RE:           *State of South Carolina v. Brandon Jerome Clark
Appellate Case No.: 2019-001477

Dear Ms. Kitchings:

The Reply Brief of Appellant is due to be served and filed in the above-listed case today, November 19, 2020. I am seeking a very brief extension of five (5) days in which to complete this filing. During the ten days since the Brief of Respondent was filed on November 9, 2020, I have been working diligently on the reply. However, also during this time, I have been required to appear in two federal matters in Spartanburg and Columbia, requiring time both to travel and to prepare, as well as appearances in three other matters in South Carolina general sessions and magistrate courts, all of which required substantial preparation and court time. Finally, today, I encountered technical issues with my firm laptop, which required hours of attention to resolve. As a result, the brief will not likely be completed today. The five-day extension is based on the fact that I have time commitments in two other cases that will prevent significant work on this matter to be completed before Tuesday, November 24, 2020.

This is the first extension request for this Reply Brief, I do not anticipate any further extensions, and Assistant Attorney General William Schumacher has advised he has no objection to this request.

With best wishes I remain,
