Good morning,

Upon speaking to someone directly from the Court of Appeals, I explained that I do fall under the Americans with Disabilities Act. I suffer from severe ADHD as well as Brain Behavioral Dysfunction. I also explained that I am dealing with a lot of medical issues as well as facing eviction from my home which has me in a terrible financial bind. I am aware that there is a fee associated with filing this appeal and I would like to request a waiver due to my financial circumstances.

To add, this court document from the SC Administrative Law Court is not even addressed to the correct person (please see the name they have on this legal document) that is not me.
