Kelly*, 343 S.C. 350, 368-69, 540 S.E.2d 851, 860 (2001) ("Vouching constitutes an assurance by the prosecuting attorney of the credibility of a [g]overnment witness through personal knowledge or by other information outside of the testimony before the jury. . . . A prosecutor's vouching for the credibility of a government witness raises two concerns: (1) such comments can convey the impression that evidence not presented to the jury but known to the prosecutor, supports the charges against the defendant and can thus jeopardize the defendant's right to be tried solely on the basis of the evidence presented to the jury; and (2) the prosecutor's opinion carries with it the imprimatur of the [g]overnment and may induce the jury to trust the [g]overnment's judgment rather than its own view of the evidence." (omission by court) (quoting United States v. Walker, 155 F.3d 180, 184 (3d Cir. 1998))), rev'd on other grounds, 534 U.S. 246 (2002).
