SC Court of Appeals

RE: Portfolio Recovery Associates LLC v. Jennifer Campney
Appellate Case No. 2020-000935

Dear Miss Kitchings:

Appellant's initial brief was filed yesterday on our deadline date to file it, but upon examining it after filing, I realized that the date that I signed it and the service date are incorrect, having been listed as June 25, 2020 instead of October 15, 2020, which was actually the correct date of signing and service. I would like to know if I should correct this typo by filing an amended brief, which would only change the signature and service information, perhaps also listing the email addresses of the attorneys of record that were served with the initial brief. Of course, the court's filing stamp does show the correct date, so perhaps, since it is just an initial brief, this would not be necessary, since the final brief will have to be filed anyway. Or perhaps the court would prefer that I simply file an amended certificate of service, and leave the incorrect signature date as it is. However, since I am not sure how to proceed in this situation, I am asking the court for guidance.

Also, I hereby certify that I have served a copy of this letter on all other parties to this appeal by simultaneous email only as indicated below.
