Dear Mr. Chisolm,

Our office is in receipt of the attached letter from Court Administration regarding the above referenced case. There is no Order Granting Mistrial filed in the Clerk's file. Also, a mistrial is not a disposition on a case in General Sessions court.

Your motions have been filed with our office and will be scheduled to be heard as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

General Sessions Division

RE: State of South Carolina v. Donsurvi Chisolm
Warrant No.: K-308513

Dear Mr. Chisolm:

As you will recall I was relieved of representation prior to the commencement of the trial which ended in mistrial. As I was not your attorney I would not have been sent Orders, Motions or other pleadings exchanged between yourself and the State. I have nothing relating to this.

I would recommend you contact the Clerk of Court in reference to any Orders, Juror lists, etc., that you may need and did not retain.

Lastly, F.Y.I, when a case ends in mistrial it is not double jeopardy to try it again. No need to argue the point with me, just giving you a "heads up" that that argument is going nowhere.

Good Luck,
