The entire matter is beyond Appellant's control and it is not his fault that the Respondent and ALC dropped the ball, in which Appellant request because of the ALC and Respondent's mistakes and neglect he should be relieve from the ALC judgment and order.

Therefore, Appellant respectfully request that this Court grant such relief, as stated in the above-captioned case.

Respectfully submitted,

Bernard Bagley
