Tyler,

In preparing the Designation of Matter I want to know if I need to include all documents referenced in our appeal (almost all were presented to the Court via the complaint but the Court themselves referenced previous cases involving the same parties and made reference to some of these documents).

Normally the designation of the matter includes the basics – Complaint, answer, counter claims reply, affidavits, notice of appeal, transcript and orders. I was thinking the Record on Appeal would need to include the cases cited, previous orders from other cases that were made reference to in this case that we are citing in our Statement of Facts.

Thank you for your time and directions.
