Dear Jenny Abbott Kitchings

I know I already submitted my brief and I apologize for sending you something else on such short notice, but during the time I did my brief I rush a little bit because of time I had to do it on top of Covid-19 and everything we didn't have time to use the law library because of Covid-19, but something has been tugging at my heart everytime I read over my trial transcript, and I would please like to submit this as a issue. On page 413, 17-21 Mr. Tucker ask for a voluntary manslaughter lesser-included. In order to be charge with Voluntary Manslaughter you must prove heat of passion, sufficient provocation and they both have to be shown, you cant have one, without the other. Now if you go to page 494 in my transcript 23-1 to page 495 Mr. Tucker explain that page 495 -1 Again, hand gestures with nothing more I dont feel is sufficient provocation he ask for the charge then dismiss the charge thanks for listening respectfully submitted Debra J. J...
