Apologies for the double email. It seems that the iron law of filings is that the eye catches errors moments after having clicked “send” or “submit.” So too here. While saving the document after sending it to you, I noticed that my signature block in the Notice of Appearance had automatically filled with the physical address of the Firm’s prior Greenville office. An updated copy of the Notice, which will be filed with the Court, and which bears the correct address, is attached.
